Dedicate New 1,500,000 Pump Plant

Dedication exercises at 11 a.m. tomorrow will conclude the year's work on the $1,500,000 sewerage pump plant at Quinobegun road near Newton Lower Falls, near Charles River.

Work on the project was begun in 1956 but officials said total cost might have been as high as city officials had purchased in 1952 the Cochituate aqueduct from MDC.

The old aqueduct formerly carried water into Boston, but now will carry liquid waste from the homes and industries on the south side of city. The sewerage will go to a brand new tunnel which —PUMPING PLANT— (Continued on Page 5)

Newton Priest New Curate in Dedham

Rev. Francis C. O'Hare, of Dr. and Mrs. James P. Hare of 63 Fairlee road, Aban, this week assumed the post of senior assistant curate at St. Mary's Church in Dedham.

Fr. O'Hare recently returned from Rome where for four years he was on the faculty of the North American College, and was assistant superior of the graduate house. Two sisters of the new Dedham curate live in Newton.

His wife, Mrs. Frederick J. Hara of 148 Summer street, Newton Centre, and Mrs. Edward McCarthy of 15 Evergreen terrace, Auburndale.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT
Former Boston Post Political Editor

Gibbs Plurality Bigger Than Experts Expected

State Senator Donald L. Gibbs won election as Newton's next Mayor by an even greater margin than that of the political pundits expected.

Gibbs was rated a favorite by the experts in their election forecasts, but it was believed the race might prove to be a fairly close one.

Instead, it became almost a political rout as the returns came in late Tuesday night and early yesterday morning.

The plurality Gibbs piled up was all the more impressive in face of the fact that he was opposed by two formidable and resourceful candidates in Alderman M. Cannon and Norman E. Moore.

Cannon has held office 10 years and has built up a following in that time. Moore, while managing the gubernatorial campaign of the late George Fingold, demonstrated convincingly that he is a long way from being a political novice.

The issue on which Cannon and Moore based a part of their campaigns was that Newton should be run by a "select few." This was in reference to —Political Highlights— (Continued on Page 4)

Newton Wins 30 To 0 Over Medford H.

Newton High gridders, fresh from their easy 30 to 0 victory over a tough Medford squad Monday afternoon, entertained the winless Lynn English Bulldogs at 2 p.m. Saturday at Dickinson Stadium.

The Tigers rolled over Lynn last year 40 to 0, and if form follows the score this year should be in that vicinity.

Lynn thus far has dropped five in a row. Lynn's game scheduled with Waltham last Saturday was cancelled because of the rain.

But the Newton-Medford game was played Monday and Co-captain Dick Paaso emerged as the individual star with three of the four touchdowns.

Paaso scored on plunges of two and three yards and on a seven-yard pass from Quarterback George Kerr. Two touchdowns in the second quarter capped sustained marches of 83 and 95 yards. Newton's fourth TD was scored in the final quarter on a 14-yard jaunt through the center of the line by halfback Dave Connor.

Recreation Seminar At City Hall

The Newton Recreation Department recently played host to a group of students and their instructors from the University of Massachusetts at a seminar and tour on the subject "Organization and Administration of Municipal Recreation."

The group was welcomed in the aldermanic chambers at Newton City Hall by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., and Mrs. Worthington L. West, Chairman of the Newton Recreation Commission.

Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson opened the Seminar, speaking on the following points: Organization of Department, Administration and Reports, Planning, Swimming Program, Maintenance and Budget.

Special Election To Fill Mayor-elect's Senate Seat

State Senator Donald L. Gibbs was overwhelmingly elected the next Mayor of Newton on Tuesday.

Gibbs swamped his two opponents, Alderman Leo M. Cannon and Norman E. Moore, polling substantially more votes than the combined totals for Cannon and Moore.

The returns gave Gibbs 16,331 votes, Cannon 7,244 and Moore 3,746.

In the big upset of Tuesday's election Attorney Charles E. Holly defeated Alderman Hirsch Sharf in the hot battle for the post as Ward Alderman from Ward 6.

Holly nosed out Sharf by a margin of 68 votes, polling 1202 votes to 1134 for Sharf. Sanford A. Kowal, young law school student, ran third in that race, drawing 817 votes.

Ernest F. Dietz, former president of the Newton Civic Association, failed in his drive for election as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 6.

Dietz, who had waged an extremely aggressive and vigorous campaign, trailed 1387 votes behind Alderman William P. Ripley, Attorney Walter P. Muther, associated counsel for the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, made an extremely creditable showing in that contest which was by far by the city's most bitter struggle for seats as Alderman-at-Large.

Vote totals as Alderman Ripley and Charles F. Hovey beat back the determined challenges by Dietz and Muther were 11,251 for Hovey, 10,833 for Ripley, 9,446 for Dietz and 7,116 for Muther.

The result of that fight came as a mild surprise to political observers who had expected that Dietz, backed by the Civic Association, might prevail in his bid for a place on the Aldermanic Board.

Governor And U.S. Senator To Attend Pledge Dinner Tonight

Governor Foster Furcolo and U. S. Senator Leverett Saltonstall will be honored guests at the First Annual Newton United Fund Pledge Dinner to be held tonight, Thursday, at the Newton High School gymnasium starting at 6 o'clock, according to the announcement by Frederick Fisher, Jr., dinner chairman.

Chairman Fisher told The Graphic that Governor Furcolo, Senator Saltonstall and Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., will offer greetings at the dinner.

The featured speaker will be Robert Cutler, former administrative assistant to President Eisenhower.

Television personalities, Big Brother Bob Emery, of Newton, and Rex Traller, will welcome the guests for the Kickoff of the Newton Residential Drive.

It was announced today that the following head table guests also will attend the dinner tonight:

Mrs. Milton H. Anderson, campaign manager; Miss Adelaide Ball, dinner committee member; Edward Barry, campaign manager; David Berkman, president, Newton Boys' Club, Inc.; Mrs. Carol Z. Berman, dinner committee member; Chester E. Borden, Newton-Wellesley Hospital; Herbert B. Cahan, public relations chairman; Mrs. Morgan Campbell, dinner committee member.

City Rocks As 20,000 Make Merry Despite Day-Long Hallowe'en Rain

Seventeen thousand Newton high school, junior high and elementary school children made merry, with utter disregard for the inclement weather, to mark up another city-wide success for Newton's noted Hallowe'en observance last Saturday night.

Joining in the festivities and turning in an exceptional job of supervising, were 2,500 dedicated parents and other adults who gave of their time and talents to help the younger set have an enjoyable evening.

It was estimated that about one out of every five people in the city took part in the celebration.

The invaluable contributions of these people received prompt recognition from Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson and General Chairman Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester. All three expressed warm praise for all who worked so enthusiastically and effectively in the planning, preparation and direction of Newton's most successful Hallowe'en observance.

In a statement to the parents and friends of Newton school children Mayor Whitmore said:

"The Newton Hallowe'en parties continue to grow as evidenced by the increased number of their locations and parents and people in attendance Saturday. More parents and citizens participated in the planning, organization and conduct and children enjoyed the expanded activities.

"The people of the city can be justly proud of these parties. Personally, and in their behalf, I extend my sincere appreciation and thanks to —CITY ROCKS— (Continued on Page 13)

Dear "Halloween Party" Worker:

November 1, 1959

The 1959 Halloween Parties have been an outstanding success. There were more children, young and old, who participated. There was greater enthusiasm. And everyone shared in a spectacular city-wide program.

The great response in attendance, program and activity could not have been possible without the assistance and cooperation of you, the evening workers, who spent many hours in planning and organizing for this one evening of Hallowe'en Fun.

To you we express our sincere appreciation and compliments for a job well done. Without your effort, these parties of 1959 would not have been so successful. We are proud to have had the opportunity to work with you in the interests of this great community program.

Sincerely yours,
R. Emerson Sylvester, M.D.

Gibbs Takes All But 1 Ward

out which had been forecast and represented a shade more than 60 percent of the eligible voters in the city. . . . Senator Gibbs showed balanced strength throughout Newton in his successful run to succeed the retiring Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., as the Garden City's chief municipal executive.

Gibbs carried seven of Newton's eight wards and was a strong second in the only sector he failed to capture.

Alderman Canon led the way in Ward 1, drawing 1,447 to 1,291 for Gibbs.

In all the other seven wards Gibbs was the top vote-getter and Cannon ran second. Moore was the third man in all eight wards of the city.

The tremendous support Gibbs received from public and civic leaders was reflected in the returns.

One of the decisive factors was considered to be the endorsement given him by Mayor

Whitmore who has done an outstanding job of directing Newton's city government for the past six years.

Gibbs is expected to resign from the State Senate before the end of the year and a special election will be held to fill his place in that body.

Except for Sharf, all the Aldermen standing for reelection were successful in gaining another term.

Aldermen William J. Robinson and Winslow C. Auryansen beat down a challenge by former Alderman Alfred R. Guzzi in the fight for election as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 2. Guzzi trailed 2,267 votes behind Auryansen, although making a very sturdy run.

The totals in that battle were 14,598 for Robinson, 12,972 for Auryansen and 10,705 for Guzzi.

Aldermen Melvin J. Dangel and John P. Nixon were easily reelected as the Aldermen-at-Large from Ward 3, running far ahead of Nelson M. Silk, Jr. Dangel was the high man in that race with 15,538 votes. Nixon was not far behind in second place with 14,904 votes, Silk, in third position, drew 7,311 votes, less than half as many as either of the two Aldermen.

Aldermen Earle D. Wood and Harry H. Ham, Jr., running almost stride for stride, rolled up decisive victories in their bids for reelection as Aldermen-at-Large from Ward 4, outstripping Richard P. Brennan by a wide margin.

Wood was the front runner with 14,688 votes. Ham was just behind him with 14,201. Brennan ran third with 8,138.

Aldermanic President Wendell R. Bauckman and Alderman Charles H. Morang made strong showings as they prevailed by a tremendous plurality over John W. McBaron, the only contender in the field against them.

Bauckman was first in that race with 14,491 votes. Morang was second with 14,109. The unsuccessful McBaron polled 6,716 votes.

School Committee Chairman

Haskell C. Freedman swept to an impressive victory over Louis H. Alter in the contest for election as School Board member from Ward 6.

Freedman piled up 15,521 votes to 3,485 for Alter. Freedman, incidentally, is being urged by many Newton leaders to seek election to the place from which Gibbs will resign in the State Senate.

School Committeeman Spencer F. Deming emerged a big winner from the three-cornered contest for election as School Board member from Ward 8, drawing more votes than his two opponents combined. Deming's total was 11,981, compared to 4,231 for Maurice Epstein and 3,117 for David Krongard.

An experiment with the use of voting machines in four polling places proved a tremendous success.

Returns from the two precincts in which the automatic machines were used had been tabulated and were reported by 9 a.m., whereas it was early morning before all the paper ballots were counted.

As might be expected, there were some delays in voting at polling places where the machines were in use because of the inexperience of Newtonites in voting by pulling levers instead of marking pencil crosses.

The test, however, worked out sufficiently well so that there is certain to be public agitation for the mechanization of voting in Newton.

Newton looked sharp, and was sharp against Medford, and the team as a whole clocked in the best performance of the season. There was nary a fumble; the blocking and tackling were hard, and the passing was the best of the year.

Medford produced two serious threats in the first half. The visitors reached Newton's 16-yard line in the first period, and got to the Orange 4-yard stripe in the second. But Newton's line held on downs, and came back with scoring drives in each instance.

Blue Bird Fly Up For 125 Girls

Against a backdrop of a Giant Book of the Camp Fire Girls, 125 Blue Birds (Junior Camp Fire Girls), each accompanied by a senior Camp Fire Girl, "flew-up" into Camp Fire, at the Meadowbrook Junior High School.

The program began with the Candle Lighting Ceremony. Three candles were lighted to represent the watchword of the Camp Fire Girls—WOHELO—, meaning Work, Health, and Love. The girls participating were Caryl Eisenberg, Mimi Cooper, and Mary Lou Duddy.

Mrs. L. Freeman, Chairman of the evening program, presented the girls in a skit and pantomime representing the many honor beads that may be earned by the Camp Fire Girls towards their ranks.

The following leaders and assistant leaders presented the girls with their red scarfs and Camp Fire Books:

From Auburndale, Mrs. Maurice O'Connell and Mrs. Andrew Arton, Mrs. John Anderson and Mrs. Charles Cogan.

From Newton Centre, Mrs. Paul King and Mrs. Richard Gould, Mrs. Martin Arslanian.

From Oak Hill, Mrs. Charles Urson, Mrs. Jeremiah Green, Mrs. David Singer, Mrs. Saul Robinson, Mrs. Eli Shapiro, Mrs. Herbert Hopkins.

From Waban, Mrs. Franklin Flaschner, Mrs. John Alunan, Mrs. John Shulman, and Mrs. Nathan Goodman.

Taking part in the extinguishing ceremony were Karen Richmond, Ellen Andrews, and Caryl Goodman.

Newton YMCA Basketball Season Opens

The Newton YMCA church basketball league will swing into action the first week of December with St. James Armenian on hand to defend the title in the High School division, and Church of the Messiah in the Junior High title.

Twelve churches were present at a recent meeting of the league's board of managers. Others in attendance were: Trinity, Second Congregational, Auburndale Congregational, Central Congregational, Eliot, Newton Highlands Congregational, Temple Emanuel, St. Paul's, Newtonville Methodist and First Congregational. All other churches are invited.

Christmas Market In Chestnut Hill

The Church of the Redeemer in Chestnut Hill holds its 10th annual Christmas Market on Nov. 11 from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The women of the Church Service League have worked hard and unusual articles which have become a tradition of this fair.

The Pantry Shelf will offer unusual casseroles that need only to be taken home and popped in the oven, cookies, cakes and breads. There will be holiday glitter galore. Sports equipment is a new project featuring rebuilt sleds, skis, skates and other articles, even bicycles. The arts and crafts table offers unusual articles made by both men and women of the parish. The sewing circle again features the lovely handwork of church members.

Political Highlights

the top public and civic leaders who rallied in support of Gibbs.

But on Tuesday the "select few" turned into many thousands as Gibbs was swept to victory on a great wave of public support.

There is no question but that the stature of the persons who were endorsing Gibbs had considerable to do with both the size of his vote and his winning plurality.

Neither is there much doubt that a big majority of the citizens of Newton had confidence in the leaders who were urging them to vote for Gibbs.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., who is retiring from office after giving the Garden City an excellent administration for six years, has earned the respect and the confidence of the people of Newton.

When he spoke out for Gibbs, his words had a tremendous impact, and a great many persons heeded them. The same thing is true of other leaders such as School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman. Senator Gibbs has the background and the experience to be a worthy successor to Mayor Whitmore at the head of Newton's municipal government.

He knows the city. He served on the Board of Aldermen for nine years, in the House of Representatives for three years and in the State Senate for three years.

Gibbs always has been an able, conscientious, hard-working public official, and that is the kind of Mayor he is likely to be.

His election as Mayor will necessitate his resignation from the State Senate. That means a bitter fight is now looming ahead for the Senate seat Gibbs will relinquish.

The Democrats will go all out to capture the post in order to regain some of the prestige their party lost in the recent elections in New Bedford. The Republicans will make a determined stand not only to hold the position but to roll up a bigger plurality than the one by which Gibbs won a year ago.

Republican leaders will try to persuade School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman to carry their party's banner into the Senate race.

Politicos Looking Ahead To 1960 Election Battles

Now that the results of Tuesday's municipal elections in cities across the Commonwealth have been inscribed in the record books, both Democratic and Republican politicians already are looking ahead to the major election battles which will be waged on state and national fronts in 1960.

Republican hopes in Massachusetts are higher than at any time since 1954. GOP chiefs, while admitting that they have quite a problem in picking the state ticket which will be built around Senator Leverett Saltonstall, are convinced that the political tide has shifted in favor of their party.

Democratic leaders, basing their optimism partly on the expectation that U.S. Senator John F. Kennedy will be on the Democratic national ticket next year as the nominee either for President or Vice President, believe that 1960 will be a repetition of 1958 when the Democrats swept just about everything in sight.

As a result there is an impending rush of candidates on both sides of the political fence who are anxious to carry their party's banner into next year's election. In fact the behind-the-scenes maneuvering began while the attention of many thousands of voters was focused on the municipal battles in their own cities or in neighboring communities.

For example, delegates to last year's Democratic State convention received in the mail a communication from two Cambridge legislators boasting the gubernatorial candidacy of Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr.

The pamphlet referred to O'Neill as "The Democrat for '60." It made such other references to O'Neill as: "He meets every test . . . An expert organizer . . . A speaker of note . . . Terrific on TV . . . The first Democratic Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives . . . Dedicated to the philosophy of the Democratic party . . . Recognized by all as a great Democratic leader." It concluded with the assertion that O'Neill "will be a great Democratic Governor." While O'Neill has not formally announced his candidacy, it is logical to assume that the circular, which reprinted an article about O'Neill published in a Boston newspaper, was sent out with the consent of the Cambridge Congressman.

Meanwhile, another prospective potent contender for the Democratic gubernatorial endorsement, Congressman Torbert H. Macdonald of Malden, was stumping vigorously across the Commonwealth, meeting with groups of Democrats and lining up substantial support.

It is becoming increasingly clear that a head-on clash between Congressman O'Neill and Macdonald is virtually inevitable. If Governor Furcolo decides to oppose Senator Leverett Saltonstall rather than to seek a third term in the Governorship.

Persons close to Furcolo, incidentally, report that he hasn't actually made up his mind yet what office he will make his objective in 1960. They say that one day they get the impression that he will run against Saltonstall, that the next day he gives some intimation that he will stand for reelection and that they wind up in a complete state of uncertainty.

The fact that O'Neill and Macdonald are doing as much work as they are indicates that they expect Furcolo to aim for the Senate. If he doesn't, they both will have wasted a great deal of effort.

Unlike O'Neill, Macdonald hasn't yet decided whether he will contest for the endorsement of the Democratic State Convention next June.

O'Neill will go before the convention and abide by its decision. If he gains its endorsement, he will drive on into the primary. If he loses, he will fold up his gubernatorial aspirations and run again for Congress.

"Well, how's the chinchilla coat coming along?"

Macdonald has told Democratic leaders with whom he has talked that he is not yet certain what he will do about the convention, that he might bypass it entirely and carry his fight directly into the primary.

O'Neill will endeavor next year to persuade the legislature to adopt the Connecticut law providing that a candidate who is defeated at the convention may run in the primary only if he has polled at least 20 per cent of the convention delegates on any one ballot.

Macdonald probably will publicly oppose the enactment of such a law. It's quite possible that this measure may touch off the first big collision between the two leading Democratic gubernatorial adversaries.

The odds undoubtedly will be with O'Neill if a clash develops over that issue. As a former two-term Speaker of the House, he still wields considerable influence with Democratic members of the Legislature.

Republicans, who are strong believers in the convention system of endorsing candidates and endeavor to invoke party discipline to prevent anyone turned down at a convention from running in the primary, would be likely to support the bill advocated by O'Neill.

As matters presently stand, the other Democratic gubernatorial contenders—Lieutenant Governor Robert F. Murphy, Secretary of State Joseph D. Ward and State Treasurer John F. Kennedy—would all probably be pushed into the background if a fight develops between O'Neill and Macdonald.

Ward, like O'Neill, would make a bid at the convention, and if he failed to get the gubernatorial nomination there would shift to some other office. He would go along with O'Neill's advocacy of the Connecticut law.

State Treasurer Kennedy would be knocked out of the race for Governor and probably would be bumped off the entire Democratic ticket if the Connecticut law were adopted in Massachusetts.

Lieutenant Governor Murphy would be hurt by such a law, but not to the same extent as Kennedy. Most political on-lookers, incidentally, believe that Murphy will wind up by running for some office other than Governor.

Democratic leaders are wondering whether State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley has any ideas about running for Governor next year.

That speculation developed after Buckley directed his latest attack upon State Public Works Commissioner Anthony N. DiNatale and the additional expenditures involved in the speedup of work on the Fitzgerald Expressway and the Southeast Expressway.

It increased when engineers in the Public Works Department reported that they had explained to Buckley's men that they were interpreting records of the department incorrectly but that their explanations went unheeded.

The top Democratic candidates for Governor do not believe Buckley would be a serious threat if he were to enter the gubernatorial race.

Awards Presented At United Nations Dinner

Two hundred overseas guests and their sponsors attended the United Nations Day Dinner held at the Meadowbrook Junior High School in celebration of the 14th birthday of the United Nations.

Under the joint sponsorship of the City of Newton and the World Affairs Council, the dinner is given annually in an attempt to further international understanding and friendship.

The 45 guests from schools and colleges in this area, represented 21 countries. The greatest number was from India. Among these was Palayam K. Balasundaram, Visiting Fellow at the M.I.T., Center for International Studies, and President of the Indian Student Association of Greater Boston, which represents the 300 Indian students currently studying in colleges and universities in and around Boston.

Dr. Edwin P. Booth, professor of Historical Theology at Boston University, spoke on "A Historian Looks at the United Nations." The invocation was given by the Rev. Paul Fitzgerald, Dean of the Graduate School at Boston College. The Madrigal Singers of Newton High School, under the direction of Miss Geraldine Seaver, provided the music.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., on behalf of the United States Committee for the United Nations, presented Distinguished Merit Awards to Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, for the initiation of the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) Program in Newton and the chairmanship for two years of the World Affairs Council; Miss M. Louise Walworth, for her assistance in organizing the World Affairs Council; Miss M. Louise Walworth, for her assistance in organizing the World Affairs Council and her interest in the International House in Cambridge; and Richard H. Lee for twice having been chairman of the United Nations Day Observance.

Special thanks were extended by Mr. Lee to Mrs. John W. Locke, chairman of Invitations, Arrangements, and Transportation; to Mrs. Loy L. Long, hostess to the foreign guests; and to a group of 9th grade students at Meadowbrook Junior High School who were in charge of exhibits and decorating and acted as junior hostesses. Iris Cohen, Peggy Crosby, Jo-An Gladstone, Pat Larson, Donna Malcolm, Sue Okun, and Jill Sutcliffe.

Newtonville Church Opens Gala "Talent Fair" Friday

It will be gala "Fair Time" at St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, with plans completed for a two-day affair to be held tomorrow, Friday, from noon to 5 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mrs. Ward Funk, general chairman, and Kenneth C. Banner, assistant chairman, have organized a "Talent Fair" which will display skills and talents to provide many gifts for all occasions.

Decorations under the direction of Mrs. Otto E. Aufranc and Mrs. Robert W. Brown will carry out a holiday theme.

Other chairmen include: Mrs. Wilbur J. Mingwill, secretary; J. Philip Berquist, treasurer; Orvil F. Hagaman, advance ticket chairman; Mrs. George L. Hicks and Mrs. Leon Slayton, publicity.

Miss Emily P. Burdon has co-ordinated the art gifts for the fair; Miss Joan Gordon has a selection of Christmas cards for the early Christmas shopper. Christmas tags, tree-trims and original decorations will be sold by Mrs. Riley Hampton and Mrs. Harold Rice.

Mrs. Granville B. Colyar will have a display of hand-made jewelry in gold or silver tones; Miss Eleanor Bartlett and Mrs. Orvil F. Hagaman will have flowering and foliage plants in the garden shop. Miss Mabel Chase and Mrs. Harold Dixon with treasure trove and pig-in-a-poke will offer bargains for the clever shopper. Mrs. Robert Burkhardt will sell the birthday calendars. The candy table will be in charge of Mrs. Florrie Dodkin and Mrs. Eaton Webber. Take-home suppers for the family, plus other baked delicacies, will be planned by Mrs. Franc Lander and her committee.

Mrs. Stuart Briggs will have books for grown-ups and children — and comic books too. A series of surprises will be in store for all the children with Mrs. William S. Baker's sunken treasures.

Mrs. Richard Reynolds is in charge of the record exchange where you may find that record you have been looking for.

Toys will be sold by Mrs. T. Arnold Joyce. Miss Cheryl Wooten will have "Talent Fair" shopping bags for sale — and Doo-wa will entertain with a scientific handwriting analysis. Little girls, and big girls too, will be delighted at the array of dolls that Mrs. Dominic Strazzulla will have dressed in glamorous fashion.

George L. Hicks and George Briggs will provide a midway of games on Saturday. Mrs. Robert Irwin and J. Philip Berquist will have movies for the children. Miss Holly Lee and Mrs. Irwin will be in charge of the make-up booth. Tea will be served in the Loring Room on Friday and Saturday from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Hostesses will include: Mrs. E. Lee Gamble, Mrs. Eleanor Muth, Mrs. Herbert Murphy and Mrs. Edward Norton.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Evan Johnson will be chairmen of the luncheon to be served on Friday, November 6 from noon to 1:30 p.m. and the snack bar which will be open Saturday noon to 1:30 p.m.

On Friday evening from 5:30 to 7:00 p.m. a lobster newburg dinner will be served, for those who make early reservations, by Mr. and Mrs. John R. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Church. Mrs. Philip Jasset, or the parish of fice will be glad to accept reservations.

Walter B. Chase and the Senior Y.P.F. will work together to serve as a cleanup squad for the success of the fair are: Carleton P. Manchester, Ct., Home for Mr. and Mrs. J. J. O'Sullivan Saint Bernard's Church was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Janice Marie Connolly to Mr. Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur V. Connolly of 175 Parmenter road, West Newton, and Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah P. O'Sullivan of Hyde Park are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Daniel F. Quinn celebrated the 10 o'clock nuptial mass and performed the double ring ceremony.

Escorted by her father, the bride chose a princess gown made of Dupioni silk. Her queen's crown was caught with an illusion veil. She carried her prayer book and her flowers were orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Marilyn Connolly of West Newton was her sister's honor maid. Miss Shirley McGrath of Newton Highlands and Mrs. J. Edward LeBlanc of Waltham were her other attendants.

Mr. William Bailey of Milton served as best man. Ushering were Mr. Robert Irons of West Roxbury and Mr. James Lennon of Roxbury.

After a reception at Hotel 128, the couple left on a trip which took them through New York state into Canada. They are now at home at 446 West Middle turnpike, Manchester, Ct.

The bride was graduated from Newton High School. Her husband is a graduate of Boston College.

"This summer my camera was stolen. I had $460 medical expenses from a boating accident, and a $3000 liability suit for injuries to the others involved — none of these losses covered by my insurance. Is it wise to have one local agent make a survey of all my risks and the insurance I need for full protection?"

NHS Seniors To Wear Original Costumes In "The Matchmaker"

When seniors at Newton High stage the production of "The Matchmaker" tomorrow afternoon and Saturday evening they will wear the costumes worn by actors in the original Broadway production of Thornton Wilder's hilarious farce.

This, combined with the direction by William Spink, some top-flight talent and elaborate stage settings, has led members of the cast to predict that "The Matchmaker" should be one of the finest plays ever presented by Newton High School.

There will be two performances in the High School Auditorium tomorrow at 3 p.m. and Saturday at 8 o'clock.

The play is about an old merchant of Yonkers who decides he would like a wife and employs a matchmaker to help. In the hilarious climax he finds himself affianced to the matchmaker herself, just as she had planned.

The play is difficult to perform, because of the great amount of action.

Sylvia Huberman spoke for the entire cast when she commented "without the aid of someone as patient and humorous as Mr. Spink, the director, we could never come out as well as we will."

The cast consists of Peggy Wells, Wenny Balos, Lenny Brown, Howard Gorney, Bob Gatti, Jon Barron, Sylvia Huberman, Joe Schneider, Kenny Ackerman, Richard Kantor, Joyce Lenox, Edith Prentice, Kerstin Ferre, Joan Popper, Harvey Alford and Joe Scanlon.

Sally Morrison plays the violin. The student directors are Steve Naterman, Carol Alban, Buddy Rifkin and Martha Harrison.

The play could not be performed without the aid of the "behind the scenes" committees. The stage crew under the direction of Mr. Chase and Mr. Roberts, and the stage design group under Mr. Nelson, constructed and designed some unusual scenery. There are four different sets for each of the four acts.

The committee chairman include: Properties, Barbara Williams; costumes, Arlene Shenk; stage crew, Marjorie Hilton; tickets, Mark Brenner; make up, Ellen Ford and Lorraine Maffie; ushers, Barbara Gorney and publicity, Steve Goldberger.

Memorial Mass For Galway Natives Tonite

The County Galway Men's Benevolent Association will sponsor a memorial Mass for their deceased members at St. Ignatius Church in Chestnut Hill tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Martin Harney, S. J., a professor at Boston College, will be the celebrant, and expected to attend will be representatives of the Columbian Fathers and the African Missions.

Everybody is welcome and an special invitation was extended by club officials to all natives of County Galway, those of Galway extraction, all former members of both clubs, and delegates from the Central Council of Irish Clubs.

Retirement Party For Jim Lawless

James E. Lawless of 82 Wildwood Ave., Newton, a member of the Newton American Legion Post No. 48, was guest of honor at a retirement party given by his friends and co-workers in the Boston Edison on Oct. 20 at Steuben's Restaurant in Boston.

He retired on Nov. 1 after 22 years of employment with the electric utility, and had been assistant manager of the Roxbury Edison Shop since 1951.

He was presented with a purse at the affair attended by his wife, Mabel, and their three daughters, Mary, Anne and Janet.

Newton Players Will Present "The Desk Set"

"The Desk Set", a three-act comedy, will be presented tonight, Friday and Saturday, by the Newton Players at the Pierce School in West Newton. Curtain time is 8:30 o'clock.

The part of Bunny Watson, which Shirley Booth made famous on Broadway, will be played by Mary Gura. Her procrastinating boy friend, Ted Morrill, Lou Callas will take the part of the arrogant efficiency expert. Emmy's mother will be played by Jane Marston. Other members of the cast include Doris Smith, Phyllis Wheeler, Jane Read, Leonard Abbott, David Mersky, Vivienne Rose, Edith May, Jack Breen and Stuart Briggs.

"The Desk Set" is directed by Mrs. David Rose assisted by Jack Breen. Mrs. Jackie Ford is producing the play and George Stephens has designed the sets. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Bank Elects Officers

William P. Sawyer, president of the Watertown Federal Savings and Loan Association, announced last night that at the recent October meeting of the Board of Directors, the following officers were elected:

Mary M. Cooper, manager of the B. F. Goodrich branch office, has been elected assistant treasurer. Mrs. Cooper has been employed for the past 11 years as manager of this branch. She resides in West Roxbury.

Raymond H. Elliott has been elected mortgage loan officer. He has been affiliated with the real estate and loan business for six years and was formerly connected with the Martin Cerel organization. He resides in Milford.

Edward R. Marston has been elected personnel manager. He was educated at Huntington School and Bowdoin College; he resides in Lynnfield Centre.

Aran H. Kooyoomjian has been elected auditor of the association. He attended the Watertown schools and was graduated from Watertown High School in 1947. He has been employed by the Watertown Federal for approximately five years.

President Sawyer stated that these promotions and additional responsibilities have been necessitated by the fact that the Association has grown approximately from $20-million since its Federal charter six years ago to over $31-million in assets.

3 U. of Mass. Frat Officers

Three Newton students at the University of Massachusetts have been elected officers of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity. All are seniors.

Elected president was Robert S. Margil, an accounting major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Margil of 19 Mary Ellen road.

Fred Andelman, elected pledge trainer, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Andelman of 47 Algonquin road. Stephen J. Paris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Paris of 29 Noble street, was elected historian.

Waban Prof. Heads Legal Symposium

A Newton professor will take a prominent part next Thursday, Nov. 12, when a symposium is held in Gardner Auditorium at the State House on the legislative process with particular regard to public health legislation.

The symposium, starting at 10 a.m., is co-sponsored by the Boston University Law-Medicine Research Institute, the Massachusetts Public Health Association and the Massachusetts Health Council.

Prof. William J. Curran of Waban, director of the B. U. Law - Medicine Research Institute, said the all-day workshop will attempt to offer advice in three major areas for public health work in public and private agencies.

The topics to be covered are the passing of bills through the legislature, the drafting of bills in the public health field and legislative lobbying.

"All of these people from time to time must deal with legislation not only in following its mandates," Prof. Curran said, "but in advocating legislative changes, reviewing bills and engaging in lobbying practices."

Following the luncheon break, Prof. Curran will lead a discussion on the "Anatomy of Legislation" in the afternoon session.

Navy Chaplain To Speak Here

Capt. Arthur F. McQuaid, CHC, USN, Force Chaplain of the Destroyer Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet, will be the guest speaker at next Sunday's meeting of Our Lady's Holy Name Society, Newton.

Members of the Society will assemble in the Parish parking area at 7:45 a.m. and march into the Church. Father McQuaid will celebrate 8 o'clock Mass during which the men will receive Holy Communion together.

Immediately after the Mass, the members will go to the Parish Cafeteria for the meeting. Coffee, doughnuts, and rolls will be served.

Father McQuaid is a native of Lowell and graduated from Boston College. He attended St. John's Seminary and was ordained in 1931. He served at St. Margaret's Parish, Lowell for 10 years.

He was commissioned in the Navy in October 1940 and has since served at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital, at various Naval Air Stations, with the First and Second Marine Divisions, and as District Chaplain for the Fourth Naval District.

He is currently serving as Chaplain of the Destroyer Force of the U. S. Destroyer Atlantic Fleet.

President John Neville will conduct the business meeting and Joseph Greeley, program chairman, will introduce the speaker.

The Nun's Story As Guild Benefit

The Guild of St. Monica of Our Lady's Parish in Newton is sponsoring a family night at the West Newton Theatre on Nov. 30 for the benefit of the school building fund. The movie will be "The Nun's Story."

Mrs. Gerald V. May is chairman of the affair, and is being assisted by the following committee:

Mrs. Edward Becherer, Mrs. John Thorsby, Mrs. Kevin Stokes, Mrs. John Sullivan, Mrs. Charles O'Brien, Mrs. Andrew McGlinchey, Mrs. Charles Donahue, Mrs. Maxwell Greenstein, Mrs. Leslie Shea, Mrs. James Kirwan, Mrs. Gerard Fagan and Mrs. B. Herring.

Lutheran Ladies Military Whist

The Ladies' Guild of the Lutheran Church of the Newtons is sponsoring a "Military Whist" to be held in the Parish Hall of the church, corner of Centre and Cypress Sts., in Newton Centre, on Friday, Nov. 13, at 8 p.m.

Prizes include a leather handbag, sweater, table cloth and napkins, snack tables, fruit cakes, two suppers at a charming and well-known eating place, movie tickets and many other attractive prizes.

Mrs. Paul Kreuger of Needham is chairman for the affair. She is being assisted by Mrs. Sally Archer, Mrs. Otto Hartwich and Mrs. Joseph Buccola, as the committee on prizes; Mrs. Arthur McCoy (LA 7-7093) tickets; Mrs. Merrill Kidman, chairman of the refreshment committee and Mrs. Peder M. Stennes, publicity.

The Debt Reduction Fund of the church will benefit from the proceeds of the party.

SPECIAL CITATION — Mrs. Mary Doeherl, of Newton, in center, receives a special citation at the American Cancer Society's annual meeting in New York for her outstanding efforts in the rehabilitation of victims of cancer of the larynx. Dr. Calvin T. Klopp, of the society's board of directors, makes the presentation. Mrs. Robert G. Stone, of Dedham, a Mass. division board member, is shown at left.

6 Local Men Working On Lindsay Dinner

Six Newton men were on the committee which arranged the testimonial dinner at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Boston Saturday night for Maurice M. Lindsay, President of Bentley School of Accounting and Finance.

They were William E. Lally of 82 Otis street, Newtonville; Arthur A. Marr Jr., of 469 Walcott street, and Edson W. Trumbull of 19 Chase avenue, both Newton; and George Piccirillo of 50 North Gate Pk. and John W. Ross of 25 Rose drive, both West Newton.

Matthew J. Murtha Jr., of 38 Manomet road, Newton Centre, is president of the Middlesex Alumni Chapter of the school.

Meadowbrook Jr. High PTA

Some 600 persons attended the "Meet the Teachers Night" conducted by the Meadowbrook Jr. High PTA recently in the school auditorium.

The program for the evening was arranged through Miss Bettina King, principal, and Charles Howard, assistant principal.

P.T.A. President Daniel Carr presided and introduced James Morgenthal, program committee chairman, and Harold Gruchy, treasurer.

Special mention was made of the "Handbook for Parents" put out this year at Meadowbrook Junior High by the P.T.A. It has been highly praised by school officials and enthusiastically received by both parents and teachers alike.

Parents toured the classrooms in 25 minute periods, and heard several teachers talk on math, science, English social studies and foreign languages, followed by a question and answer period.

Refreshments were served in the students dining room, and a cake sale was held under the chairmanship of Mrs. Yale Goldman.

"Poppy Drive" By Auxiliary

The "Poppy Drive" of the Women's Auxiliary of the George D. Carson Post, American Legion, gets underway today for three days.
William A. Sklar, of Sklar's Market, set off the drive by purchasing the first poppy from Mrs. Charlotte Dolan, chairman of the campaign. She is a cashier at the popular Newton Corner market.
Mr. Sklar represented the Newton merchants in purchasing the poppy, sale of which will continue for three days, today through Saturday, throughout the city.

Free Diabetes Tests During Week Nov. 15-21

Diabetes week runs from Nov. 15 through the 21st, and the Charles River District Medical Society has arranged facilities for free testing of members of the community for diabetes.
Dr. John Fernald, chairman of the Diabetes Committee of the District Medical Society announced today that testing centers have been established at convenient locations throughout this area. The simplest test for diabetes can be taken in a minute and will be available at these centers as well as at doctors' offices.

Dr. Fernald called on all residents to be tested during the drive, which is sponsored locally by the Charles River District Medical Society in cooperation with the nationwide effort of the American Diabetes Association. The national goal is to find one million undiagnosed cases of diabetes.
The immediate concern of the drive is early detection of diabetes often exists without producing symptoms which appear serious enough to warrant calling the doctor. Prompt detection and medical care are essential to successful treatment, Dr. Fernald explained.

He indicated that for the most part diabetes is dangerous only when neglected, and the easiest way to detect its presence and avoid neglect is by taking the test.

Although residents of all ages should be tested, Dr. Fernald urged individuals with these symptoms to make a special point of taking the test:
Excessive thirst, excessive urination, loss of weight, intense itching, slow healing of cuts and bruises, excessive hunger, changes in vision, easy tiring, and pain in the extremities.

Free test kits are available at local drugstores as long as the supply lasts.

Wheaton College Alumnae Meet On Fund Drive

Four Newton area women were among 125 alumnae of Wheaton College who returned to the Newton campus recently to confer on the college's current $4 million expansion program at the liberal arts college.
They were Mrs. Alice P. Roberts of 101 Carver road, Newton Highlands; Mrs. John E. Sox of 10 Roberts avenue, Newtonville; Mrs. H. M. Teich of 22 Chestnut terrace, Newton Centre, and Mrs. Charlotte S. Wales of 128 Cabot street, Newton.

St. Paul Fair Sat., Nov. 14

Committees are hard at work preparing for the annual Fair of the Parish of St. Paul in Newton Highlands to be held Saturday, Nov. 14 beginning at 10 a.m. The fair is under the general direction of Mrs. Willard G. Rice, Mrs. Francis Laurie and Sam Clapper.

A ham supper will be served in the Crypt followed by "Fashions in Dance" produced by the Young Adults Group.
Among those working on the fair are Mrs. John Balcom, Mrs. James Wiley, Mrs. Ruth Bassett, Mrs. Creighton Crowe, Mrs. Sam Clapper, Mrs. Philip Brown, Mrs. Alfred Obermeyer, Mrs. Ross Langill, Miss Hilda Stewart and Edgar S. Swail.

United Church Women Observe World Community Day Nov. 6

"Full Partners for Peace" is the topic for this year's World Community Day which will be observed by the United Church Women of Newton on Friday afternoon, November 6, at Second Church, Congregational, in West Newton. The afternoon program will begin at 1:15 p.m. with a brief coffee hour provided by the women of the host church.

Dr. Richardson Rice, executive director of the New England Home for Little Wanderers in Boston, will present an illustrated talk on the day's topic.

Dr. Rice visited many countries of the world last spring as he made a trip to attend an international conference on social work, of which he is vice-chairman of the United States Committee, which was held in Tokyo.

In a vivid portrayal of his experiences entitled "They Who Struggle for Survival," in a series of articles this past summer in The Boston Globe, Dr. Rice spoke of the needs, especially of the children of the world, and said "that until there is peace and health and a measure of happiness for all men everywhere, our task is far from done."

To this service when the Protestant women of Newton will have an opportunity to learn first-hand of social conditions and the problems of people in less developed countries, they will bring their offerings of layettes and clothes for toddlers which are sent through Church World Service to refugee camps in various parts of the world. Many local churches have been having sewing "bees" to make articles.

In addition to the presentation of this clothing, there will be a cash offering which will go toward the support of United Church Women work in the South Pacific and to help build a woman's training center in Accra, Ghana, and for the educational work of the United Church Women to support a constructive U. S. foreign policy and to help make the work of the United Nations and its specialized agencies more effective.

World Community Day, one of the three special observances of United Church Women, is under the supervision of the department of Christian World Relations. Mrs. Thomas Gephart is chairman of the local committee.

She has been assisted in her planning by the local president, Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian, and Mrs. John D. Fox, Mrs. Albert B. Terkelson, Mrs. Frederick Dutton, Mrs. Arthur Barnes, Mrs. Albert E. Burgess, Mrs. Chester E. Borden, Mrs. Archie R. Whitman, and Mrs. H. Neil Richardson.

NORMAN S. RABB

Norman S. Rabb Brandeis Board Vice-Chairman

Norman S. Rabb, of Newton, senior vice-president and director of Stop & Shop, Inc., has been named to the post of vice chairman of the Brandeis University Board of Trustees.

Mr. Rabb is a founding trustee of the 12-year old University in Waltham. In 1958 the University awarded an honorary degree to Mr. Rabb, a graduate of Boston Latin School and Harvard College. Except for service as an officer with the U.S. Navy during World War II, he has been affiliated with the Stop & Shop, formerly Economy Stores, since 1923 and has been a vice president and director since 1929. His home is at 129 Valentine street, West Newton.

He is a director of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, a director of Top Value Enterprises, Inc., a trustee of Children's Hospital, a trustee of the Perpetual Benevolent Fund of Newton, a regional director of the American Institute of Food Distribution, and a member of the executive committee and an honorary trustee for life of the Associated Jewish Philanthropies.

8 Newtonites On Radcliffe Fund Drive

Eight Newton women were among 2,000 volunteer workers who attended the recent Radcliffe College development fund conference aimed at raising $10 million in capital gifts. They were Mrs. Herbert R. Stewart of 8 Pilgrim road, Waban; Mrs. Maurice Crevozhay of 41 Hamlin road, and Mrs. Carnie J. Thomason of 88 Lewis street, both of Newton, and the following from Newton Centre:

Mrs. Leon Bayard of 94 Ridge avenue; Mrs. Samuel H. Epstein of 9 Applegarth street, Mrs. S. Donald Kusell of 24 Hartmann road, Mrs. Stanley Solomon of 49 Miller road, and Mrs. Carol J. Hoffman of 35 Vineyard road.

The 2,000 volunteers currently are visiting Radcliffe's 13,000 alumnae as well as 4,000 parents and friends of the College. Thus far more than $5,400,000 has been achieved toward endowment and building needs. The national deadline is Dec. 31, 1959.

Year's First Win By Our Lady's High

There was joy in the half of Our Lady's High School this week because the football team scored its initial victory of the season, 12 to 8, over a surprised St. Mary's of Cambridge at Allison Park Saturday.

Just when almost everyone thought the clock would run out, Our Lady's right halfback Bob Valois went 11 yards around left end with just 15 seconds to play, for the winning touchdown. It capped a 57-yard march which began with only four minutes left to play. The other scoring came in the initial minutes of the damp game. Our Lady's team put it over after five plays following an intercepted pass. The extra points by rush failed.

St. Mary's came right back and scored after a 49-yard drive which followed the kickoff. The summary: OUR LADY'S HIGH — Barrett, le. Jackson, Walsh, lb.; Welch, Flynn, lg.; Greeley, c.; Hannon, rg.; Patuto, rt.; Delaney, re.; Leonard, qb.; Connolly, lib.; Valois, rbb.; Richards, Collier, fb. St. Mary's (C) — Griffin, re.; O'Brien, Vannatta, re.; Crowley, rg.; Klem, c.; Gaspier, Morgan, lg.; Cross, lb.; Lonsdale, le.; Herlihy, qb.; Palmer, Kilian, rbb.; Mills, Guy, lib.; Edwards, fb. Score by quarters: Our Lady's . . . 0 0 0 6—12 St. Mary's . . . 8 0 0 0—8 Touchdowns made by Richards, Edwards, Valois. Points after touchdown made by Edwards (rush).

League to Auction Indian Hand-Craft Mission Goods

The Newton-Wellesley Branch of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will hold an auction of Indian handicrafts next Thursday, Nov. 12, from 12:30-3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Loy L. Long at 1830 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale.

On sale will be many beautiful articles, imported for this event from the cooperative Industrial Arts Center in Bombay, India where Mrs. Long and her husband served as missionaries of the Congregational Christian Churches for 18 years, organizing home industries and marketing centers and distributing famine and flood relief.

The Industrial Arts Center, operating on a non-profit, self-supporting basis, serves as an outlet for hand crafts from 40 welfare centers from all parts of India and provides a steady income for hundreds of workers of all religions and castes—especially those in the lower income groups.

Mrs. Long, who is a member of the WILPF, will tell about each kind of article before it is auctioned. Dolls made by Brahmin widows, brass trays hammered by boys from a Swedish mission-school, sisal baskets and bags made by Moslem women, woolen saddle bags from a Scottish orphanage near the Tibetan border, birds and animals carved from buffalo horn by outcasts, hand-blocked scarfs, hand-woven place mats, and other items will be up for bid. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. H. B. Brainerd of Dover, ST 5-0088 or Mrs. Alard Valentine of Auburndale, LA 7-5640.

THE NEW NEW ENGLAND

The Sky's The Limit!

Today, thanks to our greatest resource — TALENTED PEOPLE — New England is blazing a trail to outer space, even bouncing radar signals off Venus. New England-made devices are used in all U. S. earth satellites. Top-ranking research and development facilities and skilled, painstaking workers have made our region the fastest growing electronics center in the nation.

Sixteen per cent of the country's total output of electronics products will be produced in our six states during 1959, requiring a work force of over 100,000 men and women.

One fifth of the entire missile program is centered here. New England companies developed — and are producing — the nation's three most advanced missiles, including the Army's ground-to-air HAWK shown above.

With electronics playing an increasingly important role in the nation's aircraft, communications and defenses, this young industry can look forward to continued meteoric growth in the future. Yes, the sky's the limit and then some.

This message was prepared by The New England Council for Economic Development and is published by this newspaper as a public service in cooperation with the New England Daily Newspaper Association and the New England Weekly Press Association.

NU Student Writes Trade Article On Wood Glueing

An article written by Myron Kasok of 25 Chestnut Hill Terrace, Newton, entitled "High Frequency Curing of Adhesives" has been published in the August issue of trade magazine Adhesives Age.

An engineering student at Northeastern University, Kasok gained material for the two-page article while employed in a Co-operative Work job at Raybond Electronics, Inc., Newton.

Under the Co-operative Plan of Education at Northeastern, upperclass students alternate 10-week periods in the University with periods of equal length on regular paying jobs in business and industry.

Kasok outlined the advantages of curing adhesives in the woodworking industry with special high frequency electronic machinery. Among the advantages are production rises of 25 to 35 percent, less waste, less production time, greater quality, and reclamation of waste lumber.

The process allows the glueing together of narrow waste lumber strips into wide panels, and, among other applications, it includes rapid curing of molded plywood.

Kasok, son of Mrs. Sarah Kasok, is a graduate of Newton High School where he was a varsity athlete on the football team. At Northeastern he is a member of the student chapter, Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Association.

Berklee School of Music announces that Miss Geraldine Ryan of 50 Margin street, Newton, has been accepted as a student and her studies will cover private instructions in piano.

Newton Students Star In NU Revival of "Teahouse"

CATHERINE HARPER

Miss Catherine Harper of 94 Grove street, Auburndale, will play the lead feminine role in Northeastern's University's Silver Masque production of "Teahouse of the August Moon".

It will be presented tomorrow and Saturday, Nov. 6-7 at 8:30 p.m., in the Alumni auditorium of the Carl S. Ell Student Center Building.

Miss Harper, who, at the age of 19, has had 14 years of dramatic training, will portray Lotus Blossom, a beautiful Geisha girl.

Co-starring is Richard J. Blue of 129 Arlington street, Newton. He will portray Sakini, an Okinawan interpreter who, through humorous yet subtle antics, succeeds in completely disrupting American post-war redevelopment on the tiny Pacific island of Okinawa while slowly winning the Americans over to the Oriental outlook on life.

Born in Yorkshire, England, Miss Harper came to this country in March of 1957. She acted in several productions while at Newton High School and has directed performances in the New England Drama Festival.

Richard Blue is married to the former Mary Ayres and is an English major in the College of Liberal Arts. He is a graduate of Newton High School.

Geoffrey P. Goldberg of 33 Mason road, Newton Centre, will assist in the production acting as company ticket agent. He is a marketing and advertising major in the College of Business Administration.

Music Nursery School

The primary function of the standard Nursery School is to expose the youngster to social activities, and to provide supervised play. Some Nursery Schools, recognizing the importance of stimulating the child's natural creative instincts, offer elementary instructions in arts and crafts. In addition to the basic activities, the Music Nursery School at Pulsifer opens an entirely new instructional area, introducing the child to an understanding and appreciation of music and the dance. Activity will include training in: SINGING, MUSIC APPRECIATION, GOOD MANNERS, DANCING, RHYTHM ORCHESTRA, ARTS, CRAFTS, FREE PLAY PERIODS, SNACKS and ADJUSTMENT TO GROUPS.

Segregation In North On Public Forum Here

"Segregation, Northern Style," will be discussed tonight, Thursday, November 5, by a panel of three comprising the Right Rev. Francis J. Lally, Mrs. Mildred H. Mahoney and Samuel A. Turner, in a public forum to be held at 8 o'clock at the Warren Elementary School, Wellesley Hills.

Dr. Stephen R. Deane, chairman of the Division of Philosophy, Psychology and Education, at Simmons College, will be the moderator. He also is chairman of the Wellesley Fair Housing Practices Committee.

Panel members will consider the implications for Massachusetts towns and cities of population shifts among minority groups, and of the new anti-discrimination law for private housing. The moral, legal, and personal aspects of housing discrimination will be considered. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Monsignor Lally, Editor of "The Pilot," is vice chairman of the United States National Commission for UNESCO; member of the Board of Directors for the Fund for the Republic; director of the Catholic Interracial Council of Boston; and member of the board of the Boston Redevelopment Authority.

Mrs. Mahoney is chairman of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination. Mr. Turner is president of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, and past co-chairman of the Newton Fair Housing Practices Committee.

This meeting is being presented as a public service by fair housing practices committee.

RE. REV. FRANCIS LALLY

The National Society of Pershing Rifles at Northeastern University announces the following pledges: John J. Shields of 24 Park avenue, Newton; Lawrence C. Spezzano of 97 Florence street, Newton; Paul D. Quinlan of 55 Washburn street, Newton; Barry Evans of 11 Chester road, Newton Highlands and John Huntington of 139 Summer street, Newton Centre.

New members to be welcomed at this meeting are Mrs. Lawrence Bidstrup, Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, Mrs. Harold J. Sykes, and Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver. Following the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, president, Mrs. Paul Hutchinson, program chairman, will introduce the speaker of the afternoon, Mr. A. Raymond Rogers, Jr., assistant principal of the Newton High School whose subject will be "The Newton Youth Advisory Com-

SHE COMES TO TELL YOU A STORY

And a wonderful story it is. All about people helping people. She may be a housewife, a stenographer, a nurse, a saleswoman, a teacher, a student, or an executive. She belongs to a group of people who come from every business, every kind of job, every race, every religion in your community.

She shares with them the desire to help in the many works of the United Fund agencies and services that make life better for all of us in Greater Boston. Her schedule is much too heavy to allow her the time, but she's one of those people who, somehow, always manages. Because of people like her, and people like you who will listen to her story, the works of the United Fund's 288 agencies and services will be made more effective and useful in Greater Boston during the coming year.

On or after November 8, one of your neighbors will call to tell you the United Fund story — a story which will help you to understand the many, many ways in which you can share with your one contribution. Will you spare a moment for the volunteer who calls on you? Remember — it's a great day when you can help people by sharing the United way!

he thousands who worked so diligently and successfully in the greatest of civilization cooperative endeavors or our youth.

"The benefits of the parties have been evident for years. The outstanding reputation which Newton enjoys for developing and promoting them has been further enhanced and we should all feel very proud of our accomplishments in this important field of youth activity and education.

Leadership Success

"I wish it were possible to thank individually the thousands who have worked tirelessly on this project. Such, of course, is impossible. But I do believe a special word of appreciation should be extended to Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester who once again served as general chairman. Dr. Sylvester's outstanding leadership is evident by the success of the parties.

"To all, I extend sincere thanks and congratulations." Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson, whose department actively sponsors the city's neighborhood Halloween celebration each year, said:

"The outstanding success of our Halloween parties, the almost 100 percent attendance of our children and the tremendous support given to the entire program by the parents and friends throughout the city, is a source of great satisfaction to all of us who have shared in this program.

"Citizens who have given so much of their time and effort in the planning and programming for the parties, can be justly proud of this city-wide program.

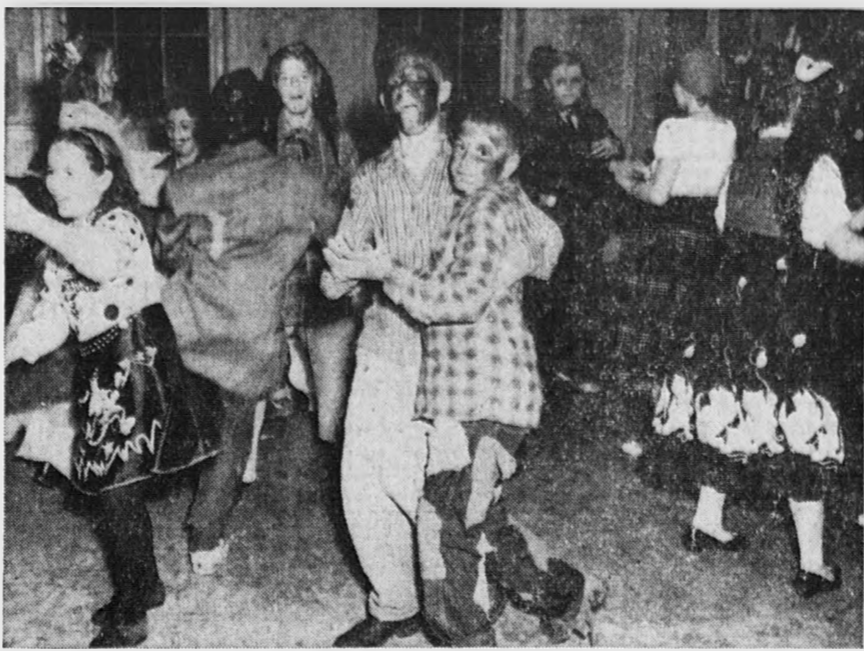

"More children than ever before have shared in the parties and have had a wonderful time. The success pattern is clearly evident. Community Planning and Organization, Adult Participation, Mutual Interest.

"Accept a most sincere 'thanks' from the entire Newton Recreation Department for your part in continuing this total community progress so effectively."

Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester, general chairman of the Halloween Committee, said that he found working with so many fine citizens an "enriching experience."

"Newton," he said, "has just completed its 29th successful Halloween Party program. This year we had the largest celebration in the history of these events. Halloween has become a thrilling and wondrous time in the lives of our children. No longer the thoughts of vandalism uppermost in their minds, but rather good, clean, organized fun. Entire families are working together to make this the outstanding project of the year for family participation and enjoyment, to say nothing of the relief and comfort that is felt in knowing where and what our children are doing."

"I felt that as parents we owe a tremendous vote of thanks to a relatively small department of our city that has been the backbone of these parties since their beginning, the Recreation Department. Special thanks to Commissioner C. Evan Johnson, who has had such a keen interest in helping to unravel the many organizational problems, to Mr. Nicholas P. Tedesco, Recreation Supervisor, and to Mrs. Dorothy H. Garon, Program Chairman.

"Further I wish to convey my gratitude to Mayor Howard Whitmore and the many Municipal Departments without whose ready assistance we could not function so smoothly and safely. To the School Superintendent, Mr. Eric N. Dennard, the principals, teachers and custodians, we extend appreciation. We are indebted to the clergy of all faiths for their active support. The Chamber of Commerce with Mr. Justin T. Horan has cheerfully solicited business organizations and citizens for contributions, which when added to the funds provided in the budget of the Recreation Department, supply the ever essential means to carry on the programs and to provide refreshments.

"Thanks also to the Parent Teacher Association and the various civic organizations whose spirited aid is indispensable.

"To Mr. Monte G. Basbas, Vice Chairman, my warmest thanks for his excellent council.

"It has been an enriching experience to work with so many fine citizens who are helping to make these parties such a worth while project. May I thank all of you for your wonderful support."

Of Abe Says

Much More Snow This Winter: Severe Storms

Of Abe Weatherwise was deep in thought as he automatically raked his boots over the scraper near the kitchen door.

He hung his mackinaw and cap on a peg, filled his meerschaum pipe with rubbed plug, put on his spectacles and began checking his figures.

There were the statistics on the thickness of squirrels' tails; the date when the ducks began to fly south; the thickness of the bark on the trees; the dates when the first leaves began to turn and fall from the trees . . . and of course the spiders.

Abe "hummed" to clear his throat of the bitter tasting tobacco juice from the pipe he forgot to clean.

He dipped the old pen in the crusted inkwell and wrote: "The winter (Nov., Dec., 1959; Jan., Feb., March, April, 1960) will be warmer than last year—and close to average temperatures."

"There will be much more snow and precipitation but this will occur in storms of some severity."

"Look for about 45 inches precipitation and 46 degrees average temperature—a cold January, February, March, late Spring, hot dry summer and Fall."

Finished with his laborious task, Abe put on his cap and mackinaw and took his manuscript down to his printer friend, Robt Sagendorph, who prints the Old Farmer's Almanac in Dublin, New Hampshire.

Of Abe felt pretty smug. His forecasts for the 1959 Almanac were exactly 71 per cent correct or "successful" with the weather that we actually did have.

Of course we're a little free and easy here with the facts; because Abe Weatherwise is none other than Robt Sagendorph himself who for 20 years has published the world-famed little booklet with the familiar yellow cover, and the hole in the upper left hand corner.

This makes it easy to hang on a nail, or with a piece of string to some handy but secure place.

The O F A came out today on the stands of some 100,000 dealers, and with its appearance it kept unbroken 168 years of consecutive annual publication.

These stands are everywhere—in the small village stores and in the news stands of the big cities—the railroad stations, airports and on ships at sea.

This is how Sagendorph describes the 1960 edition of the Almanac:

NHS Music Club Meeting

The Newton High School Music Club met recently for its first organizational meeting of the year and elected Barbara Yeo as president.

Other officers were: vice president, Charles Downing; recording secretary, Elizabeth Little; corresponding secretary, Pat Deats, Sally Everett and Sally Renley; treasurer, Barbara Swanton. Coordinators are Jacqueline Hall and Dick Abrams. Mr. Henry Lasker is the faculty advisor.

A student concert was presented with Mr. Donald March conducting the NHS Symphony Orchestra, and Mr. Douglas Godfrey conducting the NHS Dance Band.

★ Roundup Of Major News Events Of The Week ★

As a service to our readers we are printing in this edition a roundup of the major news events which have occurred in the past week during a shutdown of the Boston newspapers.

Four airmen were killed when two Air Force jet planes crashed during a blinding snowstorm in Montana early Tuesday. A third plane also plummeted down out of the skies, but its two crew members bailed out seconds before it crashed and parachuted safely onto a ranch in central Montana. Other aircraft caught in the blizzard made emergency landings.

A controversy over cranberries, touched off by a warning from a high government official, brought angry protests from cranberry growers on Cape Cod and left housewives generally in a state of confusion as to what to do about the traditional Thanksgiving dish.

It all started when U. S. Secretary of Welfare Arthur S. Fleming issued a warning in Washington that cranberries grown in Washington and Oregon were found to be contaminated by a weed killer which can cause thyroid cancer in rodents. Fleming urged housewives to go slow about buying cranberries, either canned or fresh, until they know where the berries come from.

In the ensuing furore some doctors assailed Fleming's warning as "a bunch of nonsense," and the growers, facing heavy losses in their peak selling season, demanded that he be fired.

Fleming said that a weed killer sprayed on cranberry crops in Washington and Oregon this year and last had been shown by laboratory tests to produce cancer in rodents. He asserted that his agency is making checks to determine whether cranberries from Massachusetts and other states may have been contaminated.

Two eminent Massachusetts physicians gave an altogether different version than did Secretary Fleming.

Dr. Edwin B. Astwood, a thyroid specialist, declared that Fleming's warning was "a bunch of nonsense." "We can give aminotriazole (the weed killer referred to by Fleming) to patients to treat hyperthyroidism for years and never produce cancer," Dr. Astwood declared.

Dr. Robert Haggerty, medical director of the Boston Poison Information Centre, said the use of the weed-killer, as it is handled in Massachusetts, involves no danger.

Irate cranberry growers called upon the government to move quickly and remove from the market any berries believed to be contaminated. A corps of 100 inspectors and 60 chemists have been sent to the district offices of the Federal Food and Drug Administration to start the inspection and culling-out job.

Governor Furcolo, discussing his political future at a press conference this week, told newsmen he would prefer to run for the U. S. Senate rather than for a third term in the Governorship next year and probably will do so.

"I always have had a preference for the Senate," Furcolo declared. "However, about February of next year if I find that some of the programs I have initiated are not progressing speedily, I probably will stand for a third term."

Education In Newton Is Real Big Business

(Editor's Note: National Education Week is being celebrated throughout the land this week. There are open houses, demonstrations, book fairs and various other events scheduled in the school system of Newton. But just how big a role education plays and its meaning and cost is related in the following article written expressly for The Newton Graphic.)

By JOHN GILLELAND
Director of Business Services

Canaveral to the corner lots, a count down on knowledge is the demand of our day. In this thirst, nationally and internationally, for more know how and how why is contained a voracious demand as the thirst of the space probing rocket lifting from the Florida sands. Meeting these demands for atom age knowledge and those changing spatial values of time and dimension composes into the form we know as Education, a big business both nationally and in the home community.

Ordway House, Lasell Dormitory, Named In Honor Of Local Citizen

The new Lasell Junior College dormitory, dedicated with simple but impressive ceremonies held on the campus last week, was named in honor of Earl H. Ordway, of Newton. Mr. Ordway has been associated with the college for nearly half a century.

The new dormitory, which houses 27 students and designed in Colonial Williamsburg architecture, was dedicated as Ordway House.

Mr. Ordway joined Lasell Junior College in 1911 as an instructor in physics and house planning.

For many years he was coach of the Lasell crew and most recently director of maintenance at the college. In 1948 he was elected to the Lasell board of trustees on which he has served on the executive finance committees.

Mr. and Mrs. Ordway reside at 21 Fern street, in Auburndale. They have two children, a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Brewer, also of Auburndale, and a son, David, of Ringwood, N.J., an engineer with the Bendix Airways Corporation.

Dr. Richard M. Packard, acting president of Lasell, was the principal speaker at the exercises which were opened with a prayer by Rev. Fred-

GOP And Democratic Candidates Look To Primaries In February

A rush of candidates for the Republican and Democratic nominations for the State Senate seat from which Mayor-elect Donald L. Gibbs will resign late next month, developed this week.

Present indications are that the primary to nominate the two candidates of the opposing political parties will be staged some time in February and that the election will be held in March.

The election in the close senatorial district will assume more than ordinary importance because its results are certain to be interpreted as reflecting how the political winds are blowing.

With both parties preparing to go all-out to capture the post Gibbs will relinquish, Republican leaders are going forward with plans for holding an informal convention to endorse a GOP standard-bearer.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., is expected to be the chairman of the conclave and former Governor's Councilor Christian A. Herter, Jr., the vice chairman.

Gunman Gets $262 At Tur-Inn

Tiremarks left by a getaway car and the description of an unshaven gunman who carried a long-barreled revolver were the only clues police had to work on as they sought bandits who escaped with $262.94 from a Newton Highlands restaurant early Monday.

An accomplice drove the no description of the second man.

Charles Lombardi, of Revere, manager of the Tur-Inn Restaurant at 138 Needham St., told police an unshaven, nervous man entered at 2:20 a.m., from the back door, produced the gun and said "don't do anything funny and you won't get hurt. Empty the money on the table."

When Lombardi complied, the gunman stepped to door and called "O.K.?" to a look-out. When the latter replied "O.K.," the gunman took the money and left by the rear door.

Lombardi described the robber as 5 feet 11, slim, about 20, dark wavy hair, brown shirt, gray trousers, and an Eisenhower jacket. The gun was believed to be a .22 calibre target pistol.

Accidents Injure 10 In Newton

Ten persons were treated for injuries at Newton-Wellesley Hospital as the result of a series of auto accidents on Newton streets in a 72-hour period, according to police traffic division reports.

A two-car collision injured a mother and daughter at Hobart road and Beacon street, Chestnut Hill, on Monday. Mrs. Marjorie W. Tullis of 188 Franklin street, Newton, driver of one car, suffered back and side injuries, and her daughter, Susan, 10, suffered injuries to her back, side and left knee.

The driver of the other car, a Newton Highlands man, escaped injury.

Newton and Waltham Meet in Inter-City Grid Clash

Arch-rivals Newton and Waltham High, both well-versed in the game of football, met in an inter-city clash Saturday afternoon at Dickinson Stadium. Coach Bob Malone's Orange and Black squad boasts a record of five wins and one loss this season as they go into the inter-city clash with Waltham, which has not played since Oct. 8 when Malden Catholic won a lopsided victory. Inclement weather washed out Waltham-Lynn English and Waltham-Brockton games in the past two weeks, and Saturday's Newton-Lynn English game was cancelled. Both Lynn English and Waltham were averse to playing games on Monday.

Although Newton has a better season record than the boys from the Watch City, anything can and usually does happen in this game. Last year Newton edged Waltham 12-8.

As far as injuries go, Newton will be in better shape for the Waltham tilt than for any game this season.

The slightly sprained ankle of Fullback and Captain Dick Paaso is in good shape. He hurt it in practice before the Medford game, which he turned into a rout by scoring three of the four touchdowns. Newton won 30 to 0.

Tackle Bill Wallace is in good shape again and Ed Flowers, Newton's "Lonesome End" seems to have recovered from the leg injury suffered early in the season.

Coach Malone held heavy workouts Monday and Tuesday, and scheduled a double session on Wednesday, Veterans Day holiday.

Pretty much the same program was followed by Waltham Coach Joe Zeno who has expressed concern that his squad may be rusty from the enforced layoff.

Zeno's charges can be expected to pull a few surprises

Camp Fire Girls Fete Fathers At YMCA Breakfast

School Superintendent Eric N. Dennard, who was a "Camp Fire Father" in Texas, will be the principal speaker at the Camp Fire Girls' Father-Daughter breakfast to be held at the Newton YMCA on Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

A highlight of the program when they tangle with the Tigers.

will be the announcement of the winner of the Camp Fire Girls' poetry contest. It will be announced by Maxine Kumin (Mrs. Victor Kumin) celebrated Newton poet.

The Camp Fire Father-Daughter chorus will present a musical program at the breakfast. Members include Professor Milton Hindus and his daughter, Myra; Reverend David Stowe and daughter, Elizabeth; Dr. Bernard Rothblatt and daughters, Harriet and Nancy; Frank Chambers and daughter, Anne; and Walter Muther and daughter, Kathy.

Christine Dunham, of Weymouth, will be mistress of ceremonies, and will announce the "Father of the Year" award to a Camp Fire Father. Mrs. Earle Mullare is in charge of hospitality. Mrs. Peter Coogan is chairman of Camp Fire Girls in Newton.

These breakfasts are held to acquaint the Camp Fire Fathers with the assistance given to Camp Fire by the United Fund and to present donations from each Camp Fire group to Simon Scheff, this year's United Fund chairman.

Launch Big Newton United Fund Drive

Senator Leverett Saltonstall enjoined an audience of 400 to thoughtful appraisal of the United Fund at a pledge dinner meeting held last Thursday night in the Newton High School gymnasium.

Then everyone settled down to the business at hand: the 1960 United Fund Campaign.

It was soon evident that the United Fund theme of "People Helping People" bears well the burden of serious thinking and a lot of hard work.

After an introduction of head table guests—directors of Newton's Red Feather and United Fund agencies—Dinner Chairman Frederick G. Fisher Jr. presented speakers Roy T. Miles, United Fund Campaign Director, Simon Scheff, Newton chairman, and Robert Cutler, chairman of the board of the Old Colony Trust Company.

Each contributed a different phrase to the definition of "People Helping People," from the role of the fund-raising professional to the idea of a united community fund as our working belief in the democratic way of life.

The purpose of the dinner was to explain the services and needs of the United Fund . . . and to raise money. Diners responded immediately with a combined thoughtful re-consideration of the United Fund's role in Newton and the Greater Boston area.

A festive atmosphere was heightened by the appearance of WBZ-TV's Bob Emery, Rex Trailer, and Pablo against a background—arranged by Mrs. Carol Berman—of student posters, sculpture, and murals depicting the United Fund's activities.

Supervisor of Art Education Miss F. Eleanor Elliott and 30 Newton elementary school teachers and consultants co-operated with the United Fund to guide third, fourth, fifth and sixth grade students who created the artwork so strikingly displayed.

These students were not the only youngsters who joined the grown-ups in "People Helping People" at the dinner meeting.

Boy Scouts, Boys' Club members, YMCA boys, Girl Scouts, and Camp Fire Girls were there in uniform to explain their displays.

Big Business-

enterprise, its Public schools. It is so big in the immediate tangible present and ever so much bigger in the individual student's future. So big is education in its true total dimensions that it is somewhat difficult to conjure up some meets and bounds to illustrate how big.

Let's fence walk a few statistics and see if they will help create a truly formative mass, using that elusive medium of exchange, the dollar, as a scanning device.

Should our Newton student terminate his educational process with his school diploma, he will represent a community investment of five thousand dollars, and from this investment he will receive an average lifetime return that is forty times larger.

He and his fellow students will utilize a physical plant made up of some thirty-six buildings. The construction and equipping of these structures representing approximately forty million dollars of capital outlay.

His average classroom, equivalent to a small four-room cottage, requires an annual expenditure of a quarter of a million dollars for heat, light and water with another quarter million expended on repairs and maintenance.

On the daily scene these students represent a daily community expenditure of forty thousand dollars, two dollars and thirty cents per student, culminating in the 1959 annual budget of seven point three million dollars.

To this point, we have been scanning only the tangible aspects of the big business process, the service area to Education. While it is a captivating pursuit to deal with large sums, one cannot disregard the fact that the finest plant, its production lines stocked with supplies, is inanimate, non-productive without people to create as well as consume.

Here is where the Public Schools, Education, a big business becomes so big that there are no adequate meets and bounds to define the size.

The people, the staff of our public schools, are 1100 specialists, skilled in the processes of the economy and the culture, in the arts and crafts of language, art, math and science, teachers who recognize the challenge in that tag line of a local tea firm, "The greatest undeveloped territory in the world lies under your hat."

Here in this area are the specialists, the educational technologists, the teachers working to develop this resource, to supply the demands for more know how and know why in the intangible realities of space and atom theory, of ideals, law, order as well as the supply and demand of the economic life of the community and nation.

Newton Public Schools represent forty percent of our community effort, effort expended in the present to meet the promise and demands of the tomorrow, a tomorrow as infinite as the universe into which knowledge is expanding. Education is big business.

Home Reception Followed Chaplin-Palmer Wedding

The Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, Ill., was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Helena Palmer to Mr. Ross Chaplin.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Russell Palmer of Lake Bluff, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Chaplin of 424 Dedham street, Newton Centre are the couple's parents.

The Rev. James M. Dix performed the 4:30 o'clock nuptial ceremony. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a princess gown of peau de sole, entraine. Her heirloom lace veil followed the graceful lines of her dress. She carried pink throatied cymbidium orchids.

Miss Dudley Palmer of Lake Bluff was her sister's only attendant.

Mr. Robert M. Chaplin

MRS. ROSS CHAPLIN

served as best man for his son.

The couple left on a trip to Wisconsin. They are now residing at Ann Arbor, Mich., where the groom is a graduate student at the University of Michigan.

The bride was graduated from Lake Forest High School and the University of Michigan. Her husband is a graduate of Wilbraham Academy and Wesleyan University.

Women's Clubs Woolworth Sale Set For Nov. 30

The Newton Federation of Women's Clubs has completed plans for the Woolworth Night money making project, for the Club year 1959-1960.

With the co-operation of the manager of the F. W. Woolworth store at 306 Walnut street, Newtonville, on Nov. 30 between 6 and 10 p.m. has been reserved for the Newton Federation Sale. All articles in the store including the new Christmas decorations, wrapping paper, cards, tags, assorted boxes and ornaments will be on sale.

A meeting of the Presidents of the Clubs of the Newton Federation was held recently at the home of Mrs. Dorothy H. Reed, Chairman, in Waban.

This was a planning meeting and details about reception committees, advisors, and the hours of serving were discussed. The Committee urges all Clubs and Associate organizations to cooperate.

Trinity Church Holiday Festival

Trinity Holiday Festival is taking place today and tomorrow, Thursday and Friday, at Trinity Episcopal Church in Newton Centre, under the direction of Mrs. Henry S. Cross of Wellesley and Mrs. Robert B. Purinton of Newton Centre.

A roast beef dinner will be served this evening, followed by community singing and entertainment by the rector, Rev. Howard R. Dunbar. On Friday noon a tuna and chicken salad luncheon will be served, and a fish chowder supper Friday night will close the fair.

The treasure table will have articles collected by Mrs. Ralph Houghton; the books and record shop is under the direction of the Choir, Miss Beatrice M. Eastman, chairman; textile table in charge of Mrs. Melville Liming. There will be a garden shop display for plant lovers, and there will be a home cooked food table.

There will be something for all ages, from the children's activities planned by Mrs. George W. Howland, to the "Grandmothers' Korner" in charge of Mrs. Stewart W. Holmes and Mrs. Amos E. Kent.

MR. AND MRS. GUY F. DIMILLA

(Weddings, Inc.)

Sacred Heart Church Scene of DiMilla-Spera Wedding

One of the season's loveliest brides is the former Miss Anna Spera, whose marriage to Mr. Guy F. DiMilla took place recently at the Sacred Heart Church in Newton Centre.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Spera of 1130 Walnut street, Newton Highlands. Her husband is the son of Mrs. Gaetano DiMilla of Somerville and the late Mr. DiMilla.

Escorted by her father, the bride was attired in ivory peau de sole. Her molded bodice had a scooped neckline marked with re-embroidered Alencon lace misted with seed pearls, and three-quarter-length sleeves. Her full skirt had a chapel-length train.

A princess crown, made of similar lace and pearls, was caught with an elbow-length French illusion veil. Ivy accented her bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. Miss Catherine Spera of School.

Elsa Marston Weds Mr. Harik In London, Eng.

Of interest here is the announcement from Professor and Mrs. Everett C. Marston of South Duxbury, formerly of Newton, of the recent marriage of their daughter, Miss Elsa Pelee Marston to Mr. Illiya Farid Harik of Beirut and Shweir, Lebanon.

The bride's parents went to England for the marriage which took place at the Trinity Congregational Church in St. Albans.

The bride wore a smartly styled embroidered blue linen suit and carried white roses and carnations.

Mrs. David Knox-Wright and Miss Joanna Knox-Wright were her attendants.

Mr. Najoh Harik served as best man for his brother.

Following their honeymoon on the South Devon coast, the couple returned to London, where the groom is studying history on a British council scholarship at the University of London.

A graduate of Newton High School, the bride attended Vassar College before receiving her bachelor of arts degree from the University of Iowa. She holds a master of arts degree from Radcliffe College. In 1957 Miss Marston received a Rotary Foundation fellowship for a year's study at the American University of Beirut.

The groom received his master's degree from the American University of Beirut, where he was a member of the faculty.

Surprise Shower For Bride-Elect, Virginia Yeagle

Miss Virginia M. Yeagle was given a surprise shower recently at the home of Mrs. Helen Randall of Waltham by Miss Elaine Goddard, who will be her honor maid, and Miss Joan MacDonald, Mrs. Marilyn Daley, Miss Janet Mullen and Miss Roseanna Caisie, her future bridesmaids.

Twenty-five guests attended the gay miscellaneous party.

Miss Yeagle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Yeagle of 62 Kensington street, Newtonville, will become the bride of Mr. David J. Caisie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Desire Caisie of Waltham, on November's final Saturday, the 28th, at St. Bernard's Church in West Newton.

Carolyn Collins Is Bride-Elect Of Edward B. Dalton

At a tea at her home recently, Mrs. Edmund T. Collins of 117 Nonantum street, Newton, made known the engagement of her daughter, Miss Carolyn Elizabeth Collins, to Mr. Edward B. Dalton, son of Mrs. Stephen J. Dalton of Brighton and Wareham and the late Mr. Dalton.

Miss Collins attended Lasell Junior College and Georgetown Visitation Junior College.

Maurice Connolly and Bride to Reside in Westwood

Wearing an heirloom mantilla of Duchess lace with her Italian silk bouffant gown and carrying white orchids, stephanotis and dracena foliage, Miss Maura Eucharis Meagher became the bride of Mr. Maurice Frederick Connolly.

The bride is the daughter of Anthony Meagher of Jamaica Plain. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Herbert L. Connolly of Newton.

St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Jamaica Plain, was the setting for the nuptial mass at which the Rev. Matthew Hale, S. J., was the officiating clergyman. A reception was held at Longwood Towers.

Escorted by her father, the bride had Mrs. Frederick A. Meagher Jr., of Westwood for her matron of honor. Miss Ruth Meagher of Jamaica Plain was honor maid.

Bridesmaids included Miss

Anne Doyle of West Roxbury, Miss Jane MacDonald of Milton and Miss Eleanor Coppola of Jamaica Plain. Mrs. Paul Beatty of Sudbury, a sister of the bridegroom, was an honorary bridesmaid.

Mr. Peter Connolly of Wayland served as best man for his brother. Ushering were Mr. Vincent Kelley Jr., of Newton, Mr. Frederick Meagher Jr., of Westwood, Mr. Paul Beatty of Sudbury, Mr. John Connors of Needham and Mr. Paul Grady of Wellesley.

When they return from a trip to Florida the couple plan to make their home in Westwood.

The bride was graduated from the Academy of Notre Dame in Roxbury and Cardinal Cushing College, Brookline.

Mr. Connolly is an alumnus of Cranwell Preparatory School, Lenox, and Holy Cross College.

Miss Kennedy Concludes 35 Year Teaching Career

Alice Jane Kennedy, Dean of Women at Newton Junior College, retired last Friday after 35 years of service in the Newton Schools and was tendered a surprise dinner and reception by more than 50 of her friends and colleagues.

Miss Kennedy had taught at F.A. Day Junior High School and at Newton High School before joining the College faculty on a full-time basis in 1956. She had been Dean of Women at the College since that time, developing the College's courses in child and Adolescent Psychology and an Introduction to Elementary Education.

Miss Kennedy's inspiring leadership had resulted in the decision of many young men and women in leadership positions at the College to make teaching their careers. Since 1956 many outstanding students at the College have become teachers or are in training for teaching at Teachers Colleges from Maine to Texas.

On the final day of her teaching, Miss Kennedy was the recipient of gifts and well wishes from her students.

At the Pillar House in the evening, presentations were made by Moira Sullivan and Marilyn Drewes for Miss Kennedy's former colleagues at Newton High School, Harvey Pook for the Newton Teachers Assn., Dr. Charles D. Merrill, Mrs. Dorothy Wadman, Dean Kenneth P. White, Mrs. Selma Stenberg, and Director Walter M. Taylor for the College faculty, and Michael J. Flynn for the College Alumni. Dr. Charles E. Brown represented the Newton School Department and Fr. Francis Martus of Holy Cross, Miss Kennedy's colleagues on the State Science Fair Committee.

Muther Explains Tax Stand

A recent news interview quoting Newton's mayor-elect Donald Gibbs as saying he agreed with the Newton Taxpayers' Association forecast of a $10 tax rate increase in 10 years, neglects the better half of the Association's position, stated Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Association executive today.

The Association indicated that such a result could occur unless the city adopts a more vigorous policy of controlling and offsetting the anticipated cost levels, he declared.

The Taxpayers' Association has suggested a maximum tax rate goal of not over $60 in the 1960s, Muther continued. It has published a program whereby this aim may be achieved in good part, and a portion of the program is now before the Aldermen in the form of certain proposed ordinance changes.

In its bulletin to members where the goal was urged, the Association is quoted as follows:

"...if the city set a $60 tax rate as an index not to be exceeded, would it be possible of achievement? We think the answer might well be, 'yes, and by our own effort, not that of the state, federal or any other government.'"

"The answer lies in a more rapid development and redevelopment of Newton's land at a relatively high rate of return capital value per person... 'At present a little less than $5 million in new valuation benefits the tax rate by $1. If Newton should take $80 as a maximum tax rate, it should encourage sound new investment on Newton's land assessable at between $15 million and $35 million in addition to the estimated normal average growth of $4 million.

"Some would be in commercial and industrial property, some in new residential construction on open land. The more difficult problem and the one to which your Association has addressed itself, is the replacement of old structures with new structures. We believe this to be the key problem to be solved if Newton is to continue in the front rank of cities in its services, plant, finance and good suburban living..."

"Such a goal would require strict attention to spending proposals, but viewed in the context of the above, a lower than to be expected tax rate... could be the reflection of using a maximum tax rate figure as a successful index of progress toward healthy social and economic gains."

The annual rummage sale of the Guild of St. Irene, the Mother's Club of St. Sebastian's Country Day School, Newton, will be held this Saturday, Nov. 14, at 48 Mount Auburn street, Watertown, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Mrs. John Walsh of Newton is chairman.

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONE RATES REDUCED!

Once again, rates have been reduced on Long Distance station-to-station telephone calls. Rates for all such calls which travel over 675 miles have been cut — some by as much as 25 cents, for the initial three-minute period. And there are reductions in many overtime charges.

FOR INSTANCE, the three-minute rate from Boston to any point in California is only $1.75, station-to-station, nights after six o'clock and Sundays.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Sales Tax Myth Exploded By Hub Mayoralty Results

Two strong impressions with state-wide implications were left in the wake of last week's Boston mayoral election in which Register of Probate John F. Collins defeated Senate President John E. Powers in a tremendous upset.

One is that the myth about it being political suicide to advocate a sales tax was pretty well exploded. If any issue was clearer in the Hub mayoralty campaign, in which a barrage of charges and counter-charges at times created a fog of confusion, it was that Powers strongly opposed a sales tax and that Collins vigorously favored one.

Powers bore down heavily on the sales tax question, even to the extent of emphasizing on the hand-out cards distributed by his workers at the polling places that he was against a sales tax.

Collins, nevertheless, carried some words of Boston, where the legislators in the past have considered they would be signing their own political death warrants if they voted for a sales tax.

The election of Collins by no means is the first bit of concrete political evidence that the people of Boston and Massachusetts are not as violently opposed to sales tax as many politicians and labor leaders have claimed.

Governor Furolo was re-elected in 1950 after making a long and determined sales tax fight in 1957. Only one legislator who voted for a sales tax in '57 was defeated the following year, and his defeat was attributed to other issues. Several law-makers who had voted against the sales tax were ousted from office in the same election.

That makes a rather convincing case that the sales tax is not the political bugaboo in Massachusetts that its opponents have believed it to be. In fact, there is some reason to assume that many home-owners want a sales tax as a means of lowering their real estate tax bills.

This does not necessarily mean, however, that Governor Furolo will launch a new drive for a sales tax next year or that such an endeavor would be assured of success if he does make one.

After vowing an all-out bid for a sales tax in 1957, Furolo did not resume the fight in 1958—an election year. He made a second try for a sales tax in 1959, but most observers on Beacon Hill are doubtful that he will reopen the issue in 1960—another election year.

When he was questioned on the matter at a recent press conference, Furolo indicated that Collins' victory in the Boston mayoralty election would not influence his decision on whether he will seek a sales tax again next year.

The Governor went on to say that he will review the State's financial picture and that by next Jan. 15 he will submit his recommendations to the Legislature.

Pressed further as to whether the sales tax is still alive, Governor Furolo said that if the Commonwealth is to secure any substantial amount of new revenue tax experts feel that it must come either from a sales tax or from increased income taxes.

While Furolo didn't say so, it seems fairly obvious that he must either obtain new revenue from some source or trim down his own program.

Beacon Hill observers have learned the hard way that it is risky business attempting to forecast or anticipate what the unpredictable Mr. Furolo will do. He usually winds up by doing the unexpected.

It was assumed on the basis of what Furolo himself said, for example, that he would call the Legislature back into special session after a cooling off period. That idea obviously was scrapped somewhere along the line.

Your guess as to whether the sales tax fight will be resumed in 1960 is probably just as good as that of the best informed expert at the State House.

Our own belief is that Governor Furolo will make another attempt for the enactment of a sales tax at the coming legislative session. At the same time, however, we'd venture the opinion that Furolo himself hasn't yet made up his own mind one way or the other.

The second impression left by Boston's mayoralty election is that Governor Furolo may be a good deal stronger and shrewder politically than most of the experts believe he is.

One of the factors to which the political pundits attribute the defeat of Senator Powers in his bid for election as Mayor of Boston is that he had the support of too many politicians.

On the other hand, the same experts have assumed that Furolo's popularity has dropped during the past 10 months because he couldn't get along with the politicians in his own party.

They might wake up to discover that Furolo's prestige has fallen with the politicians, but not with the people.

If the experts are going to maintain that Powers was injured by having the support of too many politicians, they cannot logically argue that Furolo has been harmed by not having the backing of enough politicians.

Take Extra Care During Night Driving

With the shades of night falling fast as winter approaches, we all will be doing more and more driving after dark.

Night driving calls for extra precautions, especially on the highways. Here are some that should be observed:

When making an emergency stop, drive off the pavement completely if the shoulder of the highway permits.

Leave lights burning. It is recommended that you carry a couple of flares in the trunk. Don't stop on or near a sharp curve or just below the crest of a hill.

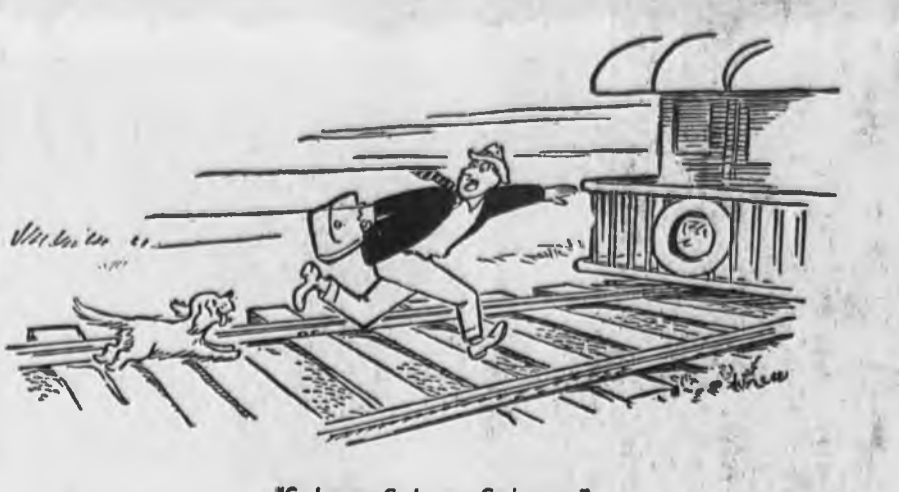

Avoid working on the left-hand, or traffic, side of the car if you can.

If wearing dark clothes tuck white Kleenex tissues in your collar and belt so oncoming drivers can spot you at work more easily.

Allow a greater distance between your car and the one ahead as you increase your speed in slippery weather, and be especially careful at slowdown and when rain or sleet first begins to fall.

Make more frequent stops for a coffee or soft drink "break"—at least every 100 miles.

Rep. Thresher Visits Childre In Florida

Rep. Irene K. Thresher of 667 Chestnut st., recently returned from a week's visit with two of the Thresher children at Ft. Walton Beach, in Florida. Rep. Thresher of M.I.T. could not accompany his wife, because of his duties during that week as chairman of the College Entrance Examination Board, which was meeting in New York.

The Thresher's second daughter, Sonia, a graduate of Newton High School, is the wife of Robert A. Weaver, a Tufts graduate, who is employed by the North American Aircraft Co. working on the missile program at Cape Canaveral and at Eglin Airbase in Florida. While Mrs. Thresher was visiting them and their two children, her son-in-law was receiving congratulations from all over the country for the successful firing of the Hound Dog missile from the Boeing B52 plane. Mr. Weaver is in charge of the technical staff for this missile.

Colby Thresher, who attended the Newton schools, Rivers Country Day School and was graduated from Bowdoin College in June, is also at Ft. Walton Beach. Since July 1, he has been the sports editor of the Play-

Lecturer Says Security For All Available

True security is a present possibility, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship told an audience last night at the First Church of Christ Scientist, at 391 Walnut street, Newtonville.

Paul Wavro of Jacksonville, Fla., said everyone can find freedom from fear, anxiety and want in proportion to his spiritual understanding of the real nature of God and man in God's likeness.

It is through scientific prayer, he said, that true health, abundance and well-being are established in daily living. He was introduced by Louis Steinberg, First Reader.

Taking note of the uncertain and insecure aspects of human experience, the lecturer said that "lack of security stems from mankind's reliance upon material means for health, harmony, supply and well-being."

Security depends upon power, and true power is not found in materialism, he maintained.

"You will find real security in direct ratio to your understanding of the true nature of God," he declared. "For true power is found only in God. Christ Jesus perceived this fact when he said, 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you' (Matt. 6:33)."

God is understood in Christian Science to be Principle, Mind, Spirit, Soul, Life, Truth, and Love—terms which reveal the wholeness and completeness of Deity, he stated.

"Christ Jesus," he said, "demonstrated security by accepting the omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience and omninaction of God as true."

Jesus proved, he added, that the spiritual man of God's creating has unlimited possibilities for good, here and now.

"Man in God's image," he declared, "is wholly good, healthy, happy, active and prosperous. This is your true nature. Your life can be made harmonious and secure because you are the expression of God, who is our Life."

Authority Seeks Housing Site In Newton For Aged

The newly-formed Newton Housing Authority, aware that 9500 residents of the city are over age 65, this week began a search for a site suitable for construction of a housing project for the aging.

Four acres of land are necessary if plans are finalized for 75 or 80 one-story units, and two acres if the final plans call for two-story buildings.

The group plans personal inspections of housing developments already constructed in Wellesley, Worcester, Beverly, Framingham and Mansfield and will check into available Federal assistance before taking any action.

The new housing group met at Newton City Hall and heard Charles J. McCarthy, secretary of the State Housing Board, outline requirements for state aid. He showed pictures of the latest housing projects for the aged in other parts of the Commonwealth.

McCarthy pointed out there are 9500 residents in Newton over 65, and that 750 receive public welfare. To be eligible for state-aided housing, a single person's income must be less than $2500 a year, and the income for a couple cannot exceed $3000 annually.

The rent per unit would be about $50 per month, McCarthy said.

Members of the Housing Authority at the meeting were Rep. Irene K. Thresher, chairman; William Carmen, vice-chairman; Phil Fine, treasurer; Richard H. Lovell, assistant treasurer, and John Bottomly, acting secretary.

Shalom Temple Juniors Visit Albany Group

The Junior Ohabei Shalom Temple Youth group will be the guests of Temple Beth Emeth of Albany, N. Y., during the week-end of Nov. 14 and 15.

The group will go and return by chartered bus, and will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Neudel.

Arrangements for the convalescence were made by Paul Daum in conjunction with Herschel Malick, director of education.

Cadet Robert P. Breen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Breen of 116 Auburn street, Newton, returned recently to the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N. Y., after spending a year at sea aboard various vessels of the American Merchant Marine. He expects to graduate in 1961.

Alma Winslow
Mrs. Alma (Mick) Winslow, widow of the late Everett C. Winslow of Newton Centre, died on Nov. 5 at the age of 76.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre and committal service was held last Friday at Orleans.

Mrs. Winslow was the daughter of the late Rev. William M. Mick of Newton Centre, and on her mother's side, through the King family, traced back through the early settlers of Newton.

She was an active member of the Mother's Rest Association, the Newton Centre Woman's Club and the Garden Club of Newton Centre.

Nancy Cencini
Mrs. Nancy (Fantasia) Cencini of 19 Cappy Circle, West Newton, died last week at Mount Auburn Hospital, Cambridge, at the age of 67.

She was the wife of Gaspar Cencini and moved to West Newton from Cambridge 54 years ago. She was a native of Rome, Italy, and had been in ill health for a long time.

Funeral services were held from the Daniel F. O'Brien Funeral Home in Cambridge with a requiem mass at St. Mary's Church in Cambridge last Thursday at 9 a.m. Interment was in St. Michael's Cemetery.

In addition to her husband, Mrs. Cencini leaves one son, Al Cencini of Jamaica Plain, three daughters, Mrs. Adeline Foley of Watertown; Mrs. Josephine Lavalle of Cambridge, and Mrs. Catherine Birdwell, seven grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Jessie MacDonald
A solemn requiem mass was offered Saturday in the Church of Our Lady in Newton for Mrs. Jessie A. MacDonald, 80, formerly of 61 Broadway, Newtonville, who died at her home in Brighton after a heart attack. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Mrs. MacDonald was a resident of Newtonville for over 50 years and was the widow of Joseph MacDonald. She moved to Brighton four years ago.

Up until a few days ago, Mrs. MacDonald was active in the Lady's Sodality, the Catholic Women's Guild, the Newton Civic Association, and the Brighton Women's Club.

She leaves four daughters, Mrs. Margaret E. Bigelow of Marshfield, Mrs. Florence M. Wentzell of Dorchester, Mrs. Catherine V. McKenzie of West Newton, and Mrs. Gertrude Arsenault of Marlboro, two sons, Alexander J. of Randolph and Francis R. of Brighton, eleven grandchilddren, one great-grandchild, three sisters, Mrs. Mary Callagher of Cambridge, Mrs. Martha M. Marcolodi of Needham, Miss Jessie MacDonald of Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, and two brothers, Ronald J. and Daniel A. of Cape Breton.

Frank J. Murphy
Masonic and Elks funeral rites were conducted at Miami, Fla., for Frank J. Murphy, 67, formerly of Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls, who died November 3 at Hialeah, Fla., after a long illness. The funeral was held last Friday.

Mr. Murphy had retired after 35 years as an electrician employed at the South Station. He belonged to the Masons in Brookline and to the Newton Lodge of Elks. He was born in Newton Lower Falls.

He leaves three children, Mrs. John Burke (Evelyn) of Waltham, Mrs. Edward Monty (June) of Nashua, N. H., and

Protest 3rd B.C. Dormitory At Heights

An appeal by a group of Chestnut Hill residents from a permit granted for construction of a third proposed dormitory by Boston College will be on the Jockey Tuesday, Nov. 24 when the Newton Board of Appeals conducts public hearings at City Hall at 7:45 p.m.

Six petitions for hardship variances also will be heard in connection with request to relocate a garage within 10 feet of a front lot line.

A group of residents known as the Chestnut Hill Homeowners' Protective League has filed an appeal from the action of Building Commissioner Arthur Campbell in the Boston College dormitory case.

Comm. Campbell granted permits for two dormitories last month and now is appealing from the granting of a permit for a third dormitory. The Homeowners group also has appealed from the action of the Board of Aldermen in granting permission to use for the new dormitories.

Glamorous Star Sings Here Sunday

Mildred Miller Opens Third Community Concerts Season

The third season of the Newton Community Concerts Association will open on Sunday afternoon, November 15, at Newton High School with a recital by Mildred Miller, glamorous star of the concert stage, radio, television and the Metropolitan Opera.

Miss Miller, a graduate of the New England Conservatory, began her professional career in the New England Opera Theater under Boris Goldovsky, where many Bostonians were introduced to her through her outstanding portrayal of the role of Carmen.

Shortly after this, in 1951, she made her debut at the Metropolitan Opera as Cherubino in Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro."

Since this highly successful performance Miss Miller has sung virtually every mezzo-soprano role in the Met's repertoire including Octavian in "Der Rosenkavalier," Dora-bella in "Cosi Fan Tutti," Siebel in "Faust," Nicklausse in "Tales of Hoffman," and many others. Thus launched, her career has known no bounds.

She has made four tightly booked nationwide concert tours, appeared as soloist with almost every important United States summer music festival and numerous orchestras, and has appeared abroad in Edinburgh, Glyndebourne, Frankfurt, Stuttgart and Munich.

She last appeared in Boston in May, when with Dr. Werner von Braun (he launched the first free world's satellites), she received a Distinguished Leadership award from the Chamber of Commerce.

Her appearance here on Sunday marks her first full recital in the Boston area. The community concert series is sold out, and admittance is by membership card only.

ice the keys of the church will be turned over to the new rector by Theodore E. Jewell, senior warden.

A reception for Rector and Mrs. Lehman will be held in the Parish House following the service.

Rev. Lehman was called to Grace Church from the rectorship of the Episcopal Churches on Martha's Vineyard.

He is a native of Winthrop, Mass., and a graduate of Boston University. During World War II he served in the Air Corps and left the service with the rank of captain. He is a graduate of the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, and was ordained to the ministry in 1953.

Mrs. Lehman is the former Tenney Kelley, of Wellesley Hills. The Lehmans have two children, Deborah, 13, and Richard, five.

A Thanksgiving Card Party will be held at St. Elizabeth's Center on Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls, this Saturday, Nov. 14, at 8:15 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Charles Hennrikus at LA 7-8901.

HAROLD HOWE, II

YMCA Dinner To Hear Plans For Next Year

The 10th annual Committee-man's Dinner of the Newton YMCA will be held next Wednesday, Nov. 18, starting at 6:30 p.m. at the YMCA building, 278 Church street.

Eldred M. Peterson, president, will preside at the dinner at which Harold Howe, II, principal of Newton High School, will be the guest speaker.

Mr. Howe, who is a member of the "Y" board of directors, is known for his interest in the affairs of youth within and outside of the school system.

The subject of Mr. Howe's talk will be, "Youth In Suburbia." He is married, the father of three children, and resides at 32 Rockledge road, Newton Highlands.

The Committee-man's Dinner is held each year for the more than 200 lay workers of the Newton YMCA serving on boards and committee.

At Wednesday's dinner-meeting, the chairmen of the various committees will be called on to present program plans for the coming year.

The dinner will also serve to commemorate the Newton YMCA's 82nd birthday which took place on Oct. 18.

All board and committee members are invited to attend. The buffet dinner will be served by the YMCA Women's Auxiliary.

Mount Alvernia Academy Plans Annual Bazaar

The annual bazaar of the Mount Alvernia Club, Chestnut Hill, will be held on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, November 13, 14 and 15, in the school gymnasium.

Mrs. Vincent J. Power, chairman of the event, is being assisted by Co-chairmen Mrs. Mark Finley and Mrs. Vincent J. Dillon. Their committee comprises:

Mrs. Francis A. Facchetti, Mrs. A. S. Blinstrub, Mrs. Joseph A. Cronin, Mrs. John P. Leahy, Mrs. James A. Piersall, Mrs. Joseph Delli Priscoli and Mrs. Francis P. Chlampa.

Proceeds will benefit Mount Alvernia Academy, and the public is invited to attend.

WNWEC Bridge Party Nov. 20 For Scholarship

"Menu for Reading" by the Illingworths, well-known book reviewers, will be the program at the meeting of the West Newton Women's Educational Club tomorrow in the Second Church Parish House.

Hostess for the dessert and social hour at 1 p.m. will be Miss Mary M. Connors and Mrs. Nelse Hervas.

Plans are now completed for the annual scholarship bridge to be held in Knights of Columbus Club House on Southgate park on next Friday. Dessert will be served at 1 p.m. and there will be a food sale and country store with door prizes as well as individual table prizes.

Serving as chairman for the bridge will be Mrs. Francis Vetter, with Mrs. Earl A. Curran as co-chairman.

Other members of the Scholarship Committee are Mrs. F. Boyle, Mrs. Theodore C. Danker, Mrs. Gordon K. Edgar, Mrs. Nelse Hervas, Mrs. Rexford H. Taylor and Mrs. Edwin M. Wolley.

Members of the ways and means committee will assist in this project to raise money for a scholarship for a worthy Newton High School senior girl.

Fellowship Official

Miss Judith Atwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond P. Atwood of 174 Allen avenue, Waban, recently was elected vice president of the Student Fellowship at Elmira College in Elmira, New York. Miss Atwood is a Junior and also is secretary of her class at Elmira.

Defer Action On Zone Change Petitions

The Planning Board and the Aldermanic Rules Committee have taken under advisement several petitions given a public hearing Tuesday night at City Hall attended by nearly 100 Newton residents.

The strongest opposition was registered against the petition of Thomas F. McDonald for a change from Residence "D" District to the new Limited Manufacturing Zone of 270,115 square feet of land at North and Farwell streets, Newtonville.

McDonald said the land is the site of the old city dump which was discontinued in 1931, and that the change the location and bring added revenue to the city.

However, attorneys representing opponents presented a petition signed by 61 abutters who opposed the petition.

Also opposed was a petition to conduct a nursery school in a Residence "C" district at 102 Parker st., Newton Centre, but there was no opposition for an enlarged auto sales area brought by Thomas Gallinelli at his used car lot at 444 Watertown street, Newton.

Temple Mishkan To Greet New Congregants

The Opening Late Friday Evening Services at Temple Mishkan Tefila, Newton, will take place tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. Rabbi Israel J. Kazis will speak on "This Is My God"—the current best-selling book by Herman Wouk, the well known American Jewish author.

Cantor Gregor Shelkan will officiate, assisted by the Temple Choir under the direction of Professor S. G. Braslavsky.

A reception will follow the service in the Temple Social Hall when new members of the Congregation will be welcomed. A special committee from the Temple Forum will be in charge of the reception.

Angier PTA Book Fair

The Angier School Parent Teachers' Association will sponsor its first Book Fair in the gymnasium of the Angier School, 1697 Beacon st., Waban, on Nov. 16, 17 and 18.

The Fair will be conducted on these dates from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., and also on Monday evening, Nov. 16, from 7 to 9:30 p.m.

The school's classroom libraries will benefit from the proceeds of the Fair. The newest in children's and adults' books as well as the classics will be available for purchase.

Any books not on hand at the Fair will be obtained at the purchaser's request. These books will make excellent and appropriate Christmas and Hanukkah gifts. Mrs. George Baker and Mrs. David Arac are co-chairmen of the Book Fair Committee.

Senate Seat Scramble

for the Republican nomination for the post in the State Senate are School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman, Alderman and Republican City Committee Chairman Carleton P. Merrill, Representative Arthur G. Heaney and Representative Irene K. Thresher.

City Clerk Monte G. Basbas also is being urged by friends to move into the senatorial battling.

Alderman Leo M. Cannon, defeated for Mayor in last week's election, and John Melia of Brighton the Democratic candidate against Gibbs last year, loom as the likely contestants for the Democratic nomination.

The senatorial district, which promises to be a hot political battleground, takes in the entire City of Newton, the Ward 22 section of Brighton, and Ward 5 of Cambridge.

Both School Committee Chairman Freedman and Alderman Merrill this week issued formal statements announcing their candidacies.

Freedman declared that "if the State Senate is to resume its historic role as an independent legislative body, then it is incumbent upon the voters of the Middlesex-Suffolk district to continue the honest and capable representation that it has had in the past."

"I refrain from uttering the political platitudes and cliches customarily found in announcements of this kind such as 'lower taxes, more services, the rights of labor, a more stable business climate and other phrases designed to please everyone,'" said Freedman.

"It is true that Massachusetts is facing a serious fiscal situation," Freedman continued. "Closing one's eyes to this problem will not make it go away. Additional state aid to cities and towns for municipal and educational purposes must be provided to reduce the burden of a steadily increasing local tax rate. If the total state revenue is insufficient for these purposes and if we are to avoid curtailing essential services present taxes must be increased or new tax sources established.

"I do not promise to have all the answers to all state problems," Freedman asserted. "I do promise, if nominated and elected, to give honest, intelligent and progressive representation to all the voters of the Middlesex-Suffolk district in the State Senate."

A graduate of Harvard College and the Harvard Law School, Mr. Freedman has been a member of the School Committee since 1950 and its chairman since January, 1958. He was a delegate to the White House Conference on Education in 1955 served as president of the Massachusetts Association of School Committees and presently is clerk of the Council for a Television Course in the Humanities for Secondary Schools.

Mr. Freedman was a charter member and served on the first Board of Trustees of the Temple Shalom of Newton. He was chairman of the 1955 Newton Red Cross Fund Drive and currently is a member of the Newton Red Cross Board of Directors.

Alderman Merrill, in announcing his candidacy, supported the idea of holding an informal convention for the purpose of endorsing a GOP candidate and said he would abide by the action of such a convlome

"Republican leaders within this district must realize the seriousness of this special election and nominate a strong candidate," Merrill declared. "This candidate must be one who has voter appeal that will not only win the support of Republicans but of many Independents and Democrats. He must have the ability to reach the people and win their confidence and support."

"While it is all too easy for any prospective candidate to take the position that only he or she can hold this Senate seat for the Republicans, the truth of the matter is that all prospects for this nomination must and should allow themselves to have their chances evaluated by others who are familiar with the candidate, the issues, the district and the obstacles that must be overcome," Merrill stated.

"With this thought in mind, I shall offer myself to such a convention with the pledges that should I become the endorsed candidate of local Republican leaders and workers, it would be my intention to personally wage an aggressive and relentless campaign aimed at the lack of responsible leadership on Beacon Hill as well as to pledge that I would abide unquestionably by any fair choice of the convention."

"I would consider the convention, such as has been proposed, a truly democratic method of selecting the best possible candidate. It provides the one opportunity for the grassroots workers, the actual backbone of the Republican party, to signify their choice of the man or woman they believe to be best qualified for this nomination."

"This position of mine is not conditioned upon a like commitment on the part of any other candidate, as I believe it is the obligation of every good Republican to stand by the will of his party and the judgment of his fellow workers and leaders," Merrill concluded.

Senator Gibbs told The Graphic today that he plans to resign from the Senate shortly before the end of the year.

Dates for the primary and the election then would be set. Under the law they would have to be three weeks apart. Time also would have to be allowed for campaigning by the candidates in the primary and the filing of necessary nomination signatures.

It is expected that Gibbs' seat in the Senate will be vacant for about the first six or eight weeks of 1960.

Mayor Lights United Fund On Its Way

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., lit the immense symbolic torch to launch the United Fund campaign at the Chapel street plant of the Raytheon Company in Newton last week. Plant officers and employees took part in the exercises and pledged to meet the goal of $21,000 established for the 300 personnel. The Newton High School band provided the musical accompaniment.

Company management was represented by Robert L. McCormack, manager of the Industrial Tube Division, and Walter A. Dunn, Newton plant manager, of the Receiving Tube Division, who share the facilities of this plant, and William R. Van Gemert, general chairman of Raytheon's United Fund Campaign.

Short speeches were made by Mayor Whitmore, Mr. Van Gemert, and Andrew B. McGlinchey, business agent, Local 1505, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO. Co-Chairmen for this in-plant drive are Elliot H. Robinson, of the Receiving Tube Division, and James J. Fleming, of the Industrial Tube Division.

Newton Tops At Waltham Stamp Show

Newton collectors carried off the lion's share of honors at the sixth annual three-day postage stamp exhibition staged by the Waltham Stamp Club last weekend at the VFW Building in Waltham.

Garden City exhibitors won three firsts, five seconds and three third place awards in the competitive display which attracted visitors from far outside Greater Boston.

"Best in Show" and first place in the general foreign section, the most coveted award, went to Dr. Gerald Davis of 51 Crosby rd., Chestnut Hill, with his specialized frames of foreign post offices in Egypt.

Second place in this class went to Fotios C. Drakos of Newton for his selected Greece town cancellations. Drakos won "Best in Show" last year Allen Cibley of Brookline was third for his pages of United Nations.

Bernard Silberberg of Newton Centre, won top honors in the 20th century U. S. issue class; second was Reinold C. Bauer of Tariffville, Conn., and third to Joseph J. Romano Jr., of South Walpole.

A display sent by the inmates of Norfolk Prison Colony, who are members of the Norco Stamp Club, won first for their covers and other U. S. material. Alfred Randall of Auburndale was second and George H. Dewsnap of Newton, third.

Arthur White of Wakefield won the British section with his showing of Australia and George V heads. Second place went to Arthur L. Hazelwood of Auburndale, and third to Stanley Warshaw of Newton.

Gene Lori-k of Dedham won the Topical section with frames of "Rockets, Atoms and Satellites," and this display won the Special Award of the American Topical Association. Second was Allen L. Gordon of West Newton, and Charles F. Robinson of Wakefield, was third.

In the junior competition, Richard L. Davis of Newton Highlands was first, Charles R. Landry of Auburndale was second, and Kimball Ross III of Auburndale, was third.

Some 60 frames were displayed at the show which was viewed by an unexpectedly large crowd in view of the inclement weather over the weekend. Special displays for the Court of Honor were loaned by the U. S. Post Office and Philatelic Agencies of Switzerland and Egypt.

Judges at the show were Robert Agne of Wellesley, Dr. Leo Snegreff of Belmont and Dr. Albert E. Roy of Boston University.

Attend Camping Group Conclave

Two Newton residents who direct summer camps attended the board meeting and convention of the New England Camping Association in Boston recently.

They are Vern O. Harper of 71 Freeman St., Auburndale, vice president and program chairman, and director of Camp Becket-in-the-Berkshires operated by the New England Area Council of YMCA, and Miss Dorothy Taylor of 118 Elgin St., Newton Centre, a delegate, director of Camp Wampanoag at Buzzards Bay.

The retired chairman of combined Jewish Appeal Businessmen's Council addressed the Medford Jewish Community Center breakfast last Sunday. Philip Coleman of 4 Newbrook Circle, Chestnut Hill, discussed the impact of United Fund raising on social welfare.

Tinware Exhibit At Jackson Homestead Nov. 15

An open house exhibition of early American hand-decorated tinware will be held at the Jackson Homestead on Washington st., Newton, this Sunday, Nov. 15, from 3 to 5 p.m.

The hostess, Mrs. William G. Ayres, president of the Newton Community Club, will be assisted by: Miss June Graham, Mrs. Allan I. Hatfield, Mrs. Edgar Horne, Mrs. Donald MacKenzie, Mrs. Everett L. Olds, Mrs. George E. Rawson, Mrs. George R. Strandberg and Mrs. David Weisberger.

Two Camp Fire Girls, Marjorie Hayes and Mary Ellen Stoffli, in old-fashioned costumes, will serve refreshments.

PURCHASED BY BANK—The well-known Young property at 1190 Centre street purchased by the Newton Savings Bank as additional land for erection of new, modern bank building.

More Land Acquired For Site Of Newton Savings Bank Home

The Newton Savings Bank has purchased the property at 1190 Centre street from Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Young for additional land for its new main office and bank building.

Preliminary plans call for a three-level building to house over 70 bank personnel and entirely devoted to savings banking.

The modern, new structure will be built on the site of the former Rice School at the corner of Lyman and Centre streets. The adjacent Young property has been obtained in order to erect the best possible structure in keeping with architectural and business needs.

"The expanded area will give us a far broader opportunity to develop here what we expect will be an ideal savings bank center," Benjamin F. Louis, treasurer and chairman of the bank's building committee, said today.

"The Newton Savings Bank realizes its obligation to create a building here which will efficiently serve the thrift needs of Newton and at the same time be an outstanding example of bank architecture of which we can all be proud."

"The site of the new bank has been an important one in the history of the city, many thousands of Newtonians having attended the historic Rice School from 1888 to 1959 and the Young home having been the homestead of their family, a prominent one in the life of Newton Centre, for several generations. We are proud that the Newton Savings Bank which has been an integral part of Newton's life since 1829, together with the former Newton Centre Savings Bank which served this area so well and is now an important part of our bank, will continue this tradition." With total assets of over one hundred million dollars including the bank's Savings Bank Life Insurance Department, and with over sixty-five thousand savings accounts, and five branch offices in addition to the contemplated new main office, Newton Savings Bank is the city's largest financial institution.

Beethoven School PTA Sq. Dance

Swing your partners and promenade the hall—it's time for the fourth annual Turkey Trot sponsored by the P.T.A. of the Beethoven School, Waban.

This year the popular square dance will be held Saturday, Nov. 14, at the school gymnasium.

Coordinating all the committees are the overall chairmen of the event Mrs. Larry Bear and Mrs. Morton Brown.

Although decorations are being kept a secret by Mrs. Aaron Dornbusch and her committee, the gymnasium will be transformed into a country setting. Various ticket captains have been appointed throughout the school district by Mrs. Fred King, chairman.

Mrs. Jordan Silin and her refreshment committee are busily baking. The posters in the local stores were done by Mrs. Irving Nisson.

Hayd Swett and his orchestra will provide music and entertainment. He will teach each dance before it is played. So—everyone whether an expert or beginner is welcome.

Play Plotters Plan Plodder

The plot for a play which a 22-year-old Boston University student was hatching easily could have sent him to a hospital.

Newton Police Sgt. John J. Regan and Patrolman Francis W. Turner questioned a pedestrian walking in a daze along Bigelow Rd., in West Newton. They feared he might be ill; that he might get hurt.

He told them he was just deep in thought. Maybe they suggested he get out of orbit. He didn't explain the plot.

Speculation has been rife in political offices as to what office Governor Furcolo will seek next year, with opinions on the matter shifting from day to day and with Furcolo doing little to clear up the confusion.

The Governor, in response to questions, said he did not believe the recent Boston mayoralty election would have any effect on Senator John F. Kennedy's bid for the Democratic Presidential nomination. Kennedy endorsed Senate President John E. Powers who lost to Register of Probate John F. Collins.

Furcolo observed that elections can be interpreted every which way.

Governor Furcolo reported that he expects Mrs. Furcolo to leave the Massachusetts General Hospital on Friday of this week. She underwent an operation Nov. 3. What the Furcolos do after Friday depends on her condition, he stated. They plan a fortnight in the South, if possible.

Mrs. Marie A. Beardsworth, 19, of Bennington st., Newton, accused of drowning her 2½-months-old baby, was acquitted of murder Tuesday by Superior Court Justice Reuben L. Lurie in a directed jury verdict. Mrs. Beardsworth then was committed to the Medfield State Hospital for life.

Willem Van Rie, charged with the murder of his alleged shipboard sweetheart, Lynn Kauffman, dined on a Dutch chicken casserole delivered to him by his wife when she visited him at the Charles Street Jail. It was the fifth Dutch dish Van Rie had prepared for her jailed husband.

Bandleader Bob Crosby and his wife separated this week after a quarrel in which Mrs. Crosby stabbed her husband five times with a letter opener. Mrs. Crosby told police her 46-year-old husband returned home after a drinking spree, was in a violent mood and wanted to fight somebody. She said that Crosby, brother to Bing Crosby, "seems to think the world is against him. He said I needed a beating-up which he gave me," Mrs. Crosby related. "Then I picked up a letter-opener, and the tussle went on."

Sharp criticism was directed at the Internal Revenue Department by the Massachusetts Police Chiefs Association for the gambling raid made the Friday before Boston's mayoralty election on a building located 100 yards from the East Boston police station.

The raid was made "without justification" and reflected "unfavorably" on law enforcement agencies throughout the Commonwealth, according to a statement issued by the association's Public Safety Committee which is headed by Police Chief Philip Purcell of Newton.

"The committee felt it most unfortunate and distressing in view of the fact that in all other instances the police of Massachusetts received assistance and co-operation from all the federal and state agencies," the statement said.

Governor Furcolo declared that a drop in Boston's credit rating is a "very serious thing" not only for Boston but for the entire State as well. Moody's Investment Service lowered the Hub's rating from "A" to "BAA." The highest rating is AAA.

Mayor Hynes said that as soon as Mayor-elect John F. Collins returns from his vacation in the South he will request Collins to accompany him to New York to confer with Moody's in an effort to obtain a more favorable credit rating.

Governor Furcolo observed that the adoption of a limited sales tax would restore Boston's finance condition and give the city an even better credit rating than could otherwise be obtained. In response to questions, he said another comparable source of revenue would have the same effect but added that no other practical method had been proposed in the last decade. The only alternative suggested, he asserted, was a drastic increase in the income tax advocated by the ADA and some labor leaders. The Governor said he strongly opposes such a step.

Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamara Caudley, officials in former President Truman's administration, lost their appeal in St. Louis for a new trial on charges which resulted in their conviction of conspiracy in a tax-fixing case. Connelly, who served as appointments secretary under Truman, was recently feted at a dinner held in Boston to raise funds for him. Both he and Caudley face jail sentences of up to two years and fines of up to $2,500 each.

President Eisenhower was accused by a prominent labor leader of making a "political payoff" to steel companies in utilizing the Taft-Hartley Act to halt the 116-day-old steel strike. The charge was hurled by Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers. Mazey claimed the "payoff" was in return for hundreds of thousands of dollars contributed to the Eisenhower campaign for reelection in 1956.

Volatile Soprano Maria Callas declared in New York that her feud with the Metropolitan Opera is a thing of the past and that she'll probably sing there next year. Rudolph Bing, general manager of the Met, indicated, however, that Maria's change of heart is all news to him and that he was unaware of any new developments involving the temperamental and tempestuous star.

Cigarette smoking is on the increase in Massachusetts, a fact which may provide a slight bromide for Governor Furcolo's fiscal headaches. The Tobacco Tax Council reported that Bay State smokers purchased 54,684,000 packages of cigarettes during the month of September, paying $3,281,010 in taxes alone.

The Federal Communications Commission took what was regarded as the first step toward a possible crackdown on fixed TV quiz shows, offensive commercials and other broadcast practices which it described as contrary to the public interest. The FCC announced that it was launching a broad new inquiry to ascertain just what powers it has in the field of radio and TV programming. It said the study might also lead to proposals for the enactment of new laws by Congress.

A 10-year-old Hyde Park boy was killed by an automobile Tuesday as he drove his bicycle along heavily-travelled Truman highway. Robert Mackay of 288 Fairmount avenue, a sixth grade pupil at the Fairmount School, was struck and killed as he attempted to cross the highway at Neponset avenue. No charges were placed against the driver.

Thousands of persons viewed the traditional Veterans' Day parade in downtown Boston Wednesday afternoon. The parade had a strong military tinge with 4,000 members of the Yankee Division in the line of march. Veterans of the fighting of two World Wars and Korea were hailed by the massed spectators as they swung along in the bright November sunshine.

Mayor Beatrice Corliss of Gloucester, one of the two women Mayors in Massachusetts, won a seat in the Massachusetts House of Representatives Tuesday in a special election held to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Representative Barclay H. Warburton of Ipswich in August. A housewife, Mrs. Corliss succeeded in holding the House post for the Republicans.

Martyn Green, British actor, lay for an hour in a New York garage elevator early Sunday while a young interne amputated his crushed left leg. Green's leg had been caught between the elevator shaft and the open platform of the old-fashioned lift. The actor did not lose consciousness and had only a morphine injection to fight pain during the emergency operation.

Defense lawyers asked Manchester, N. H., Superior Court Judge William A. Grimes to throw out indictments charging two Rhode Island men with the murder of wealthy plastics manufacturer Maurice A. Gagnon, 41, in Nashua Feb. 9. Fred J. Martineau, 33, of Pawtucket, and Russell J. Nelson, 30, of Providence, are charged with slaying Gagnon to prevent his testifying against them in connection with the $800 robbery of the dead man's fashionable Lincoln, R. I., trailer home.

A public hearing on the Boston & Albany Railroad's plan to discontinue 39 trains and close 16 stations produced vigorous opposition at the State House. The proposed service cuts would affect trains running between Boston and Worcester, Springfield and Framingham. It was the first of several hearings scheduled.

One of two deer hunters missing since Sunday in the New Hampshire wilderness was found by a search party late Monday. The second is still missing. Rescued was Ronald Marino, 24, of Pease Air Force Base, Manchester, who was found in the Waterville Valley. Still missing is Herman Schoelzel, 45, of Lebanon, who became separated from companions in the Quintown area.

A 44-year-old inmate of the Concord Reformatory, serving a three-year term for theft, walked away from a work party Monday and disappeared into the woods. George Edwards of Cambridge, was transferred to the Reformatory from Walpole State Prison in May. He had served 10 months of his sentence.

The sale of the freighter Pacific Navigator to pay creditors was ordered by Federal Judge George C. Sweeney in Boston. Thomas Barrie of Boston was named appraiser of the vessel which will go on the block Nov. 23.

Democratic party leaders in Vermont have voted to back Massachusetts Senator John F. Kennedy for the 1960 Presidential nomination. The Democratic State Committee passed a resolution urging Vermont delegates to the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco next year to give "loyal and unswerving" support to Kennedy.

Actress Joan Caulfield gave birth to a son in Santa Monica, Cal., by caesarian section Monday. Miss Caulfield divorced Producer Frank Ross last April before she realized she was to have a baby.

The White House officially denied that President Eisenhower had rebuked Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York, for advocating a tougher line toward the Soviet Union. Rockefeller has been mentioned as a possible presidential candidate in 1960.

Federal narcotics agents have initiated a new crackdown on peddlers of amphetamine or "wake-up" tablets. Investigation has shown that more than 200 operators of truck stops and similar roadside establishments are dispensing the drug illegally.

Red China's Party Chairman Mao Tse-Tung and Government Chairman Liu Shao-Chi have dropped from sight and observers indicate their disappearance may precede a major policy pronouncement. Neither has been in Peiping for more than a week.

Three men were ordered to make restitution of $26,900 to a Cambridge meat packing firm after pleading guilty to indictments charging them with embezzling a total of $123,000 in Middlesex District Court Tuesday.

Alfred M. Amendola of Newton, was sentenced to two years in the House of Correction and ordered to make restitution in the amount of $20,000. John Nionakis of Somerville, drew a three to five year term at Walpole State Prison and was ordered to restore $5,000. Joseph Barbagallo of Methuen received a six months House of Correction sentence and was ordered to return $1,900. All sentences were suspended and the men placed on probation by Judge James L. Valley.

A lone gunman held up the Tur-Inn Restaurant at 138 Needham st., Newton, Monday and escaped with $262. Police said the thug forced the night manager to empty his pockets and the cash register.

That morning coffee break, an institution in American offices, costs New England businessmen and employees about $260 million every year according to the New Englander Magazine. Published by the New England Council, the magazine reported that the breaks which average about 15 minutes each cost employers up to two weeks employee time a year and amount to a net loss of $190 million annually. Meanwhile, the coffee drinkers consume some 2,800,000 cups of Java at a cost of about $70 million.

A general bus strike crippled the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul Monday, leaving thousands of commuters without transportation. Bus line employees rejected the final offer of the Twin City Rapid Transit Co. by a vote of 749 to six.

U. S. Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield reiterated his stand on banning such books as D. H. Lawrence's controversial "Lady Chatterly's Lover" from the U. S. mails. "I am no censor," said the Postmaster, "but I fully intend to live up to the law despite what the courts may rule on such material."

A young Harvard student, who is helping to pay his way through college by selling milk and pastries from dorm door to dorm door, was robbed of the fruits of his labors Monday night by a leather-jacketed thug who took his goodies and his money in the Harvard Yard. Christopher Goetze, 22, told police the robber attacked him from behind, took his coin dispenser containing $5 and some of his wares and fled in a car with three other men.

Air Force S/Sgt. Paul B. Dudley of Cotuit, Mass., stationed at Itazuke Air Base, Japan, was arrested by Japanese police Monday after he allegedly ran a police roadblock, killed one policeman and seriously injured another. Police said Dudley had been drinking and was operating a car with defective brakes.

A gang of safecrackers shot it out with 75 policemen in St. Petersburg, Fla., Monday while holding a golf club caretaker as hostage. When officers rushed the clubhouse they found the thieves had fled using caretaker John McDonald as a hostage. McDonald was later released unharmed.

Eight persons were killed and 25 injured when fire touched off a series of explosions aboard a tanker loaded with high octane gasoline and other fuel at Houston, Texas. The eighth victim was a fireman who stepped into a hole in a submerged portion of the ship and drowned while fighting the conflagration which was brought under control after a 19-hour battle on Sunday. Also dead were the captain of the tanker and six members of his crew. One of those to perish was Eulegio C. Gallardo of Somerville, the cook on the tanker.

Twenty-eight soldiers were injured when a truck carrying them to Fort Dix rammed into the rear of a trailer tractor on the New Jersey Turnpike early Monday.

The indicted producer of the rigged quiz show, "Twenty-One," defended that show and quiz shows generally as "a breath of fresh air" compared with the murder and violence which saturated television. Albert Freedman, under indictment for perjury after originally denying that "Twenty-One" was rigged, said in an interview at Mexico City that he wanted to "protect the lives of the many wonderful people who were contestants on the show." He added that he felt the same relationship to them as a doctor to his patient or a lawyer to his client.

Eleven persons were killed in accidents in New England over the past week-end. Eight were killed in highway accidents, one burned to death, one drowned and one died in an accidental shooting.

Seven persons were killed Monday in a highway crash in Rochelle, Ill., in which three trucks and a passenger car were involved.

Funeral services were held Tuesday for British-born movie actor Victor McLaglen who died of a heart attack last Saturday at the age of 72 at his home in Newport Beach, Calif.

A deaf mute, who twice was arrested on a charge of using loud and boisterous language, was freed in New York by Magistrate Walter H. Gladwin who said he was at a loss to understand how a person who couldn't speak could be making any noise. Through a sign language interpreter Joseph Ruiz of Brooklyn testified he had been in jail for a week because he was unable to raise bail. It finally developed that the deaf mute had been arrested because he failed to move on when told by a police officer to do so.

One man was shot and another arrested as police fired six bullets while chasing a stolen car through downtown Boston streets just as night club patrons were leaving their favorite spots in the early morning. The pursuit finally came to an end when the stolen car hit two parked vehicles on Shawmut avenue in the South End. Police said that Nathaniel Edwards, 41, wounded by one of the six bullets fired during the chase, was a passenger in the car. His name was placed on the danger list at the Boston City Hospital.

A mother and her two small children were burned to death when fire swept their home at North Little Rock, Arkansas, while they were asleep. The husband, William Wright, 26, a commercial flying service official, was critically burned. Dead were his wife and their two children, Mark, 6, and Colleen, 4.

A woman identified as Mrs. Helmi S. Bickford, about 40 years old, of 121 Beacon street, Back Bay, was found by MDC police in the lower basin of the Charles River. Police said the body had not been in the river long.

Close to two-score men, women and children were treated for food poisoning at Uniontown, Pa., after eating a ham dinner at a church celebration.

Two American brothers, Joseph and Victor Saturno of Reno, Nev., donated $324,575 to the village of San Marco Durri in Italy where their parents were raised. The gift was made in Bank of America stock. Each of the 254 residents of the village received 25 shares of the stock worth $1212.50.

An attempt by the Air Force to bring a capsule back to earth from the satellite Discoverer VII, orbiting in outer space, failed. Air Force officials said the capsule failed to separate as scheduled from the satellite on its 17th trip around the world. An electrical malfunction in the rocket prevented the capsule from ejecting.

Columbia University and the University of Moscow will exchange professors next year. It will be the first formal exchange of Soviet and American professors.

Ninety persons, about half of them women and children, were killed in the suppression by the Afghan Army of a recent revolt by Mangal tribesmen in Southern Afghanistan over the building of a road in their territory, according to charges made by tribal elders.

The Italian government is cool to the idea of a visit to that country by Soviet Prime Minister Khrushchev, according to despatches from Rome.

Striking steel workers went back to their jobs in mills across the nation this week after the U. S. Supreme Court by an 8-1 vote upheld a court injunction granted under the Taft-Hartley Act which halted the strike for a 80-day period.

Judge William O. Douglas, who cast the lone dissenting vote, favored sending the case back to the trial court to require that the government show why it needed the entire industry rather than just a few plants reopened for defense needs.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, immediately ordered union members to comply with the court edict and report back to work forthwith. McDonald at the same time blasted the Taft-Hartley injunction as a "slave labor law."

Some of the steel plants were slow in getting back into production as workmen unsealed blast furnaces that had been blacked out since July 15, lighted heating stoves and undertook to put equipment into proper working condition.

Leaders in the steel industry expressed the belief that the output during the 80-day, court-ordered truce would not be sufficient to meet current needs.

Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., announced the appointment of N. G. Sherman, Boston certified public accountant, to do accounting work in connection with the controversy between State Public Works Commissioner Anthony N. DiNatale and State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley over extra work payments in connection with time speedup program of the Fitzgerald Expressway and the Southeast Expressway last winter and spring.

McCormack also announced that Charles W. Upham of Washington, D. C., had been engaged to perform consultant services on questions raised in the State Auditor's report.

Buckley had challenged payments made to speed up the completion of the expressways. DiNatale, in disputing allegations made by Buckley, declared that he would welcome an independent audit and an investigation by the Attorney General.

A lone gunman walked out of Long's Jewelry store on Summer street in downtown Boston with about 25 diamonds in a paper bag and disappeared in the evening rush-hour crowd.

Described as about 50 years old, 5 feet 9 inches tall and wearing a tan trench-style topcoat, the hold-upman walked up to F. Forest Davidson, president of the company, who was behind the counter, displayed a revolver through a slit in his trench coat pocket, handed Davidson two paper bags and ordered him to fill them with diamonds.

Davidson took out two trays of diamond rings. The gunman scooped up about two dozen of them, dropped them into a bag, slipped out of the store and was lost in the crowd of homeward workers by the time police arrived.

President Eisenhower never had a golf club in his hands from the start of the invasion of Europe until the defeat of Germany, the White House declared. In a book published last week, Viscount Alanbrooke, wartime chief of the British General Staff, criticized Eisenhower's leadership before the critical Battle of the Bulge and claimed he was on the golf links at Rheims, entirely detached from the conduct of the war.

Columbia University students held a demonstration on the college campus demanding that Charles Van Doren be rehired as a teacher. Columbia dropped Van Doren from its faculty after his testimony before a Congressional subcommittee in Washington in which he admitted taking part in the rigging of the quiz show, "Twenty-One."

Cardinal Cushing was awarded France's second highest honor—Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor—for his contributions to the improvement of French-American relations.

Investigating Congressmen offered little support for the proposal of Robert E. Kintner, president of the National Broadcasting Company, that a new law be enacted making it a crime to rig a television quiz show. They declared that such a law wouldn't work.

Boston's Mayor-elect and Mrs. John F. Collins left last weekend for a short vacation in the South. They were accompanied by Judge and Mrs. Charles Artesani of Brighton.

Lt. Gov. Robert F. Murphy was released last week from the Mount Auburn Hospital in Cambridge after a four-day bout with a heavy cold.

Pope John will receive President Eisenhower on Dec. 6. The audience, an informal private one, will take place in the Apostolic Throne Room in the Vatican Palace.

Police in Ankara, Turkey, declared that a U. S. army colonel ran down 21 members of a Turkish honor guard with his automobile, seriously injuring nine of them. The colonel was identified by police as Allan Morrison of Matton, Va. (The U. S. Postal Guide does not list a Matton, Va.)

Carl F. Hansen, superintendent of schools in the District of Columbia, declares the TV quiz show scandal will make it more difficult to control cheating by pupils in examinations.

A quiet little dishwasher died at a Mayfair hotel in London. After his death, friends disclosed that he was Julian Ulyrch, minister of railways and power in pre-war Poland. "One has to accept the bad things in life with the good," he said on his death bed.

While walking home from church choir practice in St. Louis because a friend's car had stalled in the cold weather, Miss Mildred Moeller, 41, was stabbed to death "A boy hit me in the back," she said before lapsing into unconsciousness.

Senator John F. Kennedy has been making a four-day tour of Oregon in the face of attempts by Senator Wayne Morse to project himself as a favorite son candidate for the Presidency. "If a favorite son blocks persons planning a serious campaign, the whole primary system will be defeated," asserted Kennedy before starting his swing through the state.

"Cootie" Party

The Women's Auxiliary of the Newton Fire Department will hold a "Cootie" party next Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 8 p.m., at the VFW Hall, Newton Corner. There will be a prize for each child.

Mrs. Rita Marino is directing the party details and refreshments are under direction of Mrs. Dorothy DiRusso and Mrs. Grace Cerra, co-chairman. Remaining tickets may be obtained by calling any of the above, or Mrs. Marie LaPointe at LA 7-4363.

"Corner" Men To Honor Officer Riley

Some 75 businessmen in the Newton Corner area have contributed to a purse to be presented tomorrow night to their friend of many years, Tom Riley of Melbourne Ave., who retires after 39 years on the Newton Police Department.

They will gather at the Waldorf Restaurant in Newton Corner at 8 p.m. for the presentation. Sponsors of the affair express the hope that as many friends as possible from "The Corner" will attend the informal event.

Edward L. Richmond, of West Newton, who was among those who recently passed the examinations for the Massachusetts bar, was an editor of the Annual Survey of Mass. Law at Boston College Law School and secretary of the B. C. Law School Forum.

F. E. Coulter, aviation structural mechanic second class, USN, of 218 Melrose street, Newton, is serving with Patrol Squadron No. 10 at the Brunswick, Me., Naval Air Station.

Temple Reyim Launches Adult Education Program

The Temple Reyim inaugurated its 1959-60 Adult Education program last night with Esor Ben-Sorek as guest speaker at the Schoolhouse at 321 Chestnut Street, West Newton.

Mr. Ben-Sorek is lecturer in modern Hebrew at Boston University School of Liberal Arts. In 1957 he received a Ph.D. fellowship at Boston University School of Theology. He has lived in Israel and has studied and travelled extensively in Europe.

The Temple's Tuesday Evening Institute will consist of six sessions, Nov. 17 through Dec. 22. The following courses will be given during the first period, from 8:15 to 9:15 p.m.:

Beginners' Hebrew, instructor Mrs. Charles Shapiro; Intermediate Hebrew, Mrs. Allen Tepper; Family Observance through Music, Benjamin Boyer, and The Jew comes to Europe, instructor Rabbi Philip Kieval.

Second period: 9:15 to 9:45. Following the first hour, the entire group will meet together for a brief informal coffee period. Rabbi Kieval will speak briefly on a subject relevant to the day, and there will be moderate group discussions.

There also will be a Friday Evening Lecture Series, after services to discuss topics pertinent to the Jewish World and Way of Life. Lectures and dates will be announced later.

Home Study Groups also are being formed. One of the most interesting and stimulating is that which meets once a month at the homes of members.

This year the book to be read is "Great Ages and Ideas of the Jewish People" by Leo Schwartz. Those interested may call Mrs. M. Weiss at BI 4-6398.

The Sisterhood Wednesday Morning Study Group meets six Wednesday mornings at the home of Mrs. Joseph Schwartz at 9:30 o'clock. Morris Adler's "Great Passage from the Torah" will be read and discussed. The first meeting was held last week.

Special Holiday Institutes will be held before each holiday sponsored by the "Judaism in the Home" Committee and conducted by Mrs. Benjamin Boyer.

Beginning in January through March, one Wednesday morning a month will be devoted to a review of a recent important Jewish book.

City GOP Meets To Map 1960 Election Plans

The Newton Republican City Committee will launch its 1960 election year activities at a full meeting tomorrow, Nov. 13, at the Newton Highlands Workshop on Columbus street, at 8 p.m.

Local Chairman, Carleton P. Merrill has announced the guest speaker will be Senator Howard W. Young who scored an impressive upset victory last September, for the G.O.P., in a special election held in the New Bedford area (3rd Bristol District).

Senator Young will speak on "The New Bedford Victory—How We Won." Along with Senator Young will be his campaign manager.

All regular and associate members of the local ward committees have been invited to attend. Refreshments will be served by the Ward 5 Committee under the direction of Dorothy Reed, Chairman.

Chairman Merrill also announced the following resignations of ward committee chairmen due to reasons of business.

Wade G. Asaff as Chairman of the Ward 4 Committee and Frank R. Wasson of the Ward 7 Committee. The Ward 7 group has scheduled a meeting for Tuesday, Nov. 17th for the purpose of electing a new ward chairman and a 2nd vice-chairman. Acting chairman of the Ward 4 Committee, Warren A. Sutherland, has arranged for that group to meet later in November for the purpose of electing a successor to Mr. Asaff as well as for the election of a 1st and 2nd vice-chairmen.

Other changes in the Newton G.O.P. organization, announced by Chairman Merrill, is the appointment of Miss Adelaide B. Ball as a member of the Executive Committee from Ward 1. Miss Ball is the present President of the Newton Women's Republican Club and the Alderman-at-Large elect from Ward 1.

Also, Ernest G. Angevine has tendered his resignation as chairman of the Newton Republican Finance Committee due to his desire to take "a sabbatical from politics." The Executive Committee of the City Committee will appoint a new Finance Chairman at its meeting in December, Merrill reported.

Dedication Of Chapel At Eliot Church

The Ellison Memorial Chapel of the Eliot Church in Newton was dedicated Sunday afternoon, Nov. 8th, in a special service conducted by Rev. Ray A. Eusden, Minister Emeritus, and Rev. John L. Dunstan, Minister at Interim.

The chapel occupies a separate wing adjoining the main building but was not finished when the latter was dedicated Dec. 15, 1957.

The interior of the chapel is similar to the sanctuary in design and decoration. The walls are painted a French gray and the woodwork and pews are an oyster white with mahogany trim. The center aisle and the chancel are carpeted with a rug deep blue in color which is matched by the dossal hanging, and the ceiling is a light blue.

The altar table stands on a raised platform and above it against the background of the dossal hanging is a Latin cross. The pulpit-lectern stands at one side of the steps to the chancel and in the alcove at the back of it is an Allen Electronic organ. The chapel will seat about 100 people.

The finishing of the interior at this time has been made possible by a generous gift from members of the Ellison family, long associated with the church, in memory of Mr. Eben H. Ellison. Many other memorial gifts have combined to make this chapel a beautiful place of worship.

They have been given by Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Bressler, the Calkins family in memory of Rev. Wolcott Calkins, a former minister of the church, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund T. Hodgen and family, Mrs. George W. Hokanson and Dana, Mr. and Mrs. William Wasson, Mrs. George Webster, the young people of the community, the Woman's Association of the church, and the Business Group of the Women's Association.

Roundup Of Major News Events

A complete overhaul of price support legislation, particularly for wheat, was in the offing late Tuesday as President Eisenhower and Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson agreed on a five-point farm program. The new program will be submitted to Congress in January. It also calls for expansion of the conservation reserve program to retire land from crop production.

The atomic submarine Triton, nightiest underwater vessel known, joined the U. S. Fleet Tuesday at Groton, Ct. The fifth atomic submarine to be turned over to the Navy by the Electric Boat Division of the General Dynamics Corp., the Triton will be the Navy's eyes and ears as it patrols coastal waters in the nation's first line of defense. The first atomic sub was the famed Nautilus.

The steel workers went back on the job Monday but all was not peace on that labor front as Steelworkers President David J. McDonald threatened to "close the industry down again" on Jan. 26, if no new contract is agreed upon prior to that date. The steelworkers' proxy predicted that 10 or 15 smaller companies will sign contracts based on the union's agreement with the Kaiser Steel Corp.

Medical Examiner Robert Ryan said the death of William H. Kontio, 48, of Quincy, was apparently due to natural causes. Kontio's body was found wedged in the cab of a ditch digging machine in Braintree early Tuesday. An autopsy was scheduled.

The body of a 50-year-old Brooklyn man was found in his car in Hingham. Police said a hose run from the exhaust pipe into the car and that Sydney Schacter of Lancaster, was an apparent suicide. He had been missing for three days.

A new Cambridge City Council was announced Tuesday as tabulation of votes under the complicated Plan E system was completed. Winners were Walter Sullivan, Edward Crane, Andrew Trodden, Mrs. Cornelia Wheeler, Albert Velucci, Mrs. Pearl K. Wise, Thomas McNamara, John D. Lynch and Joseph Guglielmo. Dartmouth College announced the appointment of Harvey P. Hood, president of H. P. Hood & Sons Co. of Boston, as president of the executive committee of the Board of Trustees.

A 32-man Japanese expedition, feared lost while attempting to climb an unscalable peak of the Himalayas, were reported safe in Nepal. The climbers had not been heard from for five weeks. When word was received of fierce avalanches, it was believed they might have been swept to their deaths. However, the Nepalese Foreign Ministry said a porter sent to search for the Japanese found them safe in a mountain village.

The Moscow radio levelled an attack at former President Truman for his stand on nuclear tests. The Soviet organ charged Mr. Truman was out of step with history and that it was ridiculous for him to urge that the United States immediately lift its ban on atomic tests. The radio blast accused the ex-President of endeavoring to undermine disarmament.

Two persons were injured in a single car accident on Brook rd., near Dudley lane, Milton, early Wednesday.

District Director of Internal Revenue Frank J. Cavanagh denied a charge by a Boston police captain that a bookie raid on an East Boston building the Friday before Boston's mayoralty election was politically inspired. The captain, Patrick J. O'Reilly, has been transferred from the East Boston station to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation at police headquarters. Cavanagh said the raid had been scheduled two weeks in advance and coincided with the closing of the race track season.

More than 1,200 pupils were evacuated in orderly fashion from the South Boston High School when fire broke out in the third-floor physics laboratory of the school. One fireman was overcome by smoke.

A United Nations inquiry group reported in a 32-page statement that it had found no clearcut proof to substantiate charges by Laos of "flagrant aggression" by North Vietnamese forces. However, the fact-finding team said it found some evidence of communist support in the form of arms, supplies and other help to rebels in Laos.

Governor Nelson Rockefeller flew out of New York on Wednesday bound for a four-day tour of California, Oregon and Washington, during which he plans eight television appearances, five speeches and 11 conferences with Republican leaders.

The Air Force has warned Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy that the tight budget guidelines proposed by the Eisenhower administration for the military services might force a substantial cut in strategic air power.

Congressional investigators announced in Washington that the investigation of the television industry will be broadened to include other "deceptive practices," in addition to quiz shows. It was indicated that the House Special Subcommittee on Legislative Oversight will probe allegations of bribery in connection with the plugging of songs and records. The committee will meet Dec. 9 to plan new hearings which probably will carry over into next year and the 1960 congressional session.

"Payola" became a new word in the congressional television investigation after the American Guild of Authors and Composers charged in a letter to the House committee that "commercial bribery had become a prime factor in determining what music is played on many broadcast programs and what musical records the public is surreptitiously induced to buy."

Two men escaped with $1,019 after a daring payroll holdup in Watertown. Thomas R. Shutt, 47, of 40 Emerson rd., Watertown, was waylaid on North Beacon st., about 50 feet from his tire company, as he was returning from the bank with the weekly payroll.

The U. S. Atlantic Fleet submarine U.S.S. Thresher was rammed by a Greek vessel in the Suez Canal. The sub suffered damage to her rudder and starboard propeller, but no one aboard was injured.

Fifty-five thousand "furloughed" Ford Motor Company workers joined more than 200,000 other persons laid off by automobile manufacturing firms as steel supplies ran out.

The U. S. Coast Guard and Geodetic Survey will set up a permanent three-inch bronze marker this winter at its station next door to the South Pole.

Supporters of Vice President Nixon announced the organization of a "Plans Board" which will enter his name in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation Presidential primary next March. This is expected to set the stage for a Nixon-Rockefeller clash in the Granite State.

Charges against two men accused in the $12,000 robbery of the Stevens Square branch of the Medford Savings Bank were dismissed in Malden District Court. Judge Gardner W. Russell ruled that a case had not been proved against Orlando A. Ventola, Jr., 24, of Malden and James W. Murray, 26, of Everett.

Five youngsters and a grownup were reaping quite a financial harvest from a phoney Boston Sunday newspaper package deal in Quincy until police finally stepped in and broke up the scheme.

With the Boston Sunday newspapers all shut down by a strike, the vendors were standing on the streets at traffic lights shouting, "Boston newspapers hot off the presses."

Surprised motorists, stopping at the lights where the papers were being sold, reached out for the papers, paid for them and sped on their way.

When they opened the newspapers, they discovered they had been hoaxed. The papers consisted of the comics of Sunday editions, which had been delivered earlier in the week, and were stuffed with old newspapers.

After being given a stern lecture at Quincy police headquarters, the six were released.

The Rev. Duncan Howlett, minister of the All Souls Church in Washington, declared in his Sunday sermon, that Charles Van Doren has given the youth of America "an object lesson in honesty and of courage in the face of one's own wrong doing." Dr. Howlett further asserted that Van Doren's confessions that his television quiz show appearances were rigged showed that strong men can repent and "face with candor a mistake they have made."

Brandeis University on Sunday dedicated its new $3 million Goldfarb Library Building in the presence of 5,000 persons. Honorary degrees were awarded to Pulitzer Prize Winner Archibald MacLeish, President Julius Stratton of M.I.T., Professor Henry Steele Commager of Amherst College, Sculptor Jacques Lipchitz and Keyes DeWitt Metcalf, librarian emeritus at Harvard.

French military headquarters at Algiers reported that two Algerian rebel leaders had been killed during a brief battle at Sidi-Bel-Abbes. They were Si Mohamed, military adjutant for the Oran sector, and De Zinedine, political adjutant.

Sandra Dee, 16-year-old movie star, is hospitalized for what is described as a serious gastric upset. Police report that the young star of "Gidget" and other film hits had taken an overdose of Epsom salts.

Francis G. Gavin, 18, of Shelburne was killed early Sunday when the automobile he was driving went off the road on Route 2 in Shelburne, knocking down eight ement posts and a telegraph pole. Gavin was driving alone at the time of the fatal accident.

Mrs. Jean McCarthy, widow of the late Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, was one of the guests at a testimonial to Republican Senator Styles Bridges in Portsmouth, N. H. Democratic Senator Thomas Dodd of Connecticut, chief speaker at the banquet, paid tribute to Bridges for his long fight against communism.

Fred Demara of Lawrence, internationally known as the "great impostor," who has taken the part of a college professor and even that of a surgeon, in which capacity he was honored for performing a delicate operation involving the removal of a man's diseased lung and saving his life, turned up in a new role this week.

San Francisco Attorney Melvin Bell lived up to his reputation for unorthodox procedures when, in an address to the National Association of Claimants' Compensation Attorneys at Portsmouth, N. H., he introduced a guest as "Judge Derf Aramed—the famous jurist who is legal counsel to a Tibetan monarch." After a short talk, the "jurist" told the lawyers he really wasn't a judge at all, that the name used in introducing him was his real name spelled backwards and that he was—Fred Demara.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell announced that President Eisenhower will recommend the enactment of new federal laws to prevent the continuation of the steel strike if no settlement is reached during the 80-day cooling-off period.

U. S. Senator William Langer, North Dakota's famed Republican insurgent, died of a heart attack in his Washington apartment. Langer, who was 73 years old, had been in the Senate for 18 years and in politics for 45 years.

All 15 persons aboard a U. S. Air Force C-47 plane were killed when it crashed in southern Taiwan after its take-off for the Philippines.

Britain's chief peer, the Duke of Norfolk, Bernard Marmaduke, FitzAlan Howard, is moving out of Arundel Castle because of the high cost of living. The Duke announced at a cocktail party held in the Arundel Town Hall that he will leave the castle which was built nine centuries ago in the time of William the Conqueror. He is building a new home for himself and his family three quarters of a mile from the castle. He said his staff of 80 persons will stay in his employ or otherwise be looked after.

India has formally warned Communist China that its people would resist aggression "by all means available to them." Soviet Premier Khrushchev, meanwhile declared in Moscow that the frontier area over which India and China were feuding is unpopulated and of no strategic value.

Mrs. Ernest J. DiBurro, 23, of Haverhill reported to police that a man who posed as a salesman robbed her of $50, gagged her and attempted to assault her criminally. She said the man stuffed a handkerchief in her mouth and taped it but then was frightened away when an oil truck arrived, to make a delivery.

Seven-year-old Barbara Girard of Somerville, was struck and killed by an automobile near her home.

Sessions of the Massachusetts Legislature would be limited to six months under the term of a bill filed at the State House this week by Senator Robert P. Cramer, Williamstown Democrat. Other measures presented by Cramer called for a minimum wage of $1.25 per hour and sought a Constitutional amendment so that all Constitutional officers would serve four-year instead of two year terms.

When Miss Jeanne Bennett, 23, heard someone tampering with the lock in her apartment door, she coolly picked up the telephone and called the police. Patrolman John Sullivan, a revolver in his hand, arrived in time to arrest William H. Goodwin, 42, who was paroled in September from the State prison where he had served a sentence for burglary. Goodwin was arrested on a charge of breaking and entering, attempted larceny, and possession of burglary tools.

Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai proposed an immediate meeting with India's Prime Minister Nehru to settle the border differences Monday. And meanwhile he said, both countrys should pull military forces back 12½ miles from the disputed ground. A note to Nehru as broadcast by the Peiping radio, said, "The peoples of our two countries desire that we act promptly. Unless a solution is found to the border dispute, clashes which both sides do not want to see may again occur in the future."

You can become a charter member of the newly organized National Republican Association, and with your membership you'll get a glass elephant to place on your desk, the G O P National Committee announced this week. All you have to do to qualify is to contribute $100 to the Republican Party.

French President Charles de Gaulle announced in Paris that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will visit France next March. At the same time de Gaulle gave Russia credit for trying to ease tension in such trouble spots as India, Laos and Central America.

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts is seeking $162,000 which was seized by State Police in a raid on Holyoke apartment three years ago. The State claims the money in U. S. District Court just as Judge George C. Sweeney was to consider a motion by federal authorities for a summary judgment for $122,000 of the money.

A top railroad labor official charged in Detroit that management is causing "untold harm" to the railroad industry by its advertising campaign against so-called featherbedding. The allegation was made by G. E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' Association, who characterized the featherbedding charges as "deceitful and untrue" and referred to the advertising campaign as "false" and "misleading."

A 16-year-old Massachusetts youth was arrested in Hudson, N. Y., as a fugitive. New York State police said Joseph A. Tomolillo, 16, of Florence, Mass., was driving a mpton and that they found a shotgun in the car. The automobile which had been reported stolen in Northampton was wanted for a gas station robbery and an earlier car theft in Northampton and East Hampton.

The Joint Council on Economic Education is a non-profit, non-partisan educational organization founded 10 years ago to encourage the more effective teaching of economics at all levels, kindergarten through college.

It is financed by grants from the Ford Foundation, the Committee for Economic Development, and others.
Thirty affiliated but autonomous state and regional councils throughout the nation, including the New England Economic Education Council, work in cooperation with the national organization.

This Fall the Newton schools joined the Joint Council's Cooperating Schools Project. For the next three years new methods and practices in economic education will be tested in Newton classrooms.

Newton Opposes B&A 39 Train Elimination

Newton legislators and civic leaders were recorded as strongly opposed to the petition of the New York Central Railroad to abandon 39 commuter trains and close 16 stations on the Boston & Albany main line.
The action came as the State Department of Public Utilities opened a series of hearings on the petition, expected to last at least three days.

Arguments of counsel for the railroad consumed the first day at the State House in Boston on Tuesday, and then the hearings were adjourned until Monday when opponents will appear at a hearing to be held at the Framingham Courthouse. Further arguments against the petition will be heard on the third day of the hearings at the State House next Wednesday.

The gist of the arguments by a spokesman for the New York Central was that the line would save an estimated $500,000 annually by the discontinuance of the commuter service. If the petition is allowed by the DPU, the only remaining passenger service in Massachusetts by the B&A would be seven interstate trains.

Newton's Mayor-elect and State Senator Donald L. Gibbs led the Newton legislative delegation and was recorded as "definitely and drastically opposed to the abandonment of the railroad."

Also present in opposition were Newton Reps. George E.
Rawson, John W. Whittemore,
Irene K. Thresher and Arthur
G. Heaney.

There were many attorneys and residents of surrounding communities who formally registered their opposition.
These included Newton City
Solicitor Matt B. Jones. Town and Corporation Counsel also came from Wellesley, Boston, Worcester, Natick and Springfield.

Other Newton residents in the audience included Alderman Carleton P. Merrill, Carl Perry of West Newton, Miss
Adrienne Smith and Thomas Fox.

Passenger service which would be eliminated under the B&A petition are: West Newton, Auburndale, Riverside, Wellesley Farms, Wellesley Hills, Wellesley,
Natick, Ashland, Cordaville,
Southville, Westboro, North
Grafton, Charlton, East
Brookfield, West Brookfield and Warren.

The petition calls for cancellation of nine trains between Boston and Springfield; eight trains between Boston and Worcester, and 22 trains between Boston and Framingham.

Richard J. Ferriter, general counsel for the railroad, said
"the business of running the railroads is not a sentimental business."

"I can see no reason," he went on, "why freight shippers in the western part of the state should subsidize commuter service in this area," referring to Newton and points west.

William R. Main, vice president for passenger sales, said freight revenues have dropped 13 percent within the past year, and that the deficit from commuter service has increased 10 percent.

Meanwhile, the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce has recommended

ONE MAN'S "PROBLEM"

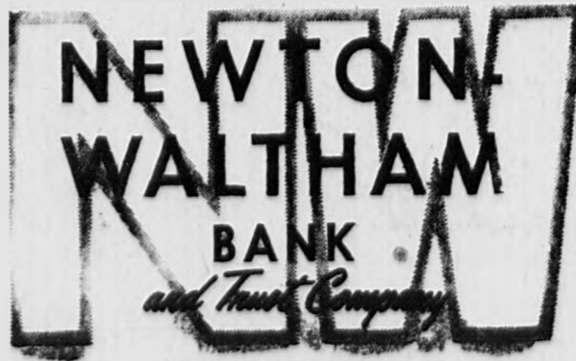

too much Business!

This specialty store owner has good reason to smile.

A few short months ago he almost sold out. Growing competition, the need for wider variety and better facilities kept profits dwindling. Today, his only "problem" is keeping up with the customers. What happened? A wise friend suggested a Small Business Loan at NEWTON-WALTHAM, the bank many New Englanders depend on. A chat with a courteous Small Business Loan Officer revealed how a moderate loan could give him a fresh start—almost double his business in no time at all. The payments, arranged in 24 convenient monthly installments, he found surprisingly reasonable.

SHE COMES TO TELL YOU A STORY

And a wonderful story it is. All about people helping people. She may be a housewife, a stenographer, a nurse, a saleswoman, a teacher, a student, or an executive. She belongs to a group of people who come from every business, every kind of job, every race, every religion in your community.

She shares with them the desire to help in the many works of the United Fund agencies and services that make life better for all of us in Greater Boston. Her schedule is much too heavy to allow her the time, but she's one of those people who, somehow, always manages. Because of people like her, and people like you who will listen to her story, the works of the United Fund's 288 agencies and services will be made more effective and useful in Greater Boston during the coming year.

On or after November 8, one of your neighbors will call to tell you the United Fund story — a story which will help you to understand the many, many ways in which you can share with your one contribution. Will you spare a moment for the volunteer who calls on you? Remember — it's a great day when you can help people by sharing the United way!

Newton Auto Top Company Ready For Winter Orders

Newton Auto Top Company, Inc., is kept busy these days replacing or installing seat covers for autos, convertible tops, and especially plastic rear windows for convertibles, plus rebuilding and making seat cushions like new.

Ronald McGarigle and his son, Ronald Jr., and Mr. McGarigle's brother John make this a family enterprise, and the number of repeat customers they have built up is the firm's best asset.

All the seat covers they install are made to order, cut to exact measurements, as are the convertible tops, and the floor carpets which are a growing part of the business.

The firm uses only the very best materials in its work, and is able to match new car carpets, cushions and so on, so that when they are finished an automobile interior looks very much as it did when brand new.

An important item, in both weatherproof and safety qualities of a convertible, is the rear window of heavy, thick vinyl, which stays soft and clear for long periods, giving the driver a clear view through the rear window and keeping the top absolutely weather-tight.

Broken or discolored rear windows are replaced quickly at Newton Auto Top, adding much to the safety and comfort of the driver. Carpets, which often wear out quickly in new cars, are replaced to look like new, and wear far better, by this firm.

A visit, or phone call to DE 2-1438, will bring further information or estimates, from this efficient, friendly firm, and top quality work for those asking it.

Massachusetts Health Dept. Urges Protection Against Flu

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health pointed out today that the influenza season is approaching and urged influenza vaccinations as a precautionary measure.

"Protection against influenza should be obtained now from your family physician," Dr. Alfred L. Frechette, State Health Commissioner, advised.

"We are approaching the time of year which is referred to as the 'influenza season' and although we have no forewarning of an impending epidemic such as occurred two seasons ago when the new Asian type of influenza was sweeping towards us, we do expect that we will have a typical seasonal rise in the number of cases of this disease," Commissioner Frechette pointed out.

"This disease is hazardous for the elderly, the chronically ill, pregnant women and especially for those with cardiovascular or pulmonary conditions," he said.

According to Dr. F. Randolph Philbrook, Assistant Director of the Division of Communicable Diseases, ample supplies of a vaccine which protects against known types of influenza are commercially available now to physicians.

He urges that individuals desiring protection should consult their private physicians without delay. Dr. Philbrook emphasizes that it is important to get the shots now in advance of the influenza season to obtain maximum benefits from the inoculations.

Industries and other commercial enterprises wishing to keep employee absenteeism from rising during the winter and spring months should get their inoculation programs into motion. The influenza vaccine has repeatedly been demonstrated to be effective in reducing absenteeism from influenza illness.

Since influenza when it invades a community tends to make a large number of people ill at the same time, it is especially important that those who perform essential public services, such as law enforcement, fire protection, transportation and communications, should be protected in order that these important functions will not be disrupted when influenza strikes.

Meeting Plans For January Charity Event

Noemi No. 11, U.O.T.S., will hold a luncheonette next Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Daniel Fox, 113 Exeter rd., West Newton, to further plans for their annual luncheon to be held on Jan. 25, 1960, at the Statler Hilton Hotel.

Proceeds of the luncheon will go to the Children's Medical Center, toward the completion of the Physical Therapy and Treatment Clinic.

Fund raising chairmen are Mrs. Murray Sherman of Newton and Mrs. Hyman Baker of Brookline. Reservation chairmen are Mrs. Joseph Sagoff, Mrs. Maurice Freedman and Mrs. Hyman Fine of Brookline. Hostess chairmen are Mrs. Lawrence Suttnerberg and Mrs. Jerome Ziss of Newton.

Donors and patroness chairmen are Mrs. Sydney Salamoff of Newton and Mrs. Max Silverman of Brookline. Chairmen of ushers are Mrs. Leonard Newman of Newton and Mrs. Richard Marzynski of Waltham.

Mrs. Joseph Seltzer of Newton is secretary of the luncheon and Mrs. Elliot Miller of Brookline is chairman of mailing.

Newton Visiting Nurse Meeting

The Newton Visiting Nurse Association, a Red Feather Agency, held its second regular monthly board meeting on Monday at 10 a.m. at the headquarters of the association at 1990 Washington street on the hospital grounds.

Dr. Leslie MacMillan, president, presided and committee reports were given by chairmen of various committees.

Miss Bernice Joyal, Executive Director of N.V.N.A., gave the monthly nursing service report. She also announced that the National League for Nursing convention would be held Nov. 19 and 20 at the Sheraton Plaza Hotel in Boston and urged members to attend.

Mrs. Benjamin Shattuck introduced Miss Hope Wheelock, assistant superintendent of the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children. N.E. Peabody Home is a hospital for children with long term orthopedic diseases. Founded in 1894 it was the first institution of its type in the United States.

A full time school is maintained as a unit of the Newton Public Schools and the children also receive religious instruction in their own faith. Some of the foremost specialists of Boston are on the staff of the Peabody Home. Much emphasis is placed on physical therapy.

Enroll For Course In Decoration

Enrollments will be taken for the course in Interior Decoration Monday, Nov. 16th at the Wellesey Senior High School for residents of Newton, and vicinity. No enrollments will be taken for this course of eight lectures held every Monday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., after the 23d of November. The course will be completed in January, after the holidays.

The instructor will be Miss Agnes Fennelly, decorator and lecturer, who has taught this subject for over 20 years. She is also an instructor on the extension faculty of Portia College, Boston.

Topics considered will be the important periods in decoration and the current styles; the art components and the rules of good decoration. A highlight of the course will be a wall paper parade of new designs and colors and other visual aids will be used.

Radeliffe Club Rummage Sale

Mrs. William Gorin, Chestnut Hill, is chairman of the Newton, Chestnut Hill and Auburndale area for the annual Rummage Sale of the Radeliffe Club of Boston.

Wearing apparel, books, records, silver, objects d'art, electrical appliances and the like are being solicited from graduates and friends to be sold at the Shady Hill Thrift Shop, 19 Brookline Street, Cambridge, from November 19 to January 12.

Working with Mrs. Gorin are Mrs. Michael B. Gradone, Auburndale; Mrs. Joseph Auerbach, Newton; Mrs. Carnig J. Thomson, Newton; Mrs. Paul C. Isenberg, Newtonville; Mrs. Joseph B. Manello, Newton Centre; Mrs. Arthur E. Vershbow, Newton Centre; Mrs. Paul G. Mavrides, Newton Highlands; Mrs. George M. Appleton, Waban; Mrs. Alvin M. Cahan, Waban and Mrs. Richard Lennihan Jr. of West Newton.

Electronic Engineers: 7 Ways to Futures Unlimited

As research, development and production proceed on our Doppler navigators, our other radar, computer, and microwave equipment . . . and we look into new fields, new systems, new installations—our present and projected growth creates these high-potential openings:

Microwave Group Leader

To assume responsibility for the design and development of microwave systems and components for our advanced navigational systems. He will need at least a B.S. in EE or Physics, with advanced degree desirable, plus several years of microwave experience.

The position provides an excellent opportunity to broaden a microwave background into systems design areas.

Microwave Instrumentation

To expand our already-outstanding efforts in proprietary commercial instruments such as stabilized oscillators and stability testers, and pulse jitter testers. We need a Project Engineer with a general electronics background to assist in instrument development work, and act as liaison between development and production groups.

Senior Circuit Design

To assume responsibility for the design of receiver sub-systems for airborne navigational equipment. He will need a comprehensive background in IF techniques, with a minimum of 3 years of circuit design experience. Thorough knowledge of transistor circuit technique is desirable.

The position provides an excellent opportunity to broaden a circuit background into the radar system design area.

Component Applications

Semiconductors, Rotating Equipment

Two openings - to assist design engineers in selection of components, to prepare component incoming inspection procedures, to maintain liaison with vendors and military agencies, and review component purchase specifications. Both require 2 or more years of pertinent experience, familiarity with MIL specs, and ability to write reports, with BSEE preferred.

Test Engineering

A number of openings - created by promotions - to design, coordinate, and supervise the construction and procurement of effective, reliable, versatile, and economical equipment for the testing of manufactured products and purchased parts. They coordinate with design engineers to solve design problems arising during production tests, prepare production test procedures and data sheets for engineering test specs, write calibration procedures, and conduct special tests. Candidates with real ability and experience don't need a BSEE - but our full tuition refund program is of real assistance in getting one.

Research and Development

To assist Senior Engineers in running tests on new developments in power supply design and servo systems. Original assignments can be handled by a BSEE without experience, or an Engineering Associate with two years' experience or its equivalent.

Navigational Computers

To aid in the design and development of analog computers and servo systems. He will guide the work of several engineering assistants in setting up specific evaluation programs and carrying them through to completion, contacting manufacturers of servo components, conducting mathematical analyses of the systems, and specific bench tests.

He will need a BSEE—including at least one year course in servo-mechanisms - and a minimum of two years' experience in analog computer systems. Experience with transistors is desirable.

LFE is one of the area's most vigorous young organizations, with a staff of 2000 people whose growing record of achievements includes some outstanding triumphs. Our salaries take full account of qualifications, and keep pace with accomplishments. We welcome full discussions of the company, the openings, and the salaries.

LABORATORY FOR ELECTRONICS

Temple Emeth's Couples Club Dance Nov. 21

Temple Emeth's Couples Club "Rendezvous at the Cafe Continental" takes place next Saturday, Nov. 21, at 8:30 p.m. and admission is free to all club members.

Harold and Carol Kendall of Brighton, chairman of the affair, and Mike and Cynthia Atlas of Newton, the Couples Club presidents, have arranged a "European Flavor." It will be highlighted by a trio of strolling minstrels who will supply the dance music throughout the evening. Refreshments are planned by the Seymour Smollers of Waban.

A certificate of education was handed this week to Mark H. Steinberg, son of Samuel S. Steinberg of 18 Devon Terr., Newton Centre, a sophomore at New Hampton (N.H.) School for his achievement in the National Educational Development Tests taken last Spring.

Rivers Country Day School's Ground Breaking Saturday

Ground will be broken for the new Rivers Country Day School at Weston on Saturday at 11 a.m. to mark the start of construction of the entirely new school plant, it was announced today by George H. Blackwell, headmaster.

The first symbolic turning of earth, representing the school's transfer from its crowded campus in Brookline to the spacious 31-acre site at 337 Winter street, Weston, on Nonesuch Pond, will be accomplished by Frederick W. Haffenreffer, president of the board of trustees.

Also participating in the event will be George H. Blackwell, headmaster; Dr. Philip H. Walker, chairman of the building committee; Edward M. Dickson, member of the Weston board of selectmen; John H. Underhill, Jr., president of the Rivers Country Day School Alumni Association; Dr. Hathorn P. Brown, chairman of the Development Fund campaign; Robert L.

Henderson, vice chairman and co-chairman of the alumni division for the Development Fund; the Rev. Philip S. Krug, rector of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Weston; Harwood Ellis, assistant headmaster, and William F. Gallagher, senior master.

Music for the occasion will be provided by the bagpipers of Joseph R. Scott, Sr. and Joseph R. Scott, Jr.

First of the buildings designed by Huygens & Chapman, Architects, to be constructed on the new site will be the combined classroom and administration building. In addition, the basic plant will consist of an eight-classroom unit and a roomy, modern gymnasium. Construction is being done by Temple and Crane of Boston.

With over 200 students enrolled, the present site at Chestnut Hill was literally bursting at its seams, according to Haffenreffer. For several years, the Trustees had been considering a move to a situation offering better opportunity for present and future expansion.

As a result of this sale and a fund-raising campaign which still is under way, sufficient funds are in hand to start actual building in preparation for the first classes to be held at Weston in the fall of 1960.

Newton Alliance Events Listed

The second current events lecture in the series sponsored by the Newton Branch Alliance of the First Unitarian Society will be held tomorrow morning, Nov. 13, at 10 o'clock, at the Parish House, 1326 Washington Street, West Newton. The speaker, Geoffrey T. Godsell, is a correspondent for the Christian Science Monitor in African and Middle Eastern affairs.

The Alliance monthly meeting will be on Wednesday, Nov. 18, at 1 o'clock, in the Parish House. The luncheon chairman will be Mrs. Carl B. Graves and Mrs. Henry Whitmore. Dr. Ernest W. Kuebler will speak on "Liberal Religion and Religious Freedom Around The World."

MRS. BEATRICE PHILLIPS

Local Women On South American Medical Mission

Mrs. Beatrice Phillips, of 24 Prospect Park, Newtonville, director of the Social Service Department, of Beth Israel Hospital, and lecturer on medical social work at Simmons College, has been selected as one of six people in the United States to visit two South American countries under the auspices of the U. S. Department of State, International Educational Exchange program.

Mrs. Phillips will leave this Saturday, November 14. She will spend approximately one month each in Chile and Peru as an American specialist.

She will observe special welfare programs, especially those affiliated with medical care, and general health programs.

4 Newtonites On Sylvania Variety Show

Four Newton residents are members of the cast of the Minstrel and Variety Show being staged next Thursday by the Employees' Association of Sylvania's Waltham Laboratories.

It will be at the Main Ballroom of Boston's Hotel Bradford, Thursday, Nov. 19, at 8:15 p.m. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

The cast includes Dick McLellan, of 5 Selden st., Kathy Jones of 1 Channing st., and Anna Hansberry of 14 Upham st., all of Newton, and Marie Napolitano of 25 Melville ave., Newtonville.

Segregation Panel Told Of Prejudice In Newton

Samuel A. Turner, Newton teacher and president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, told a capacity audience at the recent forum on "Segregation, Northern Style," held here that he was turned down by more than 150 Newton landlords before he found one who would rent him an apartment.

He told his listeners that many landlords asked him why he wanted to live in the suburbs, rather than with his "own people" in the cities.

"Due to prejudice, Greater Boston is losing talented people who would be an addition to the community," Mr. Turner said.

Also on the panel at the meeting sponsored jointly by the Fair Housing Committees of Newton, Wellesley, Needham, Natick and Brookline, were the Right Rev. Francis J. Lally, editor of the Catholic weekly, The Pilot, and Mrs. Mildred H. Mahoney, chairman of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination.

Monsignor Lally discussed the moral aspects of discrimination, and Mrs. Mahoney discussed the legal aspects.

"In the past 10 years," Mr. Turner said, "due to the Fair Employment Practices Law, it has become possible for Negroes to obtain good jobs in industry, and therefore their economic status has been improved."

"There is simply no decent housing in the Negro ghetto in the cities," Mr. Turner asserted. "Boston colleges and universities are turning out professional people who are leaving the areas because they cannot find suitable housing," he said.

"Because of its small Negro population, Boston is an ideal area to attempt a truly integrated neighborhood. The Greater Boston area has 2.5 million population and of this only 50,000 are Negroes. Of course, only a small percent can afford to move to the suburbs," he said.

The importance of law in the progress of integration was stressed by Mrs. Mahoney, who pointed out that law has "prestige educational value, and the power to go in and investigate a situation." "Law can sometimes nudge people to do what they know they should do when nothing else can," Mrs. Mahoney said.

"Once many immigrants were badly treated when they arrived in this country, but in recent years laws have been passed to insure them decent treatment."

"Laws are made to correct social ills," she said. "We would prefer that people act justly voluntarily. But when people fail to act justly, then a law is resorted to."

"Even a small act of discrimination becomes a part of a system of injustice, making us an aggressor against another man's rights," Msgr. Lally told the gathering.

"Just as we have our rights, we have our responsibilities, and we cannot deprive anyone else of his rights," Msgr. Lally said. "A person has a right to certain things in life, such as a decent home for his family. If we discriminate against him we are depriving him of his right to such a home," he said.

The annual Fall convocation for high school principals and guidance directors is being held today at Wentworth Institute and a member of the dinner committee is Charles Darnes of 49 Dale street, Chestnut Hill.

West Newton Educational Garden Club

The Educational Garden Club of West Newton will meet in the home of Mrs. Otto O. Phopet at 210 Walnut st., Wellesley Hills, next Monday, Nov. 16, at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Edgar P. Hay will assist the hostess. The program will consist of judging Fall flower arrangements by Mrs. Sidney R. Williamson, a member of the club.

Members of the Educational Garden Club are decorating the U. S. Public Health Hospital weekly during the month of November.

Mrs. Gerald F. D. Reichley, president of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, will entertain its hobby class in her home at 63 Fairview rd., Weston, next Thursday, Nov. 19. The afternoon will be devoted to work on Christmas bags which will be distributed to VA hospitals in cooperation with the Veterans' Division of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Army Acting Sgt. Francis S. MacDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald D. MacDonald of 11 Winthrop avenue, Newton is stationed at Mainz, Germany, and recently participated with the 8th Division's 50th Infantry in Operation Jumbo Down.

Cub Pack No. 101

Fourteen boys received Bobcat pins from Cubmaster Joseph Campbell, Assistant Cubmaster Barry Hyman and Den Chief Selma Sockol during a meeting of Pack 101 of Cabot School.

Presented Bobcat pins were: David Batchelder, William Conquest, Stephen Dorr Thomas Morris, Stephen Salter and Richard Sockol of Den 3; Ross Hollicker, Jan Horowitz, Dean Karoblis, Kenneil Lovejoy, John Parker, Michael Shapiro and Howard Tarlow of Den 4; Keith Jacobson of Den 8.

The meeting was climaxed by an entertaining program on Aesop's Fables by all the Dens. The Den Mothers of Pack 101 are Mrs. Feldberg, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Karoblis, Mrs. Savatsky, Mrs. Kleiman and Mrs. Hyman.

N. E. Peabody Home For Crippled Children Meets

The Associates of the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children will hold its annual meeting on Thursday, Nov. 19 at the First Church in Newton, 1115 Centre street, Newton Centre.

Coffee will be served at 10 a.m., followed by a business meeting for the election of officers and a report and slides of the summer program will conclude the morning.

A group of volunteers under the direction of Mrs. John Eaton of Brookline planned a six weeks' program during the summer months.

Because of the youth of the patients and the many rainy and hot days games like monopoly and chess and painting were the most popular activities. The usual birthday parties were planned and always popular story-telling and reading periods.

Pamela Horst, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor L. Horst of Newton Centre, a senior at Beaver Country Day School was an enthusiastic worker. She wants to major in child psychology and this is excellent background.

Susan Ellen Jacobs, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Jacobs of Belmont, a senior at Buckingham School was another volunteer who had experience from her work at the Mt. Auburn Hospital.

Pediatric Clinic.

Elizabeth Mantelle Ryan, a senior this year at Russell Sage College, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Ryan of Needham, and Susan May Smith, a graduate of Dana Hall School, whose parents are Dr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Smith of Brookline, complete this group.

Officers to be elected at this meeting are Mrs. John B. Townsend, president; Mrs. Russell Coolidge, vice-president; Mrs. Arthur W. Davis, secretary; Mrs. Henry S. C. Cummings, treasurer, and Mrs. Hans K. Fischer, assistant treasurer.

Directors for next year are Mrs. Hamilton T. Bailey, Mrs. Robert J. Carney, Mrs. Edwin F. Cave, Mrs. Arthur A. Cushing, Mrs. Allyn B. McIntire, Mrs. Henry B. Prout, Miss Anna Revere and Mrs. Frank H. Selman.

Dean Melville Heads Camp Fire Girls

Elsbeth Melville of 18 Bonwood St., Newtonville, Dean of Women at Boston University, was re-elected to a third term as president of the National Council of Camp Fire Girls.

Camp Fire Girls serves over half a million girls between the ages of seven and 18 throughout the United States. The National Council, the youth organization's policy-making body, held its annual meeting in New York City last weekend.

Dean Melville, wife of Atlee Lane Percy, University Dean Emeritus of Boston University, has been an adult member of the Camp Fire family since 1940. She first joined the organization as a young Camp Fire girl in Hyde Park.

In accepting leadership of the Camp Fire Girls organization, Dean Melville urged all adult members to strive together to fulfill the objectives of the youth program.

"There is great need for the creative preparation of girls and young women for their varied responsibilities as members of a family and citizens in a community," the youth leader said. "There is no more important work to be done in this period of our nation's history. To have a part in it is a privilege."

Dean Melville was a member of the board of directors of the Portland, Me., Council from 1940 to 1945; vice chairman of Region I, New England, in 1941 and 1942 and chairman from 1942 to 1944.

In 1947 she became a director of the Boston Council and has been chairman of the Nominating and Personnel Committees. Before her election to the presidency of the Greater Boston Council in 1953, she was vice-president from 1951 to 1953.

Graduated with a B.A. degree from Boston College of Liberal Arts, the Dean received her M.A. in Personnel Administration from New York University. She taught French and Latin and was Dean of Westbrook Junior College, Portland, Me., before coming to Boston University.

As past president of the Massachusetts Epsilon Chapter of Phi Beta Kappa and of the Lambda Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, the president of Camp Fire Girls is also a member of Pi Lambda Theta, Zeta Tau Alpha and P.E.O., and an honorary member of Delta Pi Epsilon and Phi Chi Theta.

As director of the Massachusetts Society of Social Hygiene since 1946, and of the Women's City Club from 1949 to 1953, and president of the Altrusa Club of Boston from 1951 to 1953, Dean Melville is a member of the National Association of Women Deans and Counselors, the American Association of University Women, the Greater Boston Vocational Guidance Association, the American Personnel and Guidance Association, the Massachusetts Association of Deans, the Massachusetts Council of Administrative Women in Education, the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the Massachusetts Council of Public Schools, and the Classical Club of Greater Boston.

Women Voters To Hold Unit Meetings Starting Tuesday

The Newton League of Women Voters will learn about the latest development in water resources next week at a series of discussion unit meetings on Nov. 17, 18 and 19.

Two of the bills to be discussed are still pending in Congress, but Senate Resolution 48, which has already been passed and is ready for action, is of particular interest to New England.

A Senate Select Committee on National Water Resources has been established to make a broad study of water resource needs between now and 1980 and will hold field hearings in 19 different cities. The committee is reserving time for the league's testimony at each of these 19 regional hearings.

The State Women's league has been asked to express its views on the future needs of the New England region in Boston, Dec. 8, and will probably mention the emerging consensus on the Northeastern Resources Compact, which the Newton league favored almost unanimously at its unit meetings last month.

The Newton League of Women Voters will send a delegation to Boston on Dec. 8, and those interested are invited to come to the unit meetings which will be held at the following homes:

Tuesday, Nov. 17, 7:45 p.m.—at the home of Mrs. Harvey L. Friedman, 24 Margaret Road, Newton Highlands.

Tuesday, Nov. 17, 7:45 p.m.—at the home of Mrs. Joseph A. Simons, 56 Chinian Path, Oak Hill Park.

Wednesday, Nov. 18, 7:45 a.m.—at the Newtonville Library, 345 Walnut St. (please use Highland Ave. entrance).

Wednesday, Nov. 18, 9:45 p.m.—at the home of Mrs. Milton Hamolsky, 48 Morton Rd., Newton Centre.

Thursday, Nov. 19, 9:45 p.m.—at the home of Mrs. Aaron H. Cole, 30 Roselle Road, Oak Hill, Newton Centre.

Thursday, Nov. 19, 9:45 p.m.—at the home of Mrs. Charles E. Worthen, 121

Highland St., West Newton.

Thursday, Nov. 19, 7:45 a.m.—at the home of Mrs. Stanley Backer, 5 Irving Rd., Waban.

Thursday, Nov. 19, 7:45 a.m.—at the home of Mrs. James H. Lewis, 38 Brookdale Road, Newtonville.

The members of the Water Resources Committee who prepared the material to be presented at the units are: Mrs. Howard Arbetter, chairman; Mrs. Richard Cotton, vice-chairman; Mesdames Ralph Alsmeyer, Ira Dyer, Mark Gordon, George Grossman, Leston Havens, Leo Jacobs, James Lewis, Richard Mitchell and Myron Simons.

At these same meetings, the league is asking for ideas for areas of study on the national level for the next two years. Newton's recommendations along with those of other local leagues across the country are sent to the National Board which uses them as a basis for making up a proposed program. This is the first step in a most important phase of league activity.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JANE SCHNEIDER
HEADLIGHTS . . . The members of the Orange Shield help with the cafeteria each day. If students have a study hall during lunch, it is possible for them to be on Orange Shield. Tony Lavelly is the head captain this year. Other captains include: Bill Southmayd, Dave Connor, Bill Sellers, Bruce Fitzpatrick and Joe O'Donnell.

Questionnaires concerning smoking were filled out by sophomores, juniors and seniors last week. The questionnaires were put out by Harvard College. Students answered one of three sections depending upon whether they smoked, didn't smoke or had given up smoking.

Dr. Ross Gallagher spoke recently to the Parent-Teacher Student Association on "Youth Problems." His talk was followed by a panel discussion. Maureen Kenney and Bruce Fitzpatrick were the two student representatives. Dr. Gallagher is the head of the Adolescent Unit of the Children's Hospital.

There is a civics committee for each house this year. Members of the Palmer House civics include: Chairman Peggy Wells, Asst. Chairman Debby Isaacs, Laraine Lamont, Marlene Rabinovitz, Barry Bean, Herb Howard, Sandra Swanson, Lynn Covick, Ray Friedman, Bob Johnson, George Levenson, Janie Brown and Helen Greenberg.

The Central Civic Committee is composed of students from all six houses. They work independently from the other committees. Johnny Cannon is the chairman. Roger Noch, Peggy Wells, Barbara Yeo, Barbara Williams, Buddy Rifkin, Walter Awcock, Helaine Morris, Jay Lavelly, Richard Aborn, Bruce Fitzpatrick, Debby Isaacs and Pete McKenney make up the committee.

House Assemblies have started successfully this year. Several houses have had assemblies in which members of the House Council and House Civics were introduced. Entertainment was also provided.

The next meeting of the Associates Council will be Nov. 13. The president is Dave Connor; Boys' Vice President, Joel Reingold; Girls' Vice President, Donna Richmond; Secretary, Midge Casselman; and Treasurer, Bonnie MacLeod. Other members include: Judy Bailen, Sue Dralson, Carol Eggers, Eddie Flowers, Nance MacDonald, Liz Plotkin, Marc Slotnik and Joe Schneider.

THE OUTDOOR TYPE . . . Girls from the various houses have been competing in an archery tournament. Barry House is the champion of the inter-house competition with Judy Nissen as their representative. Linda Kimball of Riley House and Fredie Podolsky of Adams House are in second and third place.

Tap dancing has been added as a part of the Girls' After School Sports Program. All girls who are interested attended the first class Oct. 28. The girls provide the sneakers, the department provides the taps.

THE MARQUEE . . . The Matchmaker by Thornton Wilder was presented by the senior class last Friday afternoon and Saturday evening. Students in the production have been rehearsing for about three months. The two leading roles of Horace Vandergelder and Mrs. Levi were portrayed by Robert Gatti and Peggy Wells. Mr. William Spink, the director of the play, supervised the four student directors: Carol Alban, Martha Harrison, Steve Naterman and Buddy Rifkin.

COLLEGEWISE . . . College representatives are still meeting with members of the senior class. Vassar College had a tea for all those interested in the school. Antioch College representative was at NHS last Thursday. Last Wednesday, Mr. Mitchell had a meeting with all those students in the senior class interested in applying for scholarships.

St. Francis Guild Holds Big Bazaar

The Guild of St. Francis will hold its annual bazaar for the benefit of the building fund next Monday, Nov. 16 from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. at the Sacred Heart school hall on Crescent St., Newton Centre.

The chairman are Mrs. Edmund Sweney, food and Mrs. Osbourne McConathy, religious.

Santa Claus will be there, so be sure and bring along the kiddies. Lunch will be served from 12 to 2 featuring corn chowder made by Mrs. Carl Alvord. At 6 p.m. a home cooked roast beef dinner will be served. For dinner reservations call Mrs. Arthur Melville at DE2-0990.

For sale will be hand knits, aprons, white elephant, toys, dolls dressed by hand, candy, grubs, jewelry, plants and greens, snack bar and there will be a children's lunch.

Praise for Voting Machine Workers

Editor,
Newton Graphic:

Through your paper I desire to express my thanks and appreciation to City Clerk Monte Basbas, to the Wardens and City Election Staffs at polling places in Ward 8, Precinct 1 and Ward 5, Precinct 2 for their courtesy and fine work in handling automatic voting machines for the first time. They all very quickly grasped the new method of voting and counting of votes and performed like veterans. It certainly speaks most highly of the intelligence and work of every official concerned. Our machine count was over by 9 p.m. in both precincts and the machine units were under seal and placed in storage immediately thereafter.

In addition to the above for myself and my concern I thank the officers and members of the Newton League of Women Voters who gave of their time and efforts to demonstrate for voter instruction the automatic machine in the cafeteria at City Hall for the week preceding and during election day. It materially helped by acquainting voters in advance of voting with the new method of exercising their franchise. May I also thank the League ladies for assisting in instruction of voters at the Hyde School on election day.

Philip G. Bowker, New England Representative.

Seek 3 In $20,000 Bag Snatch

Three youths who drove up to use a coin ice machine at the Brookline Ice & Coal Co., are being sought by police for questioning about the disappearance of a handbag containing valuables estimated at $20,000.

Mrs. Jeanne Signore of 351 Langley Rd., Newton Centre, a widow and proprietor of the company, told police she was leaving late Saturday night and had set her bag down momentarily on a loading platform.

Three youths drove up to use the machine, and when she turned to pick up the bag it was missing. Articles in the bag included a $6000 diamond ring, $1300 in cash, 100 shares of Westinghouse Co. stock plus two $500 government bonds.

Noted Michigan Professor To Address Hub Dentists

Sigurd P. Ramfjord D.D.S., M.S., Ph.D., Professor of Dentistry at the University of Michigan, School of Dentistry will be the main speaker at the monthly meeting of the Greater Boston Dental Society next Wednesday, Nov. 18, at the Red Coach Grille in Boston.

An estimated 200 greater Boston dentists are expected to attend the second of the 1959-60 monthly meetings. Dr. Suzanne Rothenberg, of Brookline, president of the Society will chair the affair.

Dr. Ramfjord, respected as an authority in the field of dentistry has devoted the past several years to full-time research in the field of Periodontics and has enjoyed worldwide recognition for his advances in this area.

The subject of his discussion to the group, made up of dentists from the greater Boston area, will be "Occlusal Adjustment," which concerns itself with indications and methods of occlusal adjustment. It will be discussed and illustrated with slides from electromyographic and clinical studies of occlusion.

The main speaker was born in Sweden and later received his undergraduate education at the University of Oslo in Norway. He continued his education with post graduate work at the University of Michigan, where he received his Master's degree in Per-dentitis and later his doctorate in Oral Pathology. He is a member of the faculty at the University of Michigan's School of Dentistry.

The Greater Boston Dental Society was formed in 1919 for the furtherance of Dental Education through actual visual and oral presentations by recognized leaders in the dental field. Monthly meetings are held and these dignitaries are invited to offer their latest advancements to the membership that now number more than 200.

The business meeting and afternoon program will get underway at 1:30 p.m. and will be followed by a general dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m.

Cong. Curtis Cables Story From Far East

By LAURENCE CURTIS

SEOUL, Nov. 11—Seoul was the first stop on the continent of Asia for our study group looking into Foreign Aid or Mutual Security Projects.

In the group are five members of the Far East Subcommittee of House Foreign Affairs Committee: Representative Pillerch, Democrat of Georgia and chairman; Representative McDowell, Democrat of Delaware, and three Republicans, Representative Judd of Minnesota, Mrs. Church of Illinois and I. Accompanying us are men from Departments of State and Defense and from Staff of Foreign Affairs Committee.

We flew from Washington, D. C. to Tokyo, with a night stop at an Air Force Base near San Francisco and one day in Honolulu; then from Tokyo to Seoul.

Seoul the capital of the Republic of Korea, is a city of about two million people. It suffered great war damage but the rebuilding has been remarkable. There are still many temples and shrines with their typical oriental type architecture.

Western style dress predominates in Seoul with native costumes a rarity. But the women carry small children strapped to their backs with a sort of halter arrangement. School children wear school uniforms—the boys dark suits, white collars, and caps with stiff visors. The girls wear dark blue dresses. Their straight black hair is usually swept across from a part on one side and cut in a straight line a little below the ears.

The large number of school children walking about the streets at school closing time around five o'clock was impressive. All carry brief cases and look well fed and happy, yet with a certain seriousness and lack of exuberance which American children would show.

We had long meetings with American officials here and worked on American Economic aid. It is certainly needed here to rehabilitate conditions after the war in which our troops took such a major part.

We visited a very elaborate fertilizer plant built with American Aid about which there have been some problems. It is some distance from Seoul and our group went there in three small Army planes landing on an airstrip near the plant.

We also had a meeting with the principal cabinet ministers. Many of them spoke English well and had studied in America. We found them a progressive and devoted group. They extended great hospitality. The acting Foreign Minister and the Defense Minister each gave dinners for our group.

We really got to know these men who are on the receiving end of our Foreign Aid, had an on-the-spot view of some of its results and gained an appreciation of the problems which could have been had in no other way.

After one of these dinners we were treated to some Korean dancing by a group of about fifteen Korean girls. They wore voluminous Korean robes and during one of the numbers some even wore grotesque masks. The dancing was rhythmic accompanied by graceful movements to the arms and hands very different from the Hula hip swinging which we had seen in Honolulu.

We had lunch with President and Mrs. Syngman Rhee at their simple but lovely home in Seoul. He is eighty-four but vigorous and charming. He earned degrees at George Washington, Harvard and Princeton Universities. We all felt the greatest respect for him and what he has done. His life work has been for Korean independence.

Mrs. Rhee originally from Austria was hospitable and extremely alert and intelligent. In being given this unusual opportunity to meet informally with the President and his wife we probably profited from the fact that Congressman Judd of Minnesota who has spent much time in the Orient is a friend of President Rhee of long standing.

We arrived in Taipei, capital of Taiwan, after a flight of about six hours from Seoul with a two-hour stop at Okinawa.

A visit to Okinawa recalls vividly the hard fighting of our forces there in World War II, first to gain a foothold and then to blast the enemy out of their caves and entrenchments on the island.

We were briefed at the superb Air Force Base by the Commanding General of the Island on strategic and political conditions and had a short motor ride through some of the nearby villages.

Okinawa is an important link in our defense system around the perimeter of Asia. We were pleasantly surprised to find a luxurious hotel in Taipei and were told that the President's Wellesey educated wife Madam Chiang Kai Shek had taken a personal interest in its development. It was hard to realize that this was China and the only part

William J. Kenney, Sr.

William J. Kenney Sr., of 34 Capital street, Newton, died last week at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, in his 60th year, and funeral services were held Friday. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated in the Church of Our Lady in Newton followed by interment in St. Patrick's Cemetery, Watertown.

Rejects Petitions To Retain Senate Seat

Gibbs Will Not "Short Change" Voters; To Be Full Time Mayor

State Senator Donald E. Gibbs, chosen Mayor of Newton at the recent election by sweeping majorities over two opponents, told a packed meeting of the Newton Republican City Committee last Friday night that "under no circumstances" would he consider retaining his present Senate seat after he takes office as mayor next January.

In the face of about 200 petitions, some signed, asking him to remain in the Senate, the Gibbs statement made it emphatically clear to his listeners at the Newton Highlands Workshop that he will abide by his promise to Newton voters that he would be a "full time mayor."

Mayor-elect Gibbs made the statement after a vigorous discussion had ensued over a proposal offered by Rep. Irene K. Thresher asking that petitions be circulated to support a plea to Senator Gibbs to reconsider his intentions of resigning the Senate seat.

Approximately 200 of these petitions, a few already bearing the required 15 signatures, were brought to the Friday meeting preparatory to being circulated.

"During the recent Newton mayoralty campaign," Gibbs declared, "I made a promise to the voters of Newton that I would be a full time Mayor, if elected. In accord with that promise, I stated my intention to resign the Senate seat which I presently hold."

"Since my election as mayor, I have been beseeched by many of my fellow Newton citizens to reconsider my promise regarding the resigning of the Senate seat. They

Mayor Is Making Survey To Determine Sentiment Of GOP Office-Holders

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., is seriously weighing the possibility of becoming a candidate for Governor. He will make a final decision on the matter within the next month.

If he decides to enter the gubernatorial race, he will almost immediately launch an all-out drive for the endorsement of the Republican State Convention to be held next June.

Whitmore, who had intended to retire to private life at the time he announced he would not stand for reelection as Mayor of Newton, is now considering the possibility of waging a campaign for the Governorship at the urging of a number of political, business and civic leaders.

One of those who waited upon the Newton Mayor and sought to interest him in becoming a candidate for Governor, The Graphic learned, was Republican National Committeeman Ralph H. Bonnell.

The Mayor has been quietly making a survey to determine what the sentiment would be in Republican ranks towards his candidacy for Governor. It is understood that his decision on whether to seek the office will be based at least partly on the responses he receives.

In a letter addressed to GOP members of the State Legislature, Mayor Whitmore said: "Several individuals and representatives of civic, community and business groups have asked me to become a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor."

"While I have not entertained such an aspiration personally, I have agreed to conduct a selective survey of the sentiments of Republican office-holders in respect to such a request."

"If you feel you can, will you be so kind as to answer fully and frankly the questions listed on the enclosed sheet."

BEAUTY IN FOURTH ESTATE—The average, male-bound newspaper city room can't boast such beauty as prevails among recently elected editors of Newton's Lassell Junior College newspaper and year book. Newton GOP Favors Free-For-All Battle For Gibbs' Senate Berth

A proposal that an informal convention be held to endorse a Republican candidate for the seat in the State Senate which Mayor-elect Donald L. Gibbs will vacate at the end of the year, has been turned down by members of the Newton GOP City Committee.

That means that a free-for-all primary battle will be waged, probably about mid-February, for the Republican nomination in the senatorial district which takes in the entire City of Newton, the Ward 22 section of Brighton and one ward of Cambridge.

Already in the GOP field are School Committee Chairman Haskell C. Freedman, Republican City Committee Chairman and Alderman Carleton P. Merrill, and Representative Arthur G. Heaney. Still other candidates may move into the field before the lists are closed.

SOME REPUBLICAN LEADERS

had been hopeful of utilizing an informal convention to avert a primary struggle, but that now does not appear possible.

Members of the GOP City Committee who opposed the suggestion for holding a convention felt that such a move would be tantamount to usurping the rights of the Republican voters to nominate a candidate.

Newtonites Oppose B&A Abandonment

It was "Newton Day" at the State House yesterday when the Department of Public Utilities conducted the third of its scheduled hearings on the petition of the New York Central Railroad to abandon 39 commuter trains and close 18 stations on the Boston & Albany main line.

The B & A has requested authority to abandon all of its Newton stations except Newtonville because of the mounting deficit it is facing. A railroad spokesman has estimated a saving of $500,000 would be effected by discontinuance of the commuter service.

Newton has joined forces with the 50 communities along the line as far west as Springfield to oppose the proposed abandonment.

On Monday a special meeting was held in the Flanningham Courthouse to allow per-

Winless Waltham Hi Stuns Newton 20-12

It was quite a weekend for upsets across the Nation's gridirons over the weekend, and Waltham High School's surprise 20 to 12 win over favored Newton High at Dickinson Stadium Saturday afternoon was another piece which fitted the picture.

The stunning win gave Waltham a 29 to 14 edge in the 53rd annual game of the series between the two rivals, which began way back in 1901.

It was the first win of the season for the Crimson, and snapped a five-game losing streak. This was the longest string of defeats Waltham had suffered in a row in the history of the school.

But Waltham was up for this one, and Newton may have been a mite too sure. Newton did outrush and outpace the Crimson, but in the end Waltham outscored the Orangenians.

The loss gave Newton a record of five victories and two defeats on the season. Only one game remains for Coach Bob Malone's boys, the annual Turkey Day tussle.

Newton Submariner Gets Navy Captain's 4 Stripes

The Navy has announced the promotion of George C. Cook, son of Mrs. Dorothea Finlay Cook of 170 Upland Ave., Newton Highland, to the rank of captain.

The insignia of his new rank was pinned on by Rear Admiral William E. Ferrall, commander, Submarine Force, U.S. Pacific Fleet, at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Capt. Cook was serving as an instructor for prospective submarine commanding officers on Adm. Ferrall's staff at the time of the promotion.

Curtis, Whitmore Seen Top GOP Governorship Hopes

Congressman Laurence Curtis and Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., of Newton appear to be gradually emerging as the prospective leading contenders for the Republican nomination for Governor next year.

Neither has actually announced his candidacy, although Curtis stopped just short of doing so before leaving on a study mission as a member of the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee which is taking into foreign aid and internal security programs in Far East.

Curtis, prior to his departure, wrote to the delegates to the 1958 Republican State convention indicating that he would formally toss his hat into the gubernatorial ring on his return from the Orient.

Whitmore's intentions are somewhat less definite than those of Curtis. The Newton

The three questions Mayor Whitmore asked of the Republican legislators were:

1. Would you favor my becoming a candidate?

2. Would you support my candidacy?

3. Are you committed to support another candidate?

The Mayor's letter, along with the questions accompanying it, caused widespread discussions in both the Republican and Democratic parties.

Mayor Whitmore has not and apparently does not intend to make public the replies he has received and is receiving to his communications and questionnaire.

However, a check with lawmakers who made public the letter and questions indicates that there has been some favorable reaction to the suggestion of having Whitmore stand for election to the Governorship.

A large number of the Republican House and Senate members contacted by The Graphic to ascertain their reaction to Whitmore's questions intimated that they will remain neutral in the coming contest for the GOP gubernatorial endorsement and will avoid any involvement in it.

Virtually all voiced deep respect for Whitmore who served in the House of Representatives before winning election as Mayor of Newton.

Some legislators said they probably would support Whitmore for the nomination if he officially decides to become a candidate for the Governorship.

Others asserted that they already are committed to Republican House Leader Frank S. Giles or plan to line up behind Congressman Laurence Curtis when he tosses his hat into the ring.

Many Republican House and Senate members, especially those from close districts, said they anticipate a hot convention fight for their party's gubernatorial endorsement and that they are presently disposed to remain apart from it.

Generally, the reaction to Mayor Whitmore's trial balloon, as political observers construe it to be, was favorable.

NEA Special Survey Made In This City

The National Education Association is conducting a special project on local associations throughout the country. The Newton Teachers Association is one of the associations included in this project.

Paul Kaus of Moscow, Idaho, and a director of field operations for the National Association, was in Newton on Monday and Tuesday interviewing various association members and school personnel.

Among those interviewed by Mr. Kaus were Charles Henderson, president of the NTA; Miss Fro Georgas, vice president; Mrs. Gertrude Wilson, secretary; Mrs. Frances Allen, treasurer.

He also interviewed Eric Dennard, superintendent of schools; Charles Brown, assistant to the superintendent; Edwin Hawkridge and Mrs. Genevieve Oncley, school committee members, and Alderman William Powers.

Mr. Kaus had an opportunity to meet and discuss this project with the executive committee of the Newton Teachers Association.

The main purpose of this visit was to determine emerging patterns of effective practices by local associations and to discover the effectiveness of current communications between the NEA and the NTA.

Gail Thompson Sponsored In Charm Contest

The Auburndale Women's Club announces that it is sponsoring Miss Gail Thompson of 78 Clearwater road, Newton Lower Falls, as a candidate in the Princess Charming contest being conducted throughout Greater Boston.

The contest, which is limited to single girls between the ages of 18 and 28, will accept only candidates who have the backing of a known women's club in their community.

Ruth Allen, director of the Back Bay School of Modeling and coordinator of the contest, said the girls will be judged on the basis of personal appearance and poise. Special talents and participation in civic-minded community work also will be considered.

The preliminary contest will be conducted this Sunday, Nov. 22 at Hotel Vendome in Boston.

The Women's Club that has the winning candidate, said Mrs. Edwin C. Harkins, president of the sponsoring organization, will be rewarded with a free fashion show staged by Miss Allen.

sions from the western part of the state an opportunity to express their opposition to the proposed abandonment.

Yesterday, legislators, elected officials of the cities and towns and private residents were permitted to speak at the Gardner Auditorium hearing.

In addition, Newton City Solicitor Matt B. Jones was on hand to cross-examine witnesses who presented the railroad's side of the case last week when the series of hearings opened at the State House.

Yesterday was the last day which Newton Citizens had to appear before the DPU to speak on the planned abandonment.

Noted Artist Guest At Meeting Tonight

Lawrence Kupterman, distinguished artist and teacher, will deliver a lecture and criticism to feature the Newton Art Association's meeting tonight, (Thursday) at 7:45 o'clock at the Newtonville Library.

Mr. Kupterman is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Art, London; a member of the National Society of Art, and a professor of art at the Massachusetts School of Art. He will judge the merits and faults of paintings in various stages of completion submitted by members of the association.

An exhibition is currently on display at various local banks of the works of individuals active in the association. These include landscapes, still life, and portraits in oil, water-color and other media. Many of these original paintings are for sale.

Mrs. Ruth S. Palmer is showing some of her recent portraits at the Newton-Waltham Bank, Newton Centre; in the Newton National Bank, Newton Corner, Sherwood Blodgett has water-colors on view.

How to get a bigger boot out of football

Schoolboy football is winding up its hottest season in years. The Holy Cross-B.C. game shapes up as a bruiser. And both NFL division titles are still up for grabs.

There are plenty of crazy bounces left in the football... and New England's most talented squad of columnists and reporters are on the spot to describe every one of them to you. 7 days a week the pull-out section of The Globe sits you right smack on the fifty.

Jerry Nason, Ernie Roberts, Bob Holbrook, Red Smith, Francis Rosa, Harold Kaese, Cliff Keane, Bill Sheehan, Ernie Dalton, John Ahern and Roger Birwell know football. And they know you. They know what you look for down on the field, what you'd like to hear from the locker room.

If you follow the schoolboys, colleges or pros, you'll have a ball with The Globe. Daily and Sunday, give it a whirl. To start home delivery, call the circulation department at AVenue 8-8000, or write: The Boston Globe, Boston 7.

Heart Gifts Honor 285

Gifts honoring 285 late residents of Newton have been received by the Massachusetts Heart Association's Greater Boston Chapter during the past six months, it was announced today.

The Greater Boston Heart Association's gratitude for gifts which honor the departed and serve the living was expressed by Charles A. Gates, director, who declared: "In recent years, more and more persons have found deep satisfaction in giving memorial gifts which make possible lifesaving and health-giving medical efforts. No finer tribute can be paid to the memory of a friend or loved one."

"These gifts will help the Association's program of research, education and community service against our foremost health problem — cardiovascular disease."

Living memorials have been received to honor these late residents:

Fall Fashion Festival Set For Saturday

Much interest is evident in Newton in the annual Fall Festival of Fashion to be held at Blinstrub's Village, South Boston, next Saturday noon, November 21st, and sponsored by the Theresians of West Roxbury.

Mrs. Edward Toomey, of Newton, was one of last year's winners.

Dinner and a floor-show will precede the showing of the latest in midday's fashions. Mrs. Priscilla Trudeau will be the commentator. Tickets may be obtained by calling FA 5-1087 or FA 5-7961. There will be bus transportation direct from West Roxbury.

Twenty fabulous prizes will be awarded including a complete Thanksgiving dinner for 14 people, fully prepared and delivered to the door.

Mrs. Robert J. Daley, general chairman, is assisted by Mrs. Joseph Jacksina, co-chairman, and Mrs. Thomas F. Abraham, prize committee chairman.

Miss Emilie DuBois Bell Is Bride Of Dr. Mahoney

Miss Emilie DuBois Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Bell of Weston became the bride of Dr. Morgan Francis Mahoney of Needham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Mahoney of Newtonville, at a 10 o'clock nuptial mass at St. Julia's Church, Weston.

Rev. Frank Graff was the officiating clergyman, and the Wayside Inn in Sudbury was the scene of the reception which followed.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported Swiss organdy fashioned with a mandarin neckline, short sleeves, a fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt of tulle which had inserts of Swiss organdy and culminated in a chapel-length train.

Her matching headpiece of cloche design held in place a fingertip veil of imported French illusion. White gebera and butterfly roses made up the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. William B. Williams of Birmingham, Mich., was her sisters' matron of honor, and Mrs. Gerald Blodeau of Newtonville, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid.

Serving as best man for his brother was Dr. Edward M.

Phyllis Carter, Paul DeNapoli Exchange Vows

The Church of the Open Word in Newtonville was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Phyllis Carter to Mr. Paul A. DeNapoli.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Philip Walker Carter of West Newton and the late Mr. Carter. The groom is the son of Mrs. Angelo DeNapoli of Chestnut Hill and the late Mr. DeNapoli.

The Rev. Thomas A. Reed officiated at the 3:30 o'clock candlelight service. A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

Mr. Philip Sidney Carter of Sharon gave his sister in marriage. She was attired in an empire gown made of ivory peau de sole. A circlet neckline and short sleeves enhanced her fitted bodice which was marked with appliques of Alencon lace.

Her full skirt had a chapel-length train.

Similar lace, marked with seed pearls, fashioned her becoming cap. An illusion veil fell to her elbows. She carried a bouquet made of carnations and stephanotis.

The bride's two sisters were her only attendants. They are Mrs. John Kenneth Colony of Winchester and Mrs. George A. Stryker, Jr., of Jacksonville Beach, Fla.

Serving as best man for Mr. DeNapoli was Mr. James M. Reynolds of Lowell. Ushering were Mr. Albert V. Regan, brother-in-law of the groom, and Mr. John K. Colony, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride, a graduate of Colby Junior College, attended Maryland University.

A graduate of Boston University, Mr. DeNapoli attended Northeastern University Graduate School. He is assistant chief civil and highway engineer with the firm of Hayden, Harding and Buchanan.

After a trip to the Pocono Mountains, the couple are now at home at 56 Londonderry road, Marblehead.

Damon Richards and Bride Residing In Auburndale

Returning recently from a trip to San Juan, Haiti and Jamaica, Mr. and Mrs. Damon A. Richards (June M. Hansen) are now at home at 249 Auburn street, Auburndale.

The couple were married recently at the Church of the Messiah in Auburndale. Mr. and Mrs. George M. Hansen of 331 Auburndale avenue, Auburndale, and Mr. and Mrs. Willard F. Richards of 49 Fairfax street, West Newton, are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Frederick W. Rapp performed the 4:30 o'clock ceremony at which two rings were exchanged. A reception followed at the Hotel Beaconsfield in Brookline.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a traditional white gown fashioned of peau de sole. Her molded bodice was styled with a yoke of re-embroidered lace to match the front panels and back tiers of her full skirt, entraîne.

Pearls formed the becoming tiara which held in place her fingertip English illusion veil. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of white carnations, stephanotis and pink roses.

Mrs. Norman C. Vokes of Waltham was matron of honor for her sister. Miss Vivi Ann Ostrand of Dedham, Miss Mary Elizabeth Kane of West Roxbury, Miss Linda Carmen of Brookline and Mrs. Robert Palmer of North Bergen, N.J., were her other attendants.

Mrs. Augustus Cappedonia of Columbus, Ohio, was honorary bridesmaid. Young Glenda Jeanne Vokas of Waltham was flower girl for her aunt.

Best man duties were performed by Mr. David Prolman of Lewiston, Me. Ushering were Mr. Norman C. Vokes of Waltham, brother-in-law of the bride, Mr. James Percey of Boston, Mr. Norman Kattwinkel of West Newton, Mr. Donald F. Hansen of Auburndale, brother of the bride, and Mr. Alan Robertson of Arlington.

The bride was graduated from the Boston University School of Nursing, where her sorority was Sigma Kappa. She is working with the Newton Visiting Nurse Association.

Mr. Richards is a graduate of the University of Maine and Babson Institute. His fraternity is Theta Pi.

The Spaulding School PTA announces that its recent cake sale was a huge success and that the treasury realized $40 from the donated baked goods.

be shortchanging the good citizens of Newton."

Principal speaker at the capacity meeting was Senator Howard W. Young, who recently became the first Republican in 15 years to capture the 3rd Bristol (New Bedford) Senate seat. It had been made vacant by the death of Arthur D. Mullen, a Democrat.

Senator Young made a fine impression on his listeners as he related the story of his election victory which gave him the added distinction of being the first Republican in more than 25 years to carry the industrial city of New Bedford.

Following the official adjournment of the meeting, a lively discussion took place among committee members over the question of holding a convention before the primary to select a candidate on whom Republicans in the district could unite to support in the fight for Gibbs' seat. The convention was flatly and decisively rejected.

It was felt by those opposed to the convention idea that such a move would be going beyond the powers given in the by-laws of the City Committee and would be usurping the right of individual voters to choose a candidate in the primary.

Other opinions stated, expressed the feeling that a "good, clean vigorous contest would do much to strengthen rather than weaken the Republican cause, by indicating who was the best vote getter."

Carleton P. Merrill, Ward 1 alternate-at-large and chairman of the City Committee, who presided at the meeting, is one of three candidates for the post. Rep. Arthur G. Heaney and Haskell Freedman, school committee chairmen, are also in the race.

ISADORE SLOTNIK

Newtonites On Hospital Donor Dinner Comm.

Newton residents are taking a prominent role on the committee making plans for the annual dinner of the Beth Israel Hospital Associates at Hotel Statler Hilton on Sunday, Nov. 29.

Isadore Slotnik, of Newton, general director of the hospital, has been named general chairman of the committee and is being assisted by many of Boston's most prominent community and charity workers.

More than 5,000 Greater Boston charity contributors have been invited to attend the unusual dinner.

Rudolph H. Wyner, president of the Hospital Trustees, explained:

"We feel that the Beth Israel belongs to the community, is supported by the community and has an obligation to report to the community what has happened during the year.

"Therefore, we have mailed invitations to 5,000 persons who have contributed to the hospital and the Combined Jewish Appeal to attend our dinner."

Leading figures in the community have been invited to attend as guests.

Members of the committee include Mrs. Julius Freedman of Chestnut Hill; Sidney L. Kaye of Chestnut Hill; Dr. Henry A. Kontoff of Newton; Maurice Lazarus of Newton; Philip W. Lown of Newton; Edward Rose of Newton; Dr. Cecil G. Sheps of Newton; Bertram C. Tackeff of Chestnut Hill; Irving Uson of Newton; Leon Margolis of Chestnut Hill; David H. Green of Newton and Mrs. Lesner White of Waban.

School Pupils Make Goodies For VA Patients

Newton school children, under the direction of Mrs. Philias Daudelin, chairman of Junior Red Cross in Newton, and with the cooperation of teachers in the School System, are being indoctrinated in the pleasure of giving and doing for others.

At each holiday season, from Halloween through the Fourth of July, the children make floral decorations, center pieces and candy dishes for the veterans at both the West Roxbury and Boston VA Hospitals.

The work is the result of detailed planning between the Parkway Council, Junior Red Cross, the Teacher Sponsors and the Art Departments of the various schools, from kindergarten through High School.

This is an in-class program under the supervision of the teachers in the Art Department, and gives each child a chance to create something delightful that will give pleasure to a veteran away from home at holiday seasons.

The entire class works on a project and each class and school decides for itself what it will make. Over a thousand of these favors and centerpieces are made each year, and the little baskets are also filled with goodies. Through this service the children develop good manual dexterity and their artistic abilities are encouraged.

For example, this past Halloween, the children made lovely mobiles for the patients not allowed the candy baskets. For Veteran's Day, special centerpieces were made.

Scholarship Bridge And Canasta Party

Tickets still are available for the annual Scholarship Bridge and Canasta Party tomorrow, Nov. 20, in the K of C clubhouse at Southgate park, West Newton, to benefit the Scholarship Fund of the West Newton Educational Club.

The chairman, Mrs. Francis Vetter, announced she has tickets or they may be obtained from any member of the scholarship committee.

Mrs. Rexford H. Taylor is in charge of decorations; Mrs. Edwin M. Wolley, door prize; Mrs. Nelse Hervan and Mrs. John F. Leonard, co-hostesses for the dessert which will be served at 1 p.m.

Special attractions in connection with the bridge will be an Opportunity Table presided over by Mrs. Theodore C. Danker and Mrs. Merrill B. Smith, and a Pantry Shelf with home cooked foods in charge of Mrs. Earl A. Curran. Candy will be on sale under direction of Mrs. Gordon K. Edgar.

Frances Willard Auxiliary Will Meet on Monday

Members of the Newton Auxiliary of the Frances E. Willard Homes will hold their next meeting on Monday, November 23rd, at the home of Mrs. B. Garfield Rae of West Newton.

Serving on Mrs. William B. Plumer's luncheon committee will be Mrs. F. Gilbert McNamara, Mrs. Howard L. Rieh, Mrs. Robert D. Sallinger, Mrs. Gilbert Tolman, Jr., Mrs. John H. Underhill, and Mrs. Charles F. Warren, with Mrs. Joe W. Gerrity and Mrs. Willis E. Williams as pourers.

A program of particular interest at this season, "Holiday Party Foods," will be given by Mr. Leslie Browning of S. S. Pierce Company.

A Full-Time Mayor

Mayor-elect Donald L. Gibbs is to be commended for turning down the well-intended but ill-advised suggestions that he endeavor to serve both as Mayor of Newton and as State Senator next year.

Mr. Gibbs has done a good job as State Senator for the past three years. He has been a conscientious, hard-working public official, who has earned the respect of both his fellow Senators and the people he served.

But the fact is that Newton needs a full-time Mayor. The fact also is that neither Mr. Gibbs nor anyone else could do a good job as both Mayor and Senator. He would have to slight one position or the other.

Republican leaders, understandably would like to hold Senator Gibbs' seat in the upper legislative chamber within their party.

However, they should not expect Mr. Gibbs to protect it for them at the expense of the people of Newton.

When Howard Whitmore, Jr., stood for election as Mayor a little more than six years ago, he resigned from the House of Representatives at the time he launched his municipal campaign. He has been a full-time Mayor.

In the past six years the duties of Mayor of Newton have neither diminished nor grown less complex. In fact, they have expanded. In recognition of that fact the people of the city two years ago voted a $3,000-a-year salary increase for the Mayor of Newton.

Mayor-elect Gibbs has adopted a sensible attitude in insisting that he must devote the full time and attention to running the affairs of the city of Newton for the next two years.

Political Highlights

Mayor, who is retiring from office at the end of this year, has written to Republican members of the Legislature to ascertain what their attitude would be toward his candidacy for Governor. His decision undoubtedly would be based at least partly on the response he gets to his inquiries.

Himself an influential and respected member of the Legislature before his election as Mayor of Newton six years ago, Whitmore asked the GOP law-makers if they would favor his becoming a candidate for Governor, if they would support his candidacy in such an event and if they already are committed to any other candidate.

Mayor Whitmore may find that the test of sentiment among the Republican law-makers is not a conclusive one since GOP House Leader Frank S. Giles of Methuen and State Senator Philip A. Graham of Hamilton already have been lining up support among their colleagues in the two legislative branches.

One advantage Curtis and Whitmore both would have over Giles and Graham is that for the past six years the latter two have been voting on the controversial issues which came before the Legislature while Curtis has been serving in Congress and Whitmore has been guiding Newton's municipal affairs as its Mayor.

While Curtis and Whitmore both undoubtedly would draw some support from members of the Legislature, their strongest backing would be likely to come from Republicans outside that body.

Senator Graham, although declaring that he will not announce his decision on whether he will seek the nomination for Governor until next February, has permitted a group of supporters to organize a Graham for Governor Committee and officially record its formation with the Secretary of State.

A forceful, outspoken, hard-hitting Solon, who is a member of the conservative wing of the Republican party, Graham attracted widespread attention in 1958 when he spearheaded the movement which resulted in changes in the law covering disability pensions.

Graham has been a controversial figure in the upper legislative chamber. He was the choice of a majority of the Republican Senators for election as president of the Senate in 1957, but a coalition of Democrats blocked his election and made Newland H. Holmes of Weymouth the body's president.

Gov. Furecolo Undecided On 1960 Political Goal

State House reporters tried the other day to find out what office Governor Furecolo will seek next year. They wound up more confused than ever as to what the Governor is likely to do.

Furecolo obviously wants to leave his plans flexible so that he can either strike out for the ing officer in an unusual political coup.

Again last year Graham became involved in a bitter fight with Holmes for election as GOP leader of the Senate, and as a compromise the post was given to Senator Fred I. Lamson of Malden.

Graham and Giles were on opposite sides of the sales tax controversies in 1957 and 1959.

As a member of the joint legislative committee on taxation, Graham supported the sales tax bills submitted by Governor Furecolo.

Giles, on the other hand, has opposed the Governor's sales tax measures. While he has indicated that he favors the principle of a sales tax, Giles has not yet found one of Furecolo's bills acceptable to him.

If Curtis, Whitmore, Graham and Giles all enter the Republican gubernatorial lists, which at this time appears quite possible the GOP would be confronted with the liveliest struggle for the party nomination for Governor in a decade.

Some speculation already is developing about the possibility of a deadlock at the Republican State convention. The likelihood, however, is that an impasse would be averted by the adoption of a convention rule providing for the elimination of the candidate who polled the smallest number of votes on each ballot.

Still other candidates also are eyeing the Republican gubernatorial field. Former State Senator Christopher Phillips of Beverly, the United States representative on the United Nations Economic and Social Council, has told party leaders that he may enter the race.

Friends of Frederick C. Dumaine, Jr., former head of the New Haven Railroad, have sounded out Republican politicians as to the possibility of marshalling support for him but have not been reassured by the reaction they have received.

Former Lieutenant Governor Sumner C. Whitier, GOP nominee for Governor in 1956 and presently U.S. Veterans Administrator, is also a dark-horse prospect.

"This is the rumpus room. Not yet finished but it's already paying for itself."

HEADLIGHTS . . . A music assembly was held recently for students in Riley House. Sophomores whose homerooms were invited by Riley House also attended the assembly.

The Activities Board this year consists of Phil Barry, chairman; Dave Shaw, chairman of the Clubs Board; Joanne Arcuri, chairman of the Social Board; Bill O'Connell, chairman of the Social Board; Barbara Gorney and Beth Ham, chairmen of the Assembly Board; Selby Hickey and Judy Malone, chairmen of the Publications Board, and Sue Goldsmith, secretary. Mrs. Micka is the advisor.

Winners of the Sophomore Associates Council election are Maureen (Sunny) Gratto and Richard Salter. Approximately 20 students were in the primary election and a smaller number in the finals.

All seniors taking the Problems of Democracy course offered at the high school were invited to visit the United Nations building. Only a certain number of students could be accommodated so many of the students signed up will not be able to go. The students are leaving early in the morning by train and will go straight to the United Nations building, returning home later that same evening.

Sylvia Huberman is the chairman of the Arts Committee this year. Claudia Smith and Kerstin Ferre are also on the staff. The Arts Committee includes art, music, drama, and dance. Plans are in the making now for future programs.

Each of the houses has a council this year. Members and alternates were chosen by the individual homerooms. Members of the Riley House Council are: Wendy Greene, Karen Keough, Kenneth Cummings, Linda Castoldi, Jeff Galke, Carol Howes, David Fox, Mike Ryan, Margie Rosenthal, Sue Averbuch, Jan Hogeborn, Miriam Kay, Nancy Ross, Randy Snider, and Rosalyn Taglienti. Bobby Epstein, Joyce Lenox, Steve Chansky, Denise Cormier, Fred Davis, Linda Kioff, Pamela Foley, Linda Rosen, George Ryan, Ellen Banner, Sheryl Sundborg, Sue Swartz, Larry Sharzer, Charlie Salter, and Joan Hoops, are the alternates.

OUTDOOR TYPE . . . Members of the Leader Corps participated in the Parents' Night program. The girls demonstrated tap dancing, modern dancing, fencing, basketball, badminton, apparatus and tumbling.

Girls are urged to support their houses in the various inter-house activities. Archery and tennis competition have been held recently.

The girls' after school sports program is also under way. Girls can now attend tap dancing, fencing, etc. The list of the activities is in the physical education office.

COLLEGE - WISE . . . A Cornell University representative visited NHS last week to speak to those students interested in the school. Hobart College, Boston College, and the University of Washington of St. Louis, Missouri were also represented.

Students planning to take the Scholastic Aptitude Tests in January should sign up for them now. No college boards will be given at this date.

AFTER CLASS . . . A new club dealing with the study of the Bible is organizing for the first time this year. Tusiata, the creative writing club, met last week. Members of the English Club are being selected this year. Students who are interested had to submit a paragraph. They will be chosen shortly. Because the French Club is so large this year, there will be several clubs according to houses.

HONOR STUDY . . . Honor Studies have been resumed in the various houses this year. Responsible students are put into study halls with no proctors.

Newtonite News In Short Takes

Mrs. Edith Mintz of Newtonville, has been elected a vice-president on the National Executive Board of the National Foundation for Muscular Dystrophy at its annual meeting held recently in New York. She has been active among women engaged in fund-raising and patient care programs sponsored by the Foundation in the Greater Boston area.

Dr. Isaac Asimov of 45 Greenough street, Newton, associate professor of Biochemistry at Boston University School of Medicine, was scheduled to host a color TV program for the Northern Section of the American Chemical Society over WHDH-TV.

Details may be obtained at 42 Boylston street, Boston.

Waban Woman Museum Hostess

Mrs. Richard B. Cattell of 227 Windsor Rd., Waban, will be a hostess on the Ladies' Committee of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts tour next Tuesday, Nov. 24.

It is one of a series to acquaint Museum members with the various departments, some of which are world famous. The tour on which Mrs. Cattell will be hostess will visit the department of Classical Art.

Saltonstall, who edged out Furecolo after a close race in 1954, is gearing himself for a knock-down return battle next autumn and in recent speeches has levelled a few sharp barbs at the Furecolo administration.

In anticipation of a hard fight of his own, Saltonstall up to now has remained entirely aloof from the skirmishing for the Republican nomination for President.

The Senator summed up his attitude toward the Presidential picture when answering questions put to him by college students the other night. He said he hopes that whatever Republican is nominated defeats whatever Democrat is nominated.

Praises 'News Roundup'
Newton Graphic:
Dear Editor,

May I commend you on your splendid "Roundup of Major News Events of the Week," which you printed in the November 12 edition of your paper.

I wish it were a regular feature of the Newton Graphic. It's a pleasant, digestible way to review the important news - an easy capsule to swallow. Think about it! Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Maurice Schweitzer

"HIGHEST ORDER" . . . "Practitioner of Medicine in the highest order" was how the Charles River District Medical Society described Dr. Fresenius Van Nuys, center, retired Weston physician nominated by the Massachusetts Medical Society as "General Practitioner of the Year." At left is Dr. Walter O. Blanchard of Newton, president of the Charles River District who presented the citation at a meeting at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, and Dr. William T. Van Huysen of Weston, right, state committee member.

Med. Society Honors Retired Dr. Van Nuys

The Charles River District Medical Society honored one of its own members, Dr. Fresenius Van Nuys of Weston, 83, recently named "General Practitioner of the Year" by the Massachusetts Medical Society, at a meeting this week in the Usen Auditorium of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

A citation by his colleagues recognizing Dr. Van Nuys as "a practitioner of medicine in the highest order" was presented to the retired physician by Dr. Walter O. Blanchard of Newton, president of the Charles River District society which includes physicians from Newton, Waltham, Weston, Wellesley and Needham.

The name of Dr. Van Nuys will be presented as the state's nominee for national "General Practitioner of the Year" at the American Medical Association convention in Dallas, Texas, early in December.

Dr. Van Nuys retired from active practice in January, 1955, after a career begun in 1907 following graduation from Harvard Medical School and internship at the Massachusetts General Hospital. He practiced in Weston until 1951. During World War I he served as Chief of Medicine at Chelsea Naval Hospital. He was Chief of Medicine at Waltham Hospital for many years.

His greatest interest in medicine was in cardiology. He established and conducted the heart clinic at Waltham Hospital where he was Chief of Medicine for many years; and collaborated with Dr. Samuel Levine of Newton Centre in preparation of several of his papers and textbooks. During World War I he served as Chief of Medicine at Chelsea Naval Hospital. For many years Dr. Van Nuys was chairman of the Board of Health in Weston and physician to the Weston school system.

John W. Whittemore of Newton, secretary-treasurer of the Eastern Commercial Travelers, Accident and Health Association, and Harold Waters, research consultant on Group Health Insurance for John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. led a discussion of "The Fee Problem in Health Insurance" at the district meeting.

Besides Dr. Blanchard, Newton physicians now serving as officers of the Charles River

Oak Hill Club In National Civic Contest

The Oak Hill Park Woman's Club this week received acknowledgment from Washington, D. C., of its official entry into the 1959-60 Community Achievement Contest, co-sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Sears Roebuck Foundation.

Mrs. Allan M. Sikorsky has been appointed contest chairman for the Oak Hill club.

The club will compete with thousands of other federated women's clubs throughout the country for a total of $65,000 in prizes, including a top prize of $10,000.

Contest rules specify that all cash awards won by the clubs must be spent for community benefit.

The contest places emphasis on working with the community through co-operation with local civic, governmental and social groups in planning and executing community projects.

District Medical Society include Dr. Gerald C. Garcelon, state public relations committee; Dr. Irvin G. Gahn, auditing committee; Dr. Theodore A. Potter, Dr. David B. Stearns, censor; Dr. Herbert Dunphy, nominating committee; and Dr. Joseph R. Cotter, Dr. Morris Courtiss, Dr. Dunphy, Dr. Daniel S. Ellis, Dr. Garcelon, Dr. Henry Godfrey, Dr. Lewis S. Pilcher, Dr. John Schulman, Dr. Stearns, and Dr. Lawrence Stellar, councilors, Dr. Edward J. Sawyer, committee on welfare problems, Massachusetts Medical Society.

Newton Boys' Club Faces Active 1959-60 Program

Executive Director Samuel Crocetti announces that over 275 boys have registered thus far for the fall and winter program at the Newton Boys' Club at 98 Dalby street, Newton.

Most of the activities scheduled within the club have been started, such as printing classes, woodwork and carpentry, boxing, weightlifting, howling, tumbling, photography, wrestling, model rail road club and a full games room program.

There is also a variety of games played on the outside playground area during the season, weather permitting and this phase of the program has been most effective to date.

Basketball teams in the three age groups which represent the club in the Newton City League will start practice on Tuesday, November 17 at the Hawthorne gym and will continue to do so on every Tuesday thereafter. The gym's use is made possible through the courtesy of the Recreation Department.

The Midget Basketball League (100 lbs.), one of the most popular activities for the small fry, will play its games every Saturday morning and as done last year, the All Star team will be entered in the Boston Boys Conference League.

Interclub competition with Area Boys Clubs, Y.M.C.A.'s, Community Centers, and Settlement Houses are being scheduled and contests with these organizations will get under way in the very near future.

Eastman's Flower Shop Observing 25th Anniversary

Eastman's Flower Shop in Newtonville is celebrating its silver anniversary this week—and they're saying it with flowers.

Al Eastman began his business on Nov. 17, 1934, at 346 Walnut street, Newtonville. Many years of pleasant business relationship with his customers, and his desire to please them, has resulted in a steady increase in sales year by year.

Today Eastman's sales volume is more than 20 times what it was the first year.

In May, 1958, Eastman's moved into a larger store just two doors away, which had been occupied by Hilliards Candy Store. Now they have one of the most beautiful flower shops in this part of Greater Boston, specializing in floral designs, decorations and wedding flowers.

In February, 1958, Eastman was joined by Carl Christianson, who for many years was with Ruane's. Now Al Eastman and Carl Christianson are in position to serve even better their many customers and friends.

Both invite their friends to join them in the anniversary celebration of 25 years in business, taking place from Nov. 17 to the 21st. A rose and bud vase will be awaiting all their friends as a memento of the visit and appreciation of the visit.

FAREWELL TO BISHOP given recently by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Newton-Wellesley area Greek Orthodox Church to Very Rev. Eusevius Stefanou who is leaving to assume new duties at Caracas, Venezuela. The farewell reception and tea was held at the church hall when the departing prelate was presented with a gift in appreciation for his efforts to found the new congregation. Shown above, left to right are Rev. Timotheos Andrews, librarian of the Greek Theological School in Brookline who is serving as temporary priest; the Bishop, Mrs. George Frangoulis of Wellesley, chairman of the Ladies' Auxiliary, and Dr. John Athans of Newton, chairman of the Steering Committee. Members of the ladies' committee are Mrs. Angelo Bassett of Waban, Mrs. George Speare of Newton, Mrs. James Deaneas of Weston, Mrs. John Athans of Newton and Mrs. Lee Loumos of Newton.

slie which will be played against Brookline High starting at 10:30 a.m. at Brookline Field, the Old Tech Field.

Some 6500 schoolboy football enthusiasts watched as Waltham's quarterback Larry Zeno took charge from the start and had the Tigers baffled with his ball-handling.

Newton fell behind early in the first quarter when sophomore Al Cosgrove scampered 50 yards on a perfectly-timed option play.

Zeno set up the second Crimson score by going 35 yards on a keeper. The score came on a pass into the end zone caught by Al Vitale.

Waltham's tally in the third period was Cosgrove after Zeno took the ball to the Newton 11. A plunge brought it to the four, and from there Cosgrove belted over the goal line through right tackle.

Here Zeno fooled everyone including his coach-father by faking a handoff and ran alone into the end zone for the extra two points.

Newton scored once in the second period and again in the third. Newton built up a drive in the final stanza which carried to the Waltham 16, but the fire went out and Newton yielded the ball on downs at the 17.

Both Tiger scores came on long breakaways. Newton cut the 12-0 deficit by scoring late in the second quarter. Ralph Guzzetti returned a punt 13 yards and Dave Donnor picked up five.

Newton took to the air and quarterback Dave Kerr tossed a short pass to fullback Dick Paaso at the Newton 40. He picked up three blockers, Bill Sellers, John O'Brien and Joe O'Donnell and went 58 yards for the TD. Connor's rush for the point was balked.

The Tigers' final score came just three plays after the kickoff which followed the third period touchdown by Waltham. Dick Carle returned the kick to the Newton 32. Paaso and Connor rushed for eight yards.

Connor, the 185-pound left-halfback, went off left tackle and cut out to the sideline for running man Gary Feeley at the Waltham 40 and from there had a clear track for the goal. Guzzetti was a yard short on a right end sweep for the extra two points.

Newton had 12 first downs and gained 216 yards in 43 carries. Waltham made only seven first downs, but carried 37 times for 226 yards. Newton completed five passes for 110 yards, and Waltham lost 12 yards on one pass attempt.

In punting, Waltham averaged 38 yards on six kicks, and Newton averaged 34 on two punts. Waltham lost 20 yards on penalties and Newton 60. Newton fumbled twice, against none for Waltham.

It was Waltham's ground game which out-guessed Newton. They had drilled to defend against an aerial bombardment by Larry Zeno but instead Waltham kept to the ground and actually out-rushed Newton.

Merchants In 30-0 Win Over Springfield

The Newton Merchants semi-pro grid team, sparked by newcomer halfback John Connerney, chalked up an easy 30 to 0 victory Sunday afternoon over the Springfield Merchants at Allison Park.

Connerney, who joined Newton only last week scored three of the four touchdowns on runs of nine, two and 15 yards. The fourth Newton tally was chalked up by Ray Acheson who went 46 yards with an intercepted pass.

The win gave Newton a four-and-four record on the season. The local eleven had its game with the Lowell Raiders cancelled at noon, but a hurry call to Springfield brought the western Mass. team hurrying over the Turnpike for a delayed 2:45 p.m. kickoff.

Early in the first period, Connerney's punt "unback" of 18 yards to the Springfield 42 paved the way for the first score. Bucky Walsh, Jack Bellevue and Connerney brought the ball to the nine and from there the speedy back slipped through the line for a TD.

Acheson's touchdown was the most spectacular from a spectator's viewpoint. Springfield quarterback Bill Bissette attempted a lateral to halfback Al LeDoux, but Acheson intercepted and scampered 40 yards for the score.

St. John's Fair Stressed Talent
 Talent was the theme of the fair held recently at St. John's Episcopal Church and there were some 30 communities to aid the general chairman, Mrs. Ward Funk and her assistant, Mrs. Kenneth O. Banner.
 Intriguing gifts for every member of the family were available. These had been made under the direction of Miss Emily P. Burdon and many members of the Parish who worked throughout the summer months.
 Mrs. Otto E. Aulanc, assisted by Mrs. Robert W. Brown, were in charge of artistic decorations. Mrs. E. Lee Gamble and Mrs. Eleanor Muth, with the assistance of Mrs. Herbert Murphy and Mrs. Edward Norton, held a colorful Tea on Friday and Saturday afternoons.

 Mr. and Mrs. C. Evan Johnson were chairmen of the luncheon that was served.
 Mr. and Mrs. John R. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Church had a lobster newburg dinner, with all the fixings, for those who made reservations.
 For those who have a green thumb, Miss Eleanor Bartlett and Mrs. Orvil F. Hagaman had a variety of garden plants. George Briggs and George L. Hicks directed a galaxy of midway attractions. Mrs. Robert Irwin and J. Philip Berquist showed movies for the children.
 Committee members included Mrs. Wilbur J. King, will, secretary; J. Philip Berquist, treasurer; Orvil F. Hagaman, advance ticket chairman; Mrs. George L. Hicks and Mrs. Leon Slayton, publicity.
 Still other chairmen: Mrs. Minnie Clark, Mrs. Albert Savage, Mrs. Robert Burkhardt, Mrs. Stuart Briggs, Mrs. Florence Dodkin, Mrs. Eaton Webber, Miss Joan Gordon, Mrs. Riley Hampton, Mrs. Harold Rice, Mrs. Dominic Strazzulla, Mrs. Franc Ladner, Mrs. Harold Dixon, Mrs. Richard Reynolds, Miss Cheryl Wooten, Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. T. Arnold Joyce and Miss Mabel Chase.

DOMINANT ROLES... played by Newton men at the 28th annual conference of the Council of Jewish Federation and Welfare Funds last week in Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco. Leaders of the Combined Jewish appeal are, left to right: Arnold R. Cutler of 155 Berkin St.; Lewis H. Weinstein of 56 Varick Rd., and Dr. Philip W. Lown of 15 Elizabeth Circle. Mr. Cutler discussed methods of developing effective endowment and bequest programs; Mr. Weinstein talked on Large City Budgeting, and Dr. Lown on "The Realities of Jewish Education in America." More than 2,000 Jewish leaders from all sections of the United States, Canada and South America attended the conference.

didate in an open primary. Meanwhile, a number of prospective Democrats are awaiting developments to determine the likely division of votes in the district before making their moves.
 Newton Democrats considered potential candidates for the seat Gibbs will relinquish include Alderman Joseph G. Bradley, Alderman Leo M. Cannon, runnerup to Gibbs in the mayoralty race, Lawrence C. Sullivan, prominent labor leader and vice chairman of the Democratic City Committee, and Attorney George Cahill of Chestnut Hill.
 In the Brighton end of the district sizing up the Democratic picture are John F. Melia, Democratic candidate against Gibbs last year; Representative Robert Q. Crane, and John C. Cort, vice president of the State AFL-CIO and a candidate for the House in Brighton last year.
 Representative Crane, it is understood, will enter the contest only in the event that Melia decides not to make the fight.
 A drawback to the situation from the standpoint of Newton Democrats is that the alignment of political strength in the district is such that a Newtonite is usually nominated as the Republican candidate and a Brighton resident as the Democratic candidate.
 While it is generally agreed that a Newton Democrat would have the best chance of wresting the seat away from the Republicans, the bulk of the Democratic strength is in Brighton.
 If there are three or four Democratic candidates in the field from Newton and only two from Brighton, there is little question but that the Democratic endorsement would go to the Brighton end of the district.
 That is why Newton Democrats are proceeding slowly and have adopted a wait-and-see attitude, especially since Gibbs does not plan to submit his resignation for another five or six weeks.
 Under the procedure which is followed, Senate President John E. Powers will fix a date for the election immediately after Gibbs formally resigns from his senatorial post. The final election cannot come earlier than nine weeks after the time Powers issues the order for the election.
 Since Gibbs is not planning to resign until the end of December or early in January, it would mean that Newton would not be represented in the State Senate for at least the first two months of 1960.

Newton Students Undergo 3 Yr. Cigarette Smoking Test

When are smoking habits formed? What are the influences that lead to establishment of such habits? If young people smoke, do they indulge because their parents smoke, or their friends, or for some other reason?

A statistical study seeking answers to these and other questions concerned with cigarette smoking habits is being conducted by the Department of Epidemiology of the Harvard School of Public Health among Junior and Senior High School students in Newton.
 More than 7000 students from the seventh through the senior years in the Newton schools have filled out initial questionnaires prepared by the staff of the Department of Epidemiology under the direction of Dr. Eva J. Salber, Research Associate in Epidemiology. This entire survey, which will involve follow-up interviews with a selected group of students and parents, will extend over a three-year period.
 The survey is being conducted, Dr. Salber reported, with the cooperation of the Newton School Department.
 Categories in the questionnaires filled in by the junior high and senior high students separates them in to three groups: those who have never smoked; those who have smoked and have stopped; and those who now smoke.
 Beyond the statistical evidence seeking out the length of time smokers have smoked and the extent of their smoking, the Harvard survey also seeks to relate the habit, or lack of habit, to book reading (apart from class assignments), television viewing (the average number of hours during the week and over weekends), driving habits (for senior high school students) and extra-curricular activities (clubs, dances, athletics, etc.).
 Dr. Salber said that after the questionnaires have been tabulated and evaluated — an interval of about one year — members of the Department staff will conduct personal interviews with a number of selected students and their parents from each of the three groups.
 Though no direct attempt is being made to link the cigarette smoking habit with the onset or the prevalence of lung cancer, two questions deal with this topic: (1) Have you ever heard that lung cancer may be caused by smoking? (2) Do you believe that smoking causes lung cancer?
 Dr. Salber's assistant in the smoking survey is Mrs. Mag-

Where You Save DOES Make a Difference
 AH THIS CLOVER IS WONDERFUL STUFF!
 Want to be "living in clover" someday?
 By Don Herold
 A dollar hardly seems worth saving. But you just put a few of them regularly every week in Watertown Federal Savings, and someday you'll be living in 4-leaf clovers up to here.
 Most people who live in clover, planted it, fertilized it and waited patiently for it to grow.
 The "fertilizer" at Watertown Federal is provided by those good dividends, compounded twice a year. These help speed the growth process.

Cong. Curtis Reports On Korean Situation

By LAURENCE CURTIS

SEOUL, Nov. 18.—The five members of the Far East Subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee worked yesterday on Foreign Economic Aid. Today was spent on Military Aid.

We met bright and early at the U. S. Military Headquarters and we were told by the U. S. Commanding General about the Military and Strategic situation of South Korea.

We were taken on a visit to the front lines along the Armistice Demarcation Line between North and South Korea. Under the agreement there is a No-Man's-Land of 1000 or more yards separating the two lines. Although this is not yet a fighting front the forces on each side are very much on the alert and are prepared to man their battle stations and bring up their supporting guns and vehicles at a moment's notice.

Two large Army helicopters took us to the front. They were banana shaped and each has two rotors or windmills.

They are mighty useful, but not particularly comfortable with little seats along two sides of the cabin facing each other. The noise and vibration are intense which is the reason why these machines are sometimes referred to as "Coffee Grinders". We went from point to point by helicopter and jeep, making five helicopter stops in all. One of these was almost on top of a mountain on a little pad that looked the size of a postage stamp surrounded by steep slopes. Quite exciting.

The Army thoughtfully arranged to let the Congressmen meet military personnel from their own state. I met Second Lieutenant Joseph C. Clancy of 398 Westham street, West Newton, and other Massachusetts men from Chicopee and Lowell, outside of the 10th congressional district. I sat at lunch with these three, and they took good care of me. All the men whom we saw appeared vigorous, alert and well trained. This was no quiet Army post but the next thing to a fighting front.

On one hill we had an excellent view across the Demilitarized Zone to enemy-held territories. As we looked at the communist North Koreans, they undoubtedly were looking at us from their observation post on another hill across the line.

American troops hold part of the front line and we visited both the American and Korean sectors. Some Koreans are infiltrated into our platoons, both as replacements and as men, who would be valuable should fighting break out in being able to spot enemy infiltrators and interview those taken captive. The Korean forces also impressed us as being at a high state of proficiency and alertness.

We viewed a practice alert. Alarm sirens sounded, colored signal rockets were fired at various points, soldiers ran out to occupy their trenches and strong points and the tanks and other vehicles soon streamed into view from further back of the lines. Those troops certainly are ready to go.

College Of Sacred Heart To Present Play Tonight

Freshman members of the Dramatic Club of Newton College of the Sacred Heart will perform "The Clown Who Ran Away," Conrad Seller's comedy for children tonight, Thursday evening, November 19, at 7:30 in the Newton Playhouse.

They will repeat the performance on Sunday afternoon, November 22, at the Billerica Memorial High School Auditorium to benefit St. Teresa's Church, Billerica.

As the runaway circus clown, Dodo, Barbara (Penny) McCarthy of Pittsburgh will help a dollmaker rescue his dolls from "a terrible robber." Kathleen O'Reilly of Highland Park, Ill., will play the robber, Rudolph Bernard Boo, and Karen Morley of Larchmont, N. Y., as his servant and sidekick Ugly, will assist him in his plan to kidnap the dolls for a million dollar ransom. Jane Sullivan of Springfield will play Mr. Frumpkins, the best dollmaker in the whole world, and Mary Susan Keane of Scarsdale will appear as Andrew, the next best. A talking horse, Gladys, played by Mary Elizabeth Tierney of Brooklyn, will bring the robbery to a happy solution.

Others in the cast will include Katharine Nugent of Larchmont, N. Y., Carole Bourrier of St. Boniface, Manitoba, Canada, Dorothy Raymond of Winchester, Judith Ann DeMarco of Watertown, Mary Ann Droney of Cambridge and Elena Ryan of Chicago.

Miss Joan David, in charge of dramatics at Newton, directed the play. Miss David, an alumna of Newton College, made her professional studies in the Department of Speech and Drama at the Catholic University of America. She has done summer stock at the Priscilla Beach Theatre in Plymouth, and this summer played Joan of Arc in Anouilh's "The Lark" at Catholic University.

Patricia Winkler of Rockville Center, N. Y., president of the Dramatic Club, will have charge of the technical direction. Her crew includes Margaret Carroll of Riverdale, N. Y., secretary of the Dramatic Club; Susan P. Costigan of Bay Shore, N. Y.; Maureen Lambert of Hempstead, N. Y.; Katrina Slater

School Committee Roles Explained By Mrs. Oncley

Mrs. Genevieve Oncley, member of the League of Women Voters and recently elected for a fifth term as a member of the School Committee, said "a community is judged pretty much by its schools," at a special combined unit meeting of the Newton League of Women Voters at the Newton Highlands Workshop.

"As an officer of the state," Mrs. Oncley said, "a School Committee must interpret public needs, and try to understand and accept reasonable new school roles."

(Members of School Committees in Massachusetts are required by Section 37, Chapter 71 of the General Laws of the Commonwealth to set school policies.)

Although set up by state law, each School Committee, and there are 365 school systems in Mass., must formulate its own rules as to its procedure, and Mrs. Oncley went on to say, there are "too few written rules and regulations for reference" for new committees.

This could create a serious situation, she said, if, as is possible in many communities (including Newton), an entirely new group were to be elected. "That there are problems relating to our educational system," Mrs. Oncley would not deny. The greatest common factor in almost all cities, she said, is the demand for teachers increases, the strain on existing teacher-training institutions may inadvertently result in lowering of standards to accommodate the number of teachers who will be needed.

"Secondly, as the demand for teachers increases, there may come into existence institutions hastily conceived and poorly supported claiming the right and the capacity for preparing teachers for our classrooms.

"A third fact is that salary schedules in most Mass. communities are based upon degrees and courses. If the hooves school committees therefore, to make sure that degrees and courses which teachers offer for advancement should be bona fide, having been granted by institutions which have been accredited."

The first "Report on Accreditation," prepared under Mrs. Oncley's direction, was published in May, 1958 and has had two revisions since. This work has received both national and state recognition. A recent publication, "American Degree Mills," focuses national attention on this problem.

Following her presentation, Mrs. Oncley answered questions raised by League members. These covered subjects such as autonomy in the Newton schools, books, and teacher preparation.

Mrs. Harvey Karp, local Education Chairman, who arranged the meeting, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Isidor Slotnik, League President, presided.

Refreshments prior to the meeting were served by the Hospitality Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. James Lewis. She was assisted by Mrs. Lyman Banker, Mrs. Aaron Blauer, Mrs. Paul Bronstein, Mrs. Henry Adelson, and Mrs. Samuel David.

of modern education, she said, is communication or the lack of good use of areas of communication available.

Mrs. Oncley described the organizations on both national and state levels which are of assistance to School Boards. Among them are the National School Board Association, Mass. Association of School Committees, Mass. Council on Teacher Education, Mass. Council on Public Schools, and Mass. Department of Education. Most of them are relatively new organizations—the National School Board Association is going into its 20th year.

Newton School Committee members participate in studies and activities with these and various community groups. In Newton, Mrs. Oncley has worked on a Merit Pay Study with Newton teachers and staff representatives.

As chairman of the Teacher Education Committee of the Mass. Assoc. of School Committees, to which position she was appointed six years ago, Mrs. Oncley directed work related to studying, interpreting and communicating the changes in teacher certification laws. After this study, it became apparent to Mrs. Oncley and her group that much needed to be done on accreditation studies.

"Accreditation should be, and is, high on the list of concern of school committee members in Mass," she stated, "first as the demand for teachers increases, the strain on existing teacher-training institutions may inadvertently result in lowering of standards to accommodate the number of teachers who will be needed."

ROBERT E. SEGAL

Fair Housing Meeting Hears Robert Segal

Robert E. Segal, executive director of the Jewish Community Council, was a leader of a two-day seminar last weekend on fair housing practices, sponsored by the Human Relations Center of Boston University.

Mr. Segal described the meeting as a "graduate level seminar for persons active in local fair housing practices committees."

Eleven members of the Newton committee were in attendance at the meeting, which was held at the BU conference center at North Andover, Mass.

There are now fifteen housing committees in the Greater Boston area. Each committee had been asked to prepare a case history of a specific problem which it had faced. These formed the basis of discussion for small study groups, which then came up with practical suggestions for dealing with problems of organization and community relations.

The Newton Fair Housing Practices Committee was represented by Co-Chairmen Walter Jennings, and A. Donn Kesselheim; Mrs. Herbert Kern; Mrs. Mary Berger; Mr. Edward Hickey, Jr.; Mr. William Jones, Dr. Morton Rubin, Mr. Samuel Turner, Mrs. John Scammon, and Mrs. C. Leon Hopper, Jr.

'Orbitarama' Starts Sat. At Centenary Methodist

Clever decorations and signs depicting "out of this world" signs will feature "Orbitarama," the two-day fair to be held this weekend, Nov. 20-21, at the Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale.

Mrs. Lawrence B. Smith is general chairman, and final preparations were made at a meeting of the planning committee Tuesday night.

Activities for the "Future Astronauts" and "Lunar-ties" (children) will occupy the lower level of the educational wing of the church. There will be movies, games, grab, popcorn, tonic, balloons, space hats, silhouettes and prizes for children of elementary school age.

"The Rocket Man," a comedy film, will be shown at 4 p.m. Friday and at 2 p.m. Saturday, and jeep and carousel rides will be available in the parking lot, weather permitting.

On the main floor will be stationed the C. M. Trans-missile Base (post office), and tables or booths for Nuclear Energy (candy), Spacaprons (aprons), Moonbeams (dolls), Inter-planetary (plants), Galaxy Jets (kitchenware), Sewlar Spot (handwork), the Brightest Star (Christmas items), 1200 Attend-

Auburndale, attended by some 1200 persons.

Sen. Donald L. Gibbs, Mayor-elect of Newton, called the guest of honor "one of the best police officers that this force has ever had" and referred to the testimonial as "a tribute that we in this city will never forget."

Capt. McMullen said the testimonial was the "most heart-warming experience for me. From the bottom of my heart, thank you very much."

The principal speaker was Middlesex County, District Attorney John J. Droney who hailed police officers "as the foundation, the bulwark, the Atlas upon whose mighty shoulders the peace and security of our families rest."

Droney said the interdependence of police, citizens and the district attorney's office is of vital importance in the war on crime.

Within the past six months, the new district attorney said, observers have witnessed convictions of crimes "never anticipated in the Commonwealth."

He cited the peril to youngsters "who become addicted to narcotics before their parents are aware anything is wrong" and said loan sharks have beaten their victims "because they couldn't pay exorbitant debts incurred from betting on horses and dogs."

There will be refreshments and dancing at Post 101 located on Lexington street, Woburn, at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 21.

The Ways and Means Committee under the leadership of the County Jr. Vice-Commander Leo F. Malloy have made arrangements for a gala evening: Dept. officers George E. Walker, Commander; James H. O'Meara and Howard E. Schreiber, Vice Commanders; Edith Smclair, Executive Committee — Woman; and County Officers — William F. Hogan, Commander; John V. Miraglia, Sr. Vice Commander; Leo F. Malloy, Jr. Vice Commander; Herbert J. Daley, Treasurer; Harold J. Cunningham, Adjutant, will be on hand to meet and greet the new post officers.

A Grand March of Commanders and their escorts will be led by C. C. Bill Hogan.

The Thunderbirds of Post 19 will stage an exhibition of the form that won them the American Legion Dept. of Mass. Drum and Bugle Corps Championship.

Some 100 friends and well-wishers gathered recently at a Newton Corner restaurant to honor Patrolman Timothy (Tim) Riley of 12 Melville avenue, who retired after 39 years on the Newton Police Department.

He was presented with a purse of $222.

Senator Donald L. Gibbs spoke briefly and Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., was represented by Leigh Packer, Newton Civil Defense Director.

The testimonial was arranged by Dr. Frank Jassett who served as toastmaster, and members of the Lires Club.

Asteroids (white elephants), Refueling Center (food), and "Alice the Analyst," Miss Alice Calden, who will analyze handwriting. Also on the main floor will be a nursery where baby-sitting service will be available, and a first-aid station.

In the Lunar-Lounge, where there will be comfortable chairs for relaxation, there will be an art exhibit by several of Centenary's artists.

On Friday, from 5:30-7:30, a ham supper will be served to the public by Mrs. Otto Ernst and Mrs. Girdler J. Swett, and their committee. Reservations may be made by calling BI 4-9436.

On Saturday, the Lunar-Lounge (snack bar) will offer a varied menu by Willard G. Hatch and a committee of men.

The final event of Orbitarama will be a separate program on Saturday at 8 p.m. "Musica" will feature "Centenary's Satellites."

The program will include a group of orchestral numbers arranged by Mrs. J. Wendell Yeo; instrumental trios presented by family groups including the Deats, the Gonyers and the Yeo's; a trumpet solo by Ronnie Sylvester; a barber-shop-type number of men of the choir; vocal trio by girls of the choir; and the finale of Centenary's three choirs and orchestra combined. The instrumental director is Mrs. J. Wendell Yeo, and the choral director, Miss Loryne Koebele.

County Council Legion Cmdrs. Ball On Sat.

The Middlesex County Council of the American Legion invites newly-installed Commanders and their guests of the 72 Legion Posts in the County Council to attend an evening of festivities in their honor.

There will be refreshments and dancing at Post 101 located on Lexington street, Woburn, at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 21.

The Ways and Means Committee under the leadership of the County Jr. Vice-Commander Leo F. Malloy have made arrangements for a gala evening: Dept. officers George E. Walker, Commander; James H. Temple Sinai Schedules Two Weekend Affairs

Services honoring the teachers and choir of Temple Sinai in Brookline will be held tomorrow, and on Sunday morning Correction Commissioner George F. McGrath will be a guest of the Temple Brotherhood.

Dr. Beryl D. Cohen, rabbi of Temple Sinai, will conduct the 8:15 p.m. services tomorrow and will speak on "What Money Can Not Buy." Sharing the service will be Prof. Julian L. Solinger, chairman of the Temple Committee on Education and Walter M. Cobe, president of Temple Sinai.

The Sabbath eve service is dedicated to Miss Esther D. Starr, principal of the Temple Religious School since its founding 25 years ago. Mrs. Evelyn Borofsky-Roskin, director of music of the Temple, members of the choir, and the faculty of the religious school.

Comm. McGrath will speak on "Delinquency and Crime" Sunday morning at 9:45.

Participants in the program include Rabbi Cohen and Harry Wheeler, president of the Temple Brotherhood. The speaker will be introduced by George Sparks, vice president of the Brotherhood, and chairman of the program committee.

Other officers of the Brotherhood are: Melvin Creedman and Theodore Lapidus, vice-presidents; Ira L. Grishaver, treasurer; Nathaniel H. Oser, assistant treasurer; Herbert Abramson, recording secretary; Alvin B. Caplan and Marshall Ross, corresponding secretaries.

Thrift Shop

The Brookline-Brighton-Newton Chapter of Mizrahi Organization will hold their annual Fall Thrift Shop Sale on Monday through Thursday, December 7th to 11th, at 111 Washington Street, Brookline Village, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Keenie Goodman, Joseph Goldberg and Louis Gellar.

The money raised will be used to provide for the displaced children and other projects in Israel.

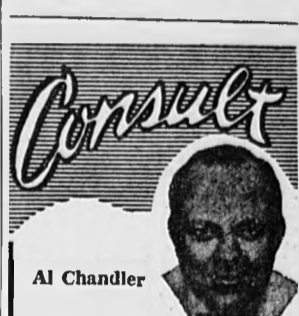

Don Bosco In 36-0 Romp Over Our Lady's Hi

Our Lady's High grid squar ran into a rugged foe in Don Bosco Trade Saturday afternoon in a Catholic Suburban League game at the East Boston Stadium, and the final score was 36 to 0.

It left Our Lady's without a win in five starts this season, and clinched the League title for Don Bosco.

Gene Morrison scored three touchdowns and Milt Johnson added two more points, as the league-leaders went on to an easy victory. Two TDs were direct results of Our Lady's fumbles, and one came on an intercepted pass.

Don Bosco scored in each period, eight in the first, six in the second, 14 more in the third quarter, and the final eight points in the last period.

Ward 5 GOP Committee Makes Plans

The first meeting of the Ward 5 Republican Committee in preparation for the coming national election year was held recently at the home of Rep. Irene K. Thresher.

Chairman Dorothy H. Reed announced that precinct captains had been appointed for all of the seven precincts in that ward and that precinct registration chairmen had also been secured.

New associate members of the Ward 5 Committee elected at this meeting were: Alderman Theodore D. Mann, Herbert Leyton, Paul Ronty, Mrs. Kenneth Rogers, Elliot Sneider, Mrs. Dorothy Silver, Miss Rhoda Garrison, Arnold Garrison, Alexander Welch, Pierre Belliveau, Blake A. Tennant, former assistant Atty. Gen. George Michaels, George E. Eames, Jr., and Mrs. Anthony Chalkowski.

Rep. Thresher reported on the results of the GOP Finance Drive recently held in Massachusetts as well as to

Lasell Junior College Plans Concert Series

Initial concert of this year's Lasell Junior College concert series scheduled for Monday evening, Nov. 23, at 8 p.m. in Winslow Hall on the college campus in Newton will feature Bernard Peliffer, international celebrated exponent of serious jazz, and his trio.

Considered as the most significant European jazz pianist, French born and trained Bernard Peliffer has achieved even greater recognition in this country, most recently at the Newport Jazz Festival where for two consecutive years he has stolen the show from such featured report on important matters of legislation that had been passed by the General Court this past session.

Also reporting to the Ward 5 group was City Committee Chairman, Carleton P. Merrill, who outlined some of the programs that the ward and city committees would undertake this coming year.

The best in the exacting field. They tune, repair, rebuild, and refinish the cases of any type pianos and even are able to take the most neglected instrument and put it in first class condition and looking like new. Any piano once brought up to top standards in this manner is sure to be a valuable instrument ready to give long years of fine service with a minimum of care.

Louis Haffermehl in addition to his piano tuning also is a fine pianist and has a three-piece orchestra which plays for special occasions.

But the chief wish of the Haffermehls is to take any piano and remake it into the fine instruments it was designed to be in the first place.

Musicians all agree that pianos should be tuned twice a year to keep them at their best, but many home owners neglect to have this essential service for years at a time. The Haffermehls are ready and happy to correct this kind of carelessness.

Actually neglect of a piano is not a matter of mere whim. For many home owners, even the most well-to-do, the piano is the most expensive individual piece for home use that they buy in a lifetime, and it certainly is worth keeping in top condition. A call to BI 4-1501 will bring this result.

RECENT DEATHS

Ida Kaufman
Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Stanetsky Memorial Chapel in Brookline for Mrs. Ida Kaufman, 65, of 28 Algonquin road, Chestnut Hill, who died suddenly of a heart attack at her home Monday.

Mrs. Kaufman was the wife of Rubin Kaufman, clothing manufacturer. She also leaves a brother, all living in New York City.

Margaret M. Connolly
Mrs. Margaret M. (MacNeil) Connolly, 49, of 93 Madison avenue, Newton, died of a heart attack in her sleep last Thursday.

She was a native of Canada and had lived in Newton more than 30 years. She was the widow of George F. Connolly. She is survived by three sons, John H. of Newton and Bernard J. and William F., of Springfield.

Burial in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham, followed funeral services held at the T. J. Lyons Funeral Home in West Newton.

Nelson Tousley
Private funeral services were held for Nelson E. Tousley of 8 Irving road, Waban, who died last Saturday.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Edna (Cornwell) Tousley, a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Nordbeck of Waban, a son, Richard E. Tousley of Cohasset, and a sister, Miss Helen S. Tousley of New Brunswick, N. J.

Anna M. Conway
Mrs. Anna M. (Underwood) Conway of 269 Church street, Newton, died Sunday in her 80th year. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Eliot Church of Newton.

Mrs. Conway was the widow of Charles J. Conway. She leaves two daughters, Isabelle and Helen Conway of Newton; two sons, Charles E., of Newton Centre, and William J., of Madison, Conn., and nine grandchildren.

Daniel J. Wilkers
Rev. Eugene Meyer of the Auburndale Congregational Church officiated Monday afternoon at the Waltham chapel at funeral services for Daniel J. Wilkers of 32 Woodbine terrace, Auburndale.

He was the husband of Mrs. Dorothy H. (Desmond) Wilkers and had lived in Auburndale for 43 years. He was a native of Camden, N. Y.

Mr. Wilkers, a Navy veteran of World War I, was a member of Newton Post 48, American Legion. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

In addition to his widow he leaves one daughter, Mrs. Robert H. Hudson of Auburndale, two grandchildren, three great grandchildren and three sisters.

Rose O'Connell
Funeral services were held Friday for Mrs. Rose O'Connell, 83, of 31 Miller road, Newton Centre, with a solemn requiem mass in Sacred Heart Church. Burial was in Mt. Benedict Cemetery, Boston.

Mrs. O'Connell, widow of John O'Connell, died at Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a short illness. She formerly lived in Cambridge but moved three years ago to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Ralph L. Countie in Newton Centre. She also leaves two grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Helen E. Dunphy
Mrs. Helen T. (Davis) Dunphy, 62, of 6 Adella avenue, West Newton, a native of this city, died last week after a short illness.

The funeral was held Friday with a high mass of requiem at St. Bernard's Church, followed by interment in St. Mary's Cemetery in Needham. She leaves her husband, William T., four daughters, Mrs. Robert O'Donnell, Mrs. Jerome Kellner of Concord, a teacher in the Wayland schools; Miss Barbara Dunphy, and Miss Janet Dunphy, a teacher at Boston College School of Nursing and one son, William T. Dunphy Jr. of West Newton.

Ralph O. Feeley
Ralph O. Feeley of 7 Orchard street, Newton, died Sunday at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital after a long illness, and funeral services were held yesterday. A solemn requiem high Mass was offered at Our Lady's Church and interment followed in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. He was 48.

He was a native of New Bedford and leaves his mother, Mrs. Evelyn (MacNeil) Feeley, and three brothers, Kenneth of Newton, and Paul and Warren of Los Angeles, Calif.

Brookline Has Edge Over Newton In '59 Grid Classic

Probe Fires At Burr School Files

The state fire marshal's office has joined Newton fire and police investigators in robbing an attempt to burn records in the files in three rooms at the Burr School in suburbale.

The custodian, William J. Burke of 90 Westland avenue, West Newton, smelled smoke at 8:35 p.m. Thursday and alerted the police and fire departments.

A check of the school showed that paper had been set afire in files in Rooms 5, 6 and 7 of the second floor and a poster was charred on the door of the office of Principal Charlotte Fogeron.

The fires burned out after oxygen in the closed drawers was used up, officials reported.

Entrance to the school was made after 5:55 p.m. via the rear escape.

Chief Frederick A. Perkins, called the state fire marshal's office for assistance in investigating. Assistant Fire Chief Harvey E. Preble, Lt. Lawrence N. Clark and Police Sgt. Walter D. Drew aided in the probe.

One of the oldest schoolboy gridiron rivalries in the state—Newton vs. Brookline—will be resumed at 10:30 a.m. Thanksgiving Day at Brookline High Field. This is the 62nd renewal of the rivalry between the Orange, and the Crimson and Red football teams.

Newton definitely has the edge on the number of games played thus far with 30 wins, 26 losses and there were six ties. Over that long span of games Newton has amassed a total of 772 points against Brookline; the latter has scored only 582 points against the Garden City boys.

Although the Newton Tigers will be slight underdogs, form should be tossed out the window in these emotional, sectional rivalries. It should be rated as a tossup.

On the season, Newton has won four games, lost three for a percentage of 57.1. Newton scored 92 points this season, and had 94 points scored against.

Brookline also won four games, lost three and had one tie, for a percentage of 56.3. But Brookline's high-scoring eleven has a total of 148 points, against 80 scored by its opponents.

The percentage basis would give Newton a slight edge, but that only tells part of the story.

On Oct. 10 Brookline High trounced Newton 22 to 0.

One week later Brookline tangled with Brookline and the game ended in an 8 to 8 squeaker. Brookline trailed until the last period and then scored on a 43-yard drive.

Here are a couple of more comparisons: Newton beat Arlington, and Arlington beat Brookline; Waltham beat Newton, and Brookline swamped Waltham. So figures don't mean too much.

Thus far this season Coach Bob Malone's boys have edged Everett 15 to 12, beat Cranston, R.I., 19-6, lost to Brockton, 22-0, lost to Watertown 28-3, edged Arlington 8-6, beat Medford 30-0 and last week dropped a close 20-12 game to Waltham.

Malone's scouts have told him, and the record shows it, that Brookline has a well-drilled team, with a snappy backfield, and they can score. Coach Harry Downes' team are always well-drilled.

In its last outing, Brookline swamped a tough Saugus team 30 to 6.

The Tigers have found that their best attack is on the ground, so Coach Malone has been working on basic football instructions in his drills this past week.

Riley Advises Motorists Get 1960 Stickers

Registrar Clement A. Riley this week reminded Massachusetts motorists that their 1959 registration plates must be used for 1960.

The use of these plates will be validated by a windshield sticker.

Urging an early procurement of the sticker, the Registrar stated that more than 1,800,000 registrations must be processed in order that drivers can legally use the highways on January 1st.

Motorists are urged to avoid delay; go to the nearest registry office and get that 1960 registration windshield sticker.

Ye Olde Thanksgiving Still Emerges Despite Atomic Age, Moon Hits

Church Services, Grid Classics, Happy Feasts Hold Annual Spotlight

Family reunions and bountiful turkey dinners will mark the observance of Thanksgiving here which will follow closely the tradition inaugurated more than three centuries ago by the stoic Pilgrim fathers.

One problem facing local housewives as they plan their holiday menus, which didn't confront the Pilgrims in the 1600's, is whether to include the customary tangy cranberry sauce in the feast they will spread upon the family dining table.

A spot check indicated that most of the feminine dinner planners, with whom the decision will rest, are now convinced that Massachusetts cranberries and cranberry sauce are completely pure and wholesome and that the cranberry will occupy its customary place on the family festive board.

Only a small percentage, it appeared, are still doubtful and will omit cranberries in any form from the Thanksgiving dinners they prepare.

In a sense this will be an old-fashioned Thanksgiving in an atomic age when the only remaining unexplored frontiers

Courage Surmounts Wheel-Chair Local Student, Victim Of Muscular Dystrophy Wins Top Poetry Prize

A Newton schoolboy feels that he has much to be thankful for as Thanksgiving Day approaches, despite his condition from crippling muscular dystrophy.

Grumblers, groaners, the dissatisfied, the discouraged, the weak can derive considerable moral stature and the highest kind of courage from a contemplation of the young local student and his outlook on life.

Paul is confined to a wheel chair. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Kahn, of 34 Halycon Road. The youngster has risen mentally, and spiritually, from the chair and has been occupied with a number of useful interests.

He was this week awarded a complete set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia for his poetic composition, "The Dream of Darkness". He won the top prize from a large field of entries from coast to coast.

The contest was sponsored by Muscular Dystrophy News, a national house organ of Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America.

December Issue Out Next Week Happy Holiday Fare In 'Suburbia Today'

As we look forward to the "just around the corner" holiday season, the colorful "Suburbia Today" magazine, issued next week with this newspaper, gives our readers their gifts in the December issue.

Dr. Ralph Sockman, minister of the National Radio pulpit since 1928, digs deep into his Christmas stocking of understanding and takes out gifts for everybody, gifts which he looks forward to each year. He tells our readers about the kind of Christmas he wants.

Dr. Sockman entered his first parish 42 years ago. He is still there.

Famed poetess Phyllis McGinley sends along a gift for Suburbia everywhere. She writes a tribute to her suburban town—but in slinging of the many acts of kindness, friendship and love that she finds among her neighbors, she is saluting Suburbia in every part of the United States — this community included.

A present for readers who are still trying to find a reliable way to solve the baby-sitter problem, an article in the December "Suburbia Today" —SUBURBIA—

Committee Favors Home Care Program in Newton

The final report of the Home Medical Care Committee of the Community Council which recommended that a Home Care Program be established in Newton was approved by the Governing Board of the Community Council at a recent special meeting of the Board, Harry L. Walen, President, announced today.

The committee, headed by Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, was organized last December to study the need for a Home Care Program in Newton. The committee, after considerable study, concluded there is a need for a Home Care Program in Newton, especially to help meet the health requirements of elderly persons. The committee also found that many already existing community resources could be coordinated under a Home Medical Care Program to better meet these needs.

The study committee further recommended that a Newton Home Care Program be administered by the Newton Board of Health since this is a logical place for its location and since funds from outside of Newton may be made available to the Board of Health for this purpose.

Also included in the recommendations of the committee was a provision that the Director of the Newton Board of Health may request the Community Council to form various advisory committees which will deal with common problems.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Special Senate Elections To Reveal Political Trend

Two special elections for seats in the State Senate, which will be held early next year in the Greater Boston area, should provide fairly substantial evidence as to how the political tide is running in Massachusetts.

The results of the battles for the offices being vacated by Senators Donald L. Gibbs of Newton and Peter M. McCormack of Brookline will be studied and analyzed for what they may reveal in political trends.

Gibbs will resign from the Senate at the end of the year.

College Who's Who Lists Miss Judith Smith

Miss Judith A. Smith of 66 Ashton avenue, Newton Centre, a senior in the Liberal Arts College of Drew University at Madison, N. J., will be listed in the 1959-60 "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Miss Smith, a graduate of Newton High School, is the daughter of Raymond W. Smith.

Selection for recognition in this publication is based upon the student's scholarship; her participation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities; her citizenship and service to the school; and her promise of future usefulness.

She is Editor-in-Chief of the Acorn, Senior Class Social Chairman, Stewardship Chairman of the Student Church, and a member of ECAC. She has previously been active in the Foresters.

RECEIVES FRENCH MEDAL—E. Andre Van Haelst, right, of Newton, is congratulated by French Consul-General Baron Charles de Pampelonne after being awarded the Commercial Medal of Merit at exercises held at French Consulate in Boston.

Second French Honor For Newton Resident

The French government has once again signally honored a Newton resident, E. Andre Van Haelst, of 147 Oliver road.

Mr. Van Haelst, a resident of this city for 20 years, was awarded the Commercial Medal of Merit, by French Consul-General Baron Charles de Pampelonne at ceremonies held in Boston last week.

Recognition was given the Newton man for great service rendered to the cause of French commercial expansion in this part of the United States. He is the New England sales manager of the Joseph Gainau Co., import divisions of Brown Forman, commercial representatives for French wines and champagnes.

A former agent of the French consular services, first in New York and then in Boston, Mr. Van Haelst has already received the medal of the "Reconnaissance Francaise" in 1946, for outstanding services rendered to French war prisoners.

He also is the president of to French groups in Boston, "The Provoyance" and the "Section de l'Union des Francais del' Etranger."

Hamilton School Open House

Hamilton School parents enjoyed open house and a student program at the school in Newton Lower Falls during National Education Week.

Many parents visited the classrooms and enjoyed doughnuts and coffee served by Mrs. Kurzennicks and Mrs. Zimmerman of the P.T.A.

At 11 a.m. all the pupils in the school participated in a program on the theme of Education Week—"Praise and Appraise Your Schools." The skits and stories presented by the children were written by pupils and teachers. The program follows:

"What is a teacher?" Grade I, Miss Elghy.

"What is a school?" Grade II, Mrs. Carson.

"Why do we go to school?" Grade II, Miss Pilibosian.

"Who are my neighbors?" Grade III, Mrs. Schwartz.

Three French Songs, Grade IV, Mrs. Mellor.

"How Can Our Parents Work for Better Schools?" Grade V, Miss Turner.

"Important Things My School Has Taught Me," Grade VI, Mr. Utka.

Grade VI and the Hamilton School Glee Club presented musical numbers to conclude the program.

ity aspects of the program including communications between the community agencies and organizations and the directors of the Home Care Program as well as coordinating the use of available community resources.

The question of a Home Care Program for Newton was first brought to the Community Council by Dr. Harry T. Phillips, Director of the Newton Board of Health, about a year ago.

A study committee was soon organized to investigate the need for a Home Care Program in Newton. The committee considerable time learning about various home care programs in other communities. Two committee members made visits to the Home Care Programs in Hartford and Greenwich, Conn.

After further study and discussion of the needs among the clients of several Newton agencies, it was found that in a number of cases, clients could have been helped to a greater extent if a Home Care Program was operating in Newton.

A Home Care Program, according to a definition of the U. S. Public Health service, is one in which selected homebound patients are provided with a full range of services, which are arranged for and coordinated through one administrative agency or institution. Home Care is part of a total medical care plan intended to meet the medical, nursing, social, rehabilitative and economic needs of a patient during a specific phase, or phases, of his illness.

Patients with long-term illness especially benefit from a program of Home Care because it allows them to live in a setting more normal than that of an institution. However, home care should not be thought of as a substitute for hospital care for patients whose needs can best be met in a hospital.

Among the many advantages of a Home Care Program is the frequent reduced cost to patients who are allowed to be discharged from the hospital sooner than usual. Often recovery is hastened by the home atmosphere. Convenience for physicians in having a number of community resources coordinated under one central office is made possible through the organized home care services.

Members of the study committee in addition to Mrs. Parkhurst were as follows: Robert Boardman, Newton-Wellesley Hospital; Dr. Donald E. Bowen, at-large; Miss Ann Daily, Family Service Bureau; Rt. Rev. Walter J. Furlong, St. Vincent de Paul Society; Miss Constance S. Garbutt, Newton Community Council; Mrs. Ernest W. Kuebler, Newton Chapter Red Cross; Mrs. Elizabeth Lee, Newton Visiting Nurse Assn.; Mrs. Joseph C. MacDonald, Council of Churches; Dr. Herbert S. Morrison, Newton-Wellesley Hospital Medical Staff; Miss Sophie C. Nelson, at-large; Mrs. Lucile Palmer, Social Service, Newton-Wellesley Hospital; Dr. Harry T. Phillips, Newton Board of Health; Edmund J. Poutas, Board of Public Welfare; Dr. Edward J. Sawyer, Charles River District Medical Society, and Dr. R. Emerson Sylvester, Newton Medical Club.

Coast-to-Coast Direct Distance Dialing NOW IN EFFECT IN BOSTON AND VICINITY

Pages 4 and 5 of your new Boston Telephone Directory provide complete dialing instructions, information about dialing codes and list of dialable points.

If you have dial telephone service within the area served by the Boston and Vicinity Telephone Directory or in Dover, Lynn or Scituate, you may now dial your personal or business telephone calls direct* to over 2500 localities in 40 states, the District of Columbia and 4 Canadian provinces.

Some communities in which dial service has been introduced within the past few years already dial to a limited number of places outside of New England. These communities, like the rest of the Boston Area, may now dial to the complete list of dialable points.

SOME EXCEPTIONS: Because of technical limitations, 4-party customers in the dial offices listed on Page 10 of the new Boston Directory will be unable to dial outside of eastern Massachusetts. Similarly, no long distance calls may be dialed from any coin telephone.

50,000,000 Telephones Dialable

The following cities are typical of the places which may be dialed from Boston and Vicinity. Many smaller communities near the cities listed are also dialable. Since any complete list would be too long for publication, your Operator will tell you if other places may be dialed direct.

New England Points

In addition to eastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island points, New England places which may now be dialed direct include: All of Connecticut; Manchester and principal cities in New Hampshire; Portland, Maine and Vicinity; Providence and most of Rhode Island; Springfield and Worcester.

Long Distance Points

Cleveland, Ohio; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Detroit, Michigan; Montreal, Quebec; Duluth, Minnesota; Norfolk, Virginia; Fort Worth, Texas; Portland, Oregon; Indianapolis, Indiana; Seattle, Washington; Louisville, Kentucky; Syracuse, New York; Miami, Florida; Topeka, Kansas; Trenton, New Jersey.

New Method of Dialing to Rhode Island

Code 4-0-1 replaces 1-1

Beginning today, dial telephone users* in Boston and Vicinity will begin to use the Rhode Island state "area" code when dialing telephone numbers in that state.

*Because of certain technical limitations, 4-party customers in the dial offices listed on Page 10 of the new Boston Directory will be unable to dial Rhode Island offices.

Rhode Island's "area" code, which is "4-0-1" should be followed by the two letters and five figures of the number being called. The previous code, "1-1," will no longer be dialed.

Example: To call JACKSON 1-9550 in Providence, the number should be dialed as follows: 4-0-1 J-A 1-9-5-0

No Change in Dialing To Eastern Massachusetts
The figures "1-1" will continue to be dialed to eastern Massachusetts places which are outside of local calling areas.

Personal telephone directories for listing names, area codes and telephone numbers frequently called may be obtained from your Telephone Business Office.

Howe Says Youth Today Faces Greater Pressure

The principal of Newton High School, Harold Howe II, maintains that pressures on youth are greater than in the last generation, and therefore parents have greater responsibilities in raising their children.

Mr. Howe spoke on "Youth in Suburbia" Thursday night at the Newton YMCA's 10th Annual Commencement Dinner at the Association Building, and said:

"The suburban environment in many ways is the best environment for young people to grow up in."

More than 100 attended the dinner, held each year in recognition of the service of more than 200 laymen who serve on boards and committees of the Newton YMCA.

A special presentation was made by President Eldred M. Peterson to Fred A. Hawkins who, up to last year, served as vice president of the "Y" for 20 years. Mr. Hawkins was given an inscribed plaque bearing testimony of his continued and dedicated service to the community through the YMCA.

A highlight of the meeting was the issuance of YMCA program plans for the 1959-60 season by the various committee chairman. The "plan book" offered a review of each committee's work together with plans, dates and priorities for the months ahead.

During the meeting, Mr. Peterson called for a showing of committee chairmen. Answering the roll-call were the fol-

Thanksgiving 1959

This is the time of year when we drop the cares and problems of daily living to observe the tradition of Thanksgiving established by the Pilgrim Fathers 338 years ago.

As we in our own individual ways give thanks for the blessings we have received, let us include a special prayer for many thousands in the world less fortunate than we; a prayer that, one day, they may once again enjoy the Four Freedoms we know so well.

All of us at the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company thank you, our customers, to whom we owe so much, and pledge our fullest efforts to community service in the years ahead.

IN THE SPIRIT OF THIS DAY-- THANKFUL...

for all Thy blessings seen, unseen for mercies and Eternal Love—for true and understanding friends for work that meets each coming day for faithful colleagues who inspire for courage learned from other folks for charity where need abides for helping hands that make the home for warm embrace, the parting kiss for sweetness born in bitter sorrow for strength that comes from hurt and illness for sleep that rests the weary heart for rising sun 'that greets the morn for moon and stars, refreshing rains for wheat and flowers, grass and trees for mountain, sea, and flowing brook—for all that's beautiful, dear Lord, we thank Thee now and every day.

Political Highlights

to assume the duties of Mayor of Newton. McCormack automatically quit his senatorial post when he became Sheriff of Norfolk County.

The Newton-Brighton area served by Gibbs and the West Roxbury-Brookline sector represented by McCormack are both marginal districts where either a Democrat or Republican could win.

Gibbs carried his senatorial district last year by a wafer-thin margin in a disputed election which finally was settled by the Senate itself.

McCormack was the first Democrat ever elected as Senator from the West Roxbury-Brookline area. He won the seat by ousting former Senator Philip G. Bowker from office a year ago.

Republican leaders, on the basis of the returns in the recent special Senate election in the New Bedford area, believe their party's fortunes are on the upswing in Massachusetts and that the GOP is on the verge of a big comeback in the Bay State.

Democratic spokesmen minimize the significance of the New Bedford election, maintaining that its outcome was shaped in a large measure by local factors and by the bitterness engendered in the Democratic primary.

While the Democrats aren't boasting about it, it also appears that the Republican leadership gave much more help to their party's candidate in the New Bedford sector than did the Democrats.

Democratic chiefs claim that the political tide is running just as strongly now for their party as it did last November. They add that it will be given even greater impetus if Senator John F. Kennedy is nominated next year as the Democratic candidate for either President or Vice President.

The special Senate elections should do much to indicate whether the Democrats or Republicans are correct in their appraisals and whether there has been any real shift in the political trend during the past year.

If the Democrats are right in their claims, they should be able to hold McCormack's seat in the Senate and make a very strong fight for Gibbs' place even if they don't win it.

If there has been an upswing in Republican fortunes, the GOP candidates should prevail in both the West Roxbury-Brookline and the Newton-Brighton districts.

Many political observers believe that the Republican party has gained some strength not only in Massachusetts but throughout the nation during 1959 because of the improved quality of leadership provided by President Eisenhower.

Students of politics, however, point out that historically political tides which are running midway through a Presidential term continue to rise through the following Presidential election and then recede. Some of the polls, on the other hand, indicate that isn't the case this year.

Whatever the fact may be, both the Democratic and Republican parties are certain to bring up their heaviest guns for the two special Senate elections which loom prominently on the 1960 political calendar.

Democratic leaders, evidently taken by surprise by the outcome of the New Bedford senatorial conflict, will be battling to regain the prestige lost by their party.

Republican chiefs will be out to strengthen the impression that their party's stock is on the rise.

The two elections will be the center of far more than ordinary attention.

Induct Newton Minister As Mission Secy.

Rev. Sidney G. Menk, who recently moved to Newton Centre with his wife and three children, was formally inducted Sunday evening as Executive Secretary of the City Missionary Society, and as associate minister and field secretary for the Boston churches.

The induction service was at the Mount Vernon Church (Congregational) corner of Massachusetts avenue, and Beacon street, Boston.

Mr. Menk succeeds the late Dr. Earl W. Douglas. The City Missionary Society was founded by a group of Congregational ministers and laymen in 1816 to "help the poor and needy of Boston."

Dr. Rubin To Be Chapel Speaker

Northeastern University's Bacon Memorial Chapel has invited Dr. Morton Rubin of 23 Walsh road, Newton Centre, to be speaker at non-sectarian services next Wednesday, Dec. 2 at 8:30 a.m.

Dr. Rubin, N.U. assistant professor of sociology, obtained his bachelor of arts degree at Boston University and doctorate degrees from the University of North Carolina. He taught at Wisconsin and Princeton before he came to Northeastern.

He has been active in local community affairs. He is vice-president of the Boston Inter-group Relations council, and a member of the Oak Hill Community Council, Roxbury Community Council, Newton Fair Housing Committee, and two professional organizations, the American Sociological Society and the Society for the Study of Social Problems.

The Babson Institute Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management has elected Davis C. McLeod of 344 Lake street, Newton Highlands to membership. McLeod, a special student at the Institute majoring in Investments, attended Worcester Polytechnic Institute for two years before entering Babson.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JANE SCHNEIDER

HEADLIGHTS . . . The traditional Senior Class Supper will be held on the evening of Dec. 5. It will include a dinner, entertainment and square dancing. Committees for the Supper Dance were formed largely with members of the Class Committee.

Dave Fitts is chairman of tickets. Helping him are Alan Levitan and Bob Siegal. Other committee members working to make the annual Senior Supper a big success are:

Food Committee, Paul Kaplan, chairman; Charles Aulcain, Joe O'Donnell, Pat De Santis, and Donna DeMarco; Decorations Committee, Joanne Arcuri, chairman; John Callan, Bill McCann, Bob Stam, Barbara Axt, and Judy Malone; Entertainment Committee, Sally Remley, chairman; Peter Hamilton, Paul Kerivan, and Karen Balkus; Hospitality Committee, Bill Southmayd, chairman; Bill Skornick, Alan Otis, Bob Donahue and Susan Goldsmith; Clean-up Committee, Ben Whalen, chairman.

The second Beals House assembly took place during X-block recently. The main speaker, Mr. Kinsey, and NHS student, Martha Harrison, were introduced by A. Donn Kesselheim, Beals Housemaster.

The topic of discussion was "work camps." Mr. Kinsey said that the work camps are projects sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee is an effort to bring together high school and college students from different localities to work together for a worthwhile cause. Slides of European and Mexican work camps were shown. Students may participate in weekend or summer work camps.

A change in graduation requirements has been proposed by Harold Howe II to Eric N. Dennard, superintendent of Newton schools.

Mr. Howe feels that "the whole process of computing credits in Grade 9 is unnecessary and simply leads to a good deal of involved explanation which must be made to junior high school parents at the end of Grade 8 and again at the end of Grade 9.

Foreign languages have also been started in the younger grades which is complicating the whole credit system. As a result of two meetings of the department heads, the following recommendations were brought up:

1. That no credits toward graduation from senior high be computed on the basis of work done in junior high starting September, 1960. 2. That promotion from junior high to senior high be based on the assumption that all students who are promoted have completed three major subjects in the ninth grade. 3. That any special promotions be arranged by through the counseling center. 4. That pupils will need 65 credits to graduate. 5. That, starting with the Class of 1963, a student be required to have 17 credits to be a sophomore and 40 credits to be a senior.

The Rally Committee is planning to hold a night rally. Martha Beggs, chairman of the committee, said that a meeting is going to be held to discuss further plans.

An executive board of 25 heads the main Rally Committee. Members of the board include: Linda Covich, secretary; Janet Farnham, treasurer; Stephanie Kowy, assistant secretary; Connie Markey, Susan Fay, Joanne Arcuri, Janie Sutherland, Pam Wilson, Martha Lee, Diane Averback, Holly Peck, Jane Lancaster, Diane Terrio, Marsha Wooster, Dick Kanter, Web Hull, Roger Urell, Mark Lancaster, Phil Moran, Tom Leary, Bob Ziegel, Dick Currier, Dick Lee, Tony Glidden, Danny Wood, and Mark Peters.

SENIOR STANDOUTS . . . Last week's Senior Standouts were Selby Hickey and John Shanner. Both are active Newton High School students. This week, Joanne Arcuri and Johnny Cannon are the Senior Standouts. Joane is the president of the Future Teachers of America Club. Johnny is the president of the Civics Committee.

Mishkan Tefila Sisterhood To Meet Dec. 2nd

The December meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Mishkan Tefila of Newton will be held at the Social Hall next Tuesday, Dec. 2 at 12:30 p. m. and will be dedicated to the Torah fund. Luncheon will be served under the direction of Mrs. Morris Rissman and the hospitality committee.

The Sisterhood president is Mrs. Ben A. Feinberg and plans for the afternoon were arranged by program chairman Mrs. Daniel A. Shrago. Guest speaker will be Jack M. Rosoff, a senior at the Jewish Theological Seminary in New York City. Rabbi Israel L. Kazis will address the group and there will be a musical program by Cantor Gregor Shelkan and Prof. Solomon G. Braslavsky. Benediction will be by Mrs. Samuel Rosoff, mother of the guest speaker.

Chairmen of the Torah Fund are Mrs. Samuel Gross-man and Mrs. Hyman Siegel. Chai Olom chairmen are Mrs. Hyman Gandelman and Mrs. Abraham Furst. Assisting on the committee are Mrs. Joseph Ballet, Mrs. Solomon G. Cong. Curtis Reports On Conditions in India

The following timely article on conditions in India has been cabled from Tel Aviv by Congressman Laurence Curtis who is a member of the House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee which has been making an inspection of mutual security projects in the Far East.

By LAURENCE CURTIS

NEW DELHI, Nov. 23—Last week I left members of the Far East Subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, with whom I had been travelling, as I felt it necessary to be heading back to Massachusetts, and arrived in New Delhi after a 5-hour flight from Bangkok, Thailand.

India is a stupendous and complex country so different from what most of us have ever seen before that impression created is overpowering and confusing.

While one sees much modern civilization, the major impression is one of masses of humanity living under backward conditions and in dire poverty.

Their ways of life and the conditions under which they live are almost incomprehensible to us.

This statement can be explained by describing a trip into some villages.

I had an unusual opportunity to make this trip, for which

I am indebted to my colleague on the Foreign Affairs Committee, Congressman Chester Bowles of Connecticut, our former Ambassador here.

He introduced me to Dr. Douglas Ensminger, head of the Ford Foundation here, which is particularly active in the community development program in the villages. In company with one of the local Indian community development workers, we saw some of their work.

To understand the importance of village life it should be remembered that about 80 percent of the vast population is engaged in agriculture. They live in tight village communities within reach of their little plots of land which surround the village.

One can fly for miles and miles over the central plain of India and see this pattern of life — checker-boarded fields with village clusters spaced a few miles from each other.

CONGRESSMAN IN VIETNAM—Congressman Laurence Curtis (rear center) is shown with other members of a House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee as they watch a malaria controlled demonstration at a native hut in Vietnam. Members of the committee have been making an inspection of mutual security projects at strategic areas in the Far East.

The land inheritance system has resulted in minutely supervised holdings. One owner may have several small plots some distance from each other.

India is densely populated. About one-third the size of the continental United States, it has a population of over 400 million people as against something over 170 million in the U. S.

The population is largely illiterate, the rate of literacy being only about 22 percent.

The per capita income is about $81 per year as compared with more than $2000 in the U. S. Many villagers practically never see any real cash. They probably have more income than the above figure due to the consumption of things they raise.

The village we visited was like most — some way back from the road, reached over a Bullock trail, rough and wavering, and almost impassable for our car. Most of the villages are walled in with the sides of houses forming part of the wall. We entered through a narrow passage and then entered the yard of one of the houses through another narrow passage.

With the hot climate, much of the home life seems centered in the yard.

A man was squatting in one corner cooking food over a charcoal-like fire in a big brass bowl. But the fuel was not charcoal. It was dried cow dung.

Not far from him a woman was threshing some rice, pounding it in a heavy wooden container with a stick somewhat larger than a baseball bat.

A few yards away were three or four cattle, one of them contentedly feeding from a trough. Some young children scampered about staring at us.

I felt almost as though I had intruded in the front parlor of these people. But the village worker who accompanied us knew them well, and they were well aware that Dr. Ensminger's work was making contributions to village life, so we were received in friendly fashion. I noticed, however, that the woman pounding the corn — dressed in the usual loose-fitting robe, with part of it extending over the top of her head — pulled a fold across her face as we entered and looked at us through this veil.

Village life is complicated by custom and caste. Members of the lowest caste were formerly called "Untouchables." But Ghandi called the Harijans, "Children of God", a name now used. The discriminations against them have been legally abolished, but I was told that it would be just as hard to do this effectively as to eliminate racial prejudice in the deep South.

These unfortunates formerly were not allowed to live in the villages, to own land, or even to draw water from the village wells. Women of the village did, however, draw water from them. They were almost literally scavengers and did the most menial work.

This is now being changed as rapidly as possible. It is still customary in India for people to marry largely within their own caste. But doubtless to avoid in-breeding, a young person in a village must not marry another person from the same village. The spouse usually comes from a neighboring village, preferably one over 5 miles away.

Many of the men in the villages wear a cloth or "Dhoti", drawn up around the waist, leaving folds around the legs looking somewhat like shaggy trousers and white cotton shirts. Others wear loose-fitting, pajama-like trousers with loose-fitting white shirts not tucked in at the waist. A few wear white cotton jackets, and some wear "Ghandi Hats" somewhat resembling our veterans' caps.

The women wear flowing robes, frequently brightly colored with red and orange predominating. All are swarthy looking; many barefoot, and many of the women wear anklets and little rings piercing the nostril.

This description of a village will explain my statements as to the overpowering impressions which one gets of backward ways of life by masses. This impression is also created even in the cities.

While parts of New Delhi are like a western community, old Delhi is far different. City retail business there is conducted from little roadside stands or shacks. They are open in front, hardly bigger than a small room, and you see people inside busily working at some craft. Some are metal workers, pounding and filing; others work on wood, leather or on sewing machines. Foods are sold from these little shacks and are piled uncovered right on the dusty street.

Apparently unattached cows wander around and are unmolested on religious principles. They even help themselves to food being sold, although I am told that the proprietor can sometimes fend them off without actually pushing them away.

I hope this report does not give a one-sided picture, because there are many modern communities and modern industries in India. While many of the people may be illiterate, they give the impression of being kind, intelligent and thoughtful. Their religion, predominantly Hindu, gives them a philosophic view of life which is a good thing, as they certainly live under hard conditions.

I shall write further of efforts being made to raise the standard of living to which our aid contributes.

Banks Offer Santa Claus Post Mark

It's Christmas time again in Santa Claus, the little Indiana village snuggled in the hills which is the mailing headquarters for St. Nick with its magical postmark.

The storybook village with less than 50 year-round inhabitants, dedicated to the children of the world, is literally "snowed under" with mail.

This holiday season some 5,000,000 pieces of mail will pass through the tiny postoffice and receive the official Santa Claus postmark.

This year, in the spirit of the season, the Newton Co-operative Bank, the West Newton Co-operative and the Auburndale Co-operative Bank are offering a special complimentary service to their customers and the community.

The banks offer a selection of enchanting Christmas letters written and signed by Santa Claus. The envelopes may be addressed to any child and mailed in the special mail box in the bank lobby. The letters are transported to the town of Santa Claus, where they are postmarked and returned directly to the child with the envelope bearing the renowned Santa Claus postmark.

Thanksgiving To Be Old-Fashioned One

py reunions, sit down to savor the holiday field.
A great number of persons will visit their churches Thursday morning to attend Thanksgiving services or to kneel in their pews and bow their heads in prayers of thankfulness.
Football enthusiasts will sharpen up their appetites for the day's big meal by attending the traditional Thanksgiving schoolboy gridiron classic on the holiday morning.

Perhaps an even larger number will relax before the television and watch one of the football games to be televised. From universities and colleges will come scores of young men and women, away from home for the past two months, returning to enjoy Thanksgiving with their families.

For most persons Thanksgiving will be a quiet, leisurely day at home, a day of renewing old friendships and welcoming old friends, a day of good talk and of savoring the aromas which waft out from the kitchen, a day for admiring the well-browned roundness of the plump turkey and later of leaning back, well-fed, to see what the television channels offer.

Proprietors of local markets report that tender turkeys of all sizes as well as fixings to meet the most demanding or fastidious taste are available in abundant quantities.

Shelves and bins are stocked to meet any 11th hour shopping rush, and practically every imaginable delicacy is available for those who may prefer a departure from the traditional Thanksgiving menu.

Tons upon tons of good things to eat already have been carried into homes of the community and many more tons will follow as elaborate preparations are made for the observance of Thanksgiving, 1959.

Even though this Thanksgiving comes to a nation at peace and the tension of the cold war may be easing to a slight degree, some young men and women will be missing from the family dinner table Thursday, and their absence will be keenly felt.

Some will be wearing the uniforms of their country. When Thanksgiving dawns they'll be rising from military cots and bunks. Some will be in countries far from New England at our outposts which

Musical Play By Infant Saviour Guild

Active Newton committees are engaged in promoting the gala musical play, "The Last of the Leprechauns," to be presented by the Regina Pacis Table of the Guild of the Infant Saviour at the Catholic Children's Theatre, Fontbonne Academy, Milton, Friday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Co-chairmen in Newton are Mrs. Joseph McKenney, of West Newton, and Mrs. John Kelley, of Waban. Those interested in procuring tickets may call Mrs. Timothy Donahue at LA 7-3691, West Newton, ticket chairman.

Committee members from Newton are Mrs. Charles Donahue, West Newton; Mrs. James Kavanagh, Waban; Mrs. Frederick O'Hara, Newton Centre, and Mrs. George McManama, Mrs. Edward Fitzgerald, of Needham, is also on the committee.

Some families will place their observance of Thanksgiving in the hands of hotel and restaurant personnel. They, too, will be sharing the idea of the hardy Pilgrims who hadn't yet learned that you

Huge Table For Corpus Christi Guild Festival

A mammoth, 32-foot long smorgasbord table greeted members and guests at the Swedish Festival held last week by the Corpus Christi Guild of Auburndale in the church auditorium.

Under the direction of the chairman, Mrs. Henry W. Lundquist, almost 300 enjoyed the homecooked buffet supper. Miss Linda Martenson, attired in native costume, offered trays of Swedish spritz cookies for dessert.

There was a brief address from the pastor, Rev. John L. Johnson, whose efforts hurried completion of the new kitchen in time for the event.

Chairmen for the "Svensk Fest och Smorgasbord" were: Mrs. Elaine Higgins, Glad Jul Shop; Mrs. Maurice O'Connell, Accessory Shop; Mrs. Josephine McDermott, Men's Shop; Mrs. William McCarron, Tot's Shop; Mrs. Eugene Sampson, Raymond Shop.

Mrs. Raymond Knight, Doll's Closet; Mrs. Frank Quinn, Wives' Christmas Gift Registry; Mrs. Lillian McGregor, Treat Shop; Mrs. Eric Martenson, Swedish Exhibit; Mrs. Stephen Cupoli, Swedish Kitchen; Mrs. Samuel Nazzaro, Smorgasbord; Mrs. David Brodie, Maitre d'Smorgasbord; Mrs. John Duane, Reservations; Mrs. William White, Special Gifts, Mrs. Harold Foran, Scrap Shop.

Among the many assisting as hosts at the smorgasbord service were Mr. Francis L. Howley, Mr. Henry W. Lundquist, Mr. Frank Quinn, Mr. John Quinn, Mrs. Francis L. Howley, Mrs. Frank Quinn, Mrs. David Brodie and Mrs. Frederick Murphy.

Red Cross Volunteers Give Hospital Assist

Red Cross Volunteers work at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital in many capacities. Layettes requested by the Visiting Nurse Association are made for indigent mothers under the supervision of Mrs. Donald Goseh, production chairman. Mrs. Donald Kavanaugh, chairman of Grey Ladies, directs their activities which range from escorting patients to and from x-ray and other treatment places to assisting the patients in letter writing to their families, and the nurses in serving refreshments to the patients, thus making their hospital stay a little bit brighter. Many also act as receptionists, guiding patients' families thru the hospital.

Mrs. Joseph MacDonald, chairman Nurses' Aides has a crew of 12 working day and night. They assist the nurses by taking pulses, bathing the patients and giving other simple routine nursing care. They are in great demand and the nurses are most grateful for their assistance. Mrs. James Mitchell, Motor Corps Chairman has at least ten volunteers constantly shuttling between the patients' homes, the hospital, and the Blood Storage Center in Boston.

Patients are brought for out-patient care when there is a physical and financial need for their transportation. There are other motor corps volunteers on a "round-the-clock" stand-by basis should the need arise. Another vital service is Staff Aides. These ladies do secretarial and clerical work, and are invaluable in the assist they give the clerical staff. At present Mrs. James Blackall is co-chairman of this service.

All these services are planned in conjunction with hospital needs under the direction of Mrs. Stanley Hobbs, director of Volunteers at Newton Wellesley Hospital. Every volunteer who assists in the hospital program helps offset the rising costs of hospital care and enables the hospital staff to work more efficiently.

day" tells the story of a group of young families in Silver Springs, Maryland, who figured out a solution in a most unique manner.

There's also a story about a family who wanted a house that would give them warmth, charm, space, comfort, and convenience — so they bought and remodeled a "Turn of the Century" carriage house.

Then there is a series of portable fireplaces that fit any room, and that can be installed in half a day. Santa may not like the idea, but readers can be sure that they will find the prices and the infinite decorating possibilities most attractive.

Along with stringing popcorn and making other Yuletide decorations for a merry Christmas at home, the small fry will be delighted with happy Santas made from apples, raisins, cotton and marshmallows.

The "Suburbia Today" food pages are a real gift to the lady of the house at the harassing holiday season. Here are tips for those who want to add a tasty, dramatic, and new touch to the traditional Christmas dinner — mouth-watering, every one.

The regular features concerning books, movies and records are back in the the December issue, better than ever and completely devoted to the holidays.

The December cover is from the brush of the talented Laura Jean Allen. Christmas shoppers in modern motif are all over the gay Yule cover. Yes, next week's issue of this newspaper brings the always-anticipated "Suburbia Today" for December; a happy, Christmas bag, jammed to the brim with gay, entertaining and informative holiday reading.

Wheaton College has announced appointment of Miss Julia F. Carter of 24 Braemore Rd., Newton, to serve as agent this year for her alumnae class in a drive to complete the school's efforts to raise $4 million for an expansion program.

"We'll concentrate on our regular plays," Coach Malone said. "No frills, just sound football."

So Malone and his assistants concentrated to correct the mistakes the team made in the Waltham game. Blocking in the end positions was especially spotty against Waltham, according to Malone.

From a physical standpoint, Newton came through the Waltham game in fairly good shape. Only Dick Carle, quarterback George Kerr and tackle Ray Frieden are nursing injuries. Carle has a slight charlie horse, Kerr has a bruised right shoulder and Frieden is nursing a bone bruise on the knee. All three injuries are minor, however, and the trio will be ready to face Brookline.

A sizeable amount of contact drilling has been the order of the day at every practice session since the Waltham debacle.

A composite scouting report on the Wealthy Towners compiled by scouts Bud Hawkes, Vic Knapman, Ed Poskitt and Bob Gately, shows just about the same offense as usual. Good belly-series, fullback tackle-slants, and the customary wide pitches — a typically sound Harry Dowdes-coached team.

Country Store At St. Mary's Church Bazaar

"Christmas at the Country Store" will be the theme of this year's bazaar at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Newton Lower Falls, on Saturday, Dec. 5, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

One of the special features this year is hand-decorated baskets, such as pie baskets, mail baskets, market baskets and many others. The gift table will offer hand made gifts for all the family from babies to grandmothers.

Shoppers will find the ever popular items of treasurers, notions, aprons, hand knit goods, children's clothing and books, as well as the Rector's Table. The Pantry Corner and Candy Shoppe will be well stocked with home made goodies of all kinds.

Another popular attraction will be the Children's Bazaar, where young fry may purchase all their Christmas gifts. All the articles are priced to fit children's allowances. This special room is exclusively for the younger set, but adult advice is available if needed. Here you will find hand-painted novelties, jewelry, knick-knacks and many useful gifts for the home and family.

Bargain seekers will be able to whet their appetites with morning coffee at 10, luncheon at noon and dinner (by reservation) at 6 p.m. Cider and doughnuts will be served during the afternoon.

Assisting Mrs. Stanley Robinson, General Chairman, are Mrs. W. Hart Nichols, Mrs. Russell Rowe and Mrs. Melvin Sten, as well as the chairmen of each table.

Burns Insurance Firm Rated Among Leaders in N.E. Area

Insurance problems can be complicated or simple, but whatever the case John T. Burns Company, 803 Washington Street in Newtonville is among the leading firms in New England qualified to help any client, large or small.

This fine insurance firm has been in business for many years, and during this period has handled so many varied accounts that it has a wonderful background, plus its expert staff, to call on for help.

John T. Burns Company is a member of the top-rated Insurance Brokers' Association, and a leading one at that. The firm has professional standing excelled by none, and perhaps that is why so many of its customers come from out-of-town to ask advice, and place policies.

The company is accustomed to dealing with the most difficult problems in the insurance line, and anyone who has had difficulty trying to straighten out an insurance claim can appreciate what this means. Insurance is a little bit like the fire department, in that few people give it a thought until an emergency suddenly arises. Then the experience of the personnel, and the integrity and intelligence of the insurance firm, become of prime importance.

Insurance adequately written is of vital importance, and John T. Burns Company is fully qualified to advise you in this field.

A great many home owners and others placed their insurance years ago, in whatever category. In most cases, the steady inflation and changing values have made this insurance inadequate, in case of a loss. This can be tragic, if not corrected.

For up-to-date insurance advice, freely given, and most courteously, drop in at John T. Burns Company. Your time spent will be richly rewarded.

Claflin PTA To Hold Membership Meeting Dec. 2

The Claflin School PTA is holding its second full membership meeting on Wednesday evening December 2 in the School auditorium. As first in a series of meetings on "Education is Everybody's Business," an over-all program concerned with some of the broad, contemporary educational challenges, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mintz, program chairman, have announced that the subject for this meeting will be "Who Runs Our Schools?"

A panel comprising Eric Dennard, superintendent of Newton Schools, Mrs. Genevieve Oncley, school committee member for the Claflin school district, and Professor Paul Siskind of the Boston University Law School, (and a Claflin parent,) will briefly discuss their various roles and responsibilities in a system of public education.

Following a question period and a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. Henry Lambert, President, refreshments will be served by Mrs. Arnold Cullman and Mrs. Anthony Caggiano, Hospitality Chairman, in the gymnasium.

Tea of Vassar Interest Friday

Prospective students at Vassar College, and girls interested in learning more about Vassar, are invited to a tea Friday afternoon, Nov. 27, at the home of Mrs. Hans Wayne at 51 Hampshire St., West Newton.

This is one of a series of parties being given by the Vassar Club of Boston in six Greater Boston communities during the Thanksgiving recess for prospective students.

Study Bids for Purchase Of Pumping Site

The Newton Finance Committee will study four bids opened by Purchasing Agent Thomas J. Forde at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen which proposed construction of a garden type manufacturing development, a warehouse or motel at the abandoned water pumping site in Newton Upper Falls.

The bids ranged from $50,000 to $105,600. The latter bid was made by Louis Reine Co., of 135 Albermarle road, Newtonville, a construction concern, which did not list the use which would be made of the property.

The Wexler Construction Co., 182 Needham street, Newton Highlands, bid $100,000 for the property, stating that it would be developed for either a manufacturing office, a warehouse or a motel.

A bid of $78,000 was submitted by Sidney M. Davis Associates, 73 Tremont street, Boston, who stated that they would construct three buildings for four tenants engaged in wholesale merchandising and employing a total of 200 persons. The buildings would be one-story garden-type and there would be ample parking, the bid stated.

Making a tentative bid of $50,000 for the property in behalf of the Beacon Plastics Co., of 82 Needham street, Newton Highlands, Murray E. Sholkin stated that the company would like an option for six months in order to complete studies to determine the best use of the property.

The company contemplates a $1,000,000 development on the land which would employ 500 persons, the offer stated.

Thrift Shop At New Location

The Thrift Shop, a project of the Beth Israel Hospital Women's Auxiliary, announces its new location at 25 Harvard street, in Brookline Village, beginning Monday, Nov. 30 at 10 a.m.

The new Thrift Shop, with its enlarged quarters, is prepared to serve its customers with a greater variety of merchandise. This shop, which has been in the Village for nearly 30 years, points out to those who shop here that it serves a two-fold purpose.

The customer finds the best in quality and assortment, and purchases help to provide expensive drugs, blood transfusions, and nursing care for patients in the wards of the hospital.

No Drinks For Drivers

Now that the holiday season is upon us, Registrar of Motor Vehicles Clement A. Riley proposes posting a sign "No Drinks For Drivers".

"Last November, 51 were killed in highway accidents and 7334 were injured," Riley said. "Many of the dead and injured were driving home after holiday parties. Put this sign up at your party 'No Drinks For Drivers'."

Poetry Prize

daily ninth grade classes at Meadowbrook where he is noted for his manifold interests.

Among his writings are excellent selections in prose as well as poetry. He paints very well in oil and also sculpts in soap and clay.

Paul's prize-winning poem follows:
I had a dream the other night
A dream that filled by heart with fright
My dream contained not a bit of fun

I dreamt, you see, that there was no sun.
I dreamt, I awoke at seven in the morn'

"Ah," I thought, "a new day is born."
But, when I opened my eyes, what should there be?
A black sea of darkness surrounding me.

I stumbled to the window; panic gripped me tight.
I stared and stared but there was no light.

I groped for the lamp, then switched it on.
Its pale gleam showed me what was once a lawn.

Where once grew grass, there was naked ground.
Where once was noise there was no sound.

Where once men walked, not one remained.
Where once was light, now darkness reigned.

Then, slow but sure, the thought came to me
That the last of the living I must be

And that I would soon die without the sun.
Then a voice said, "It's time to awaken, my son."

Joyful, I awoke and greeted the day
Then I looked at the sun and it seemed to say,
"I'll stay! I'll stay! I'll stay!"

State Police Issue Warning To Housewives

The Mass. State Police this week issued a warning to housewives to be on the alert for a young man who preys on unsuspecting women — those alone in the house during the daytime.

This individual might first call by phone as if he were conducting a survey. If he finds out a woman is alone he will then make a personal call at the house and make a forcible entry.

A Randolph housewife was assaulted and robbed by this individual. It is believed that other similar crimes can be traced to him elsewhere in the State.

The man is described by State Police as a white male, 5 feet, 10 inches, to 6 feet tall, 190 to 200 pounds in weight, has dark hair, a dark complexion, a heavy beard but is clean shaven, has clear skin and no known scars or other identifying marks.

He is soft spoken, well mannered, wears a pork-pie hat, a light car coat, a maroon sport shirt with no tie. He is possibly driving a 1955 or '56, two-door car, color fire-engine red bottom with light top, registration unknown.

State Police have requested the publication of these facts believing that it could be helpful if the general public were notified regarding this subject's modus operandi.

Newton-ite News In Short Takes

Dr. Sam Hedrick of Newton spoke on the recurring problems of academic freedom at a Boston University School of Theology symposium Sunday night. He is associate professor of practical theology and chairman of the B.U. section of the American Association of University Professors.

The symposium was on the subject of "Academic Freedom, Loyalty Oaths and the national Defense Education Act."

The Newton Garden Club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. Gillmore Powell at 20 Oak Terrace in Newton Highlands. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Harold Sprague and Mrs. Henry Chandoait.

Chairman Philip Kramer of Newton has announced that the general solicitation by the Israel Histadrut Committee will continue for the remainder of the month.

Elect Goodwill League Officers

Mrs. Joseph Yanofsky was elected president of the Goodwill League, Inc., at a meeting held recent at the home of Mrs. Nelson Noble.

Other officers for the coming year are: Mrs. Nelson Noble, vice-president; Mrs. William Polak, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Yanofsky, recording secretary, and Mrs. William Weisman, corresponding secretary.

Initial plans were formulated for the "Spring-Time Dinner Dance" to be held March 26, 1960, at the Pinebrook Country Club. Proceeds will be given to the Boston Floating Hospital, for children.

In charge of reservations are Mrs. William Pollak and Mrs. Edgar Grossman.

DR. CECIL G. SHEPS

Dr. Sheps Going To U. Of Pitt As Professor

Dr. Cecil G. Sheps of 180 Lake St., Newton, is leaving Beth Israel Hospital where he has been general director since 1953. He will join the University of Pittsburgh on March 1 as director of a unique program of research, field service and advanced education in the broad field of medical care and hospital service.

Dr. Sheps, clinical professor of preventive medicine at the Harvard Medical School, author and lecturer, will become professor of medical and hospital administration at Univ. of Pittsburgh's Graduate School of Public Health.

Rudolph Wyner, president of the Beth Israel Hospital, expressed deep appreciation of the hospital trustees to Dr. Sheps for significant contribution he made during the last six years.

Dr. Sheps, a native of Winnipeg, Canada, has had wide experience in many facets of health and medical service, private practice, public health practice and education, medical education and hospital administration.

He is chairman of the Hospital Facilities Research Study Section of the U. S. Public Health Service; a member of the National Advisory Committee on Chronic Disease and Health of the Aged to the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare; a member of the Board of the American Nurses Foundation, and a member of the National Advisory Committee to the White House Conference on Aging.

He frequently has contributed to scientific and professional journals in the areas of the social aspects of medicine as well as in the organization of health services and medical care.

Dr. Sheps has been a lecturer on the problems of teaching and research in preventive medicine. He is the senior author of "Needed Research in Health and Medical Care" and co-author of "Community Organization, Action and Inaction". He also has authored text books for students in health professions, and many professional books on health problems.

In 1946 and 1947, he was named a Fellow in Medical Sciences by the Rockefeller Foundation and studied at Yale University. He received a traveling Fellowship from the World Health Organization in social medicine in 1951 and toured Western Europe where he learned first hand the medical care and public health problems facing the population.

Dr. Sheps is married to Mindel C. Sheps, M.D., and they have one child, Samuel B., 14. His wife is a faculty member at the Harvard Medical School. She is a bio-statistician.

Alerts Here For Escaped Convict

Newton police were on the alert, along with other police departments, for Peter W. Macey, formerly of Waltham, who escaped from the Norfolk Correctional Institution last Wednesday.

Newton police first were alerted Friday by State Police at 4:45 p.m. that Macey was "seen" on Langley road, near Beacon street, Newton Centre, about an hour earlier. A stakeout was set up near the Hammond Pond Parkway in Chestnut Hill.

At 9:15 p.m., Newton police received two reports that a man was seen running into the woods near Echo Bridge.

About a dozen cruisers, including Newton, Wellesley, Needham and State Police, converged on the area and used floodlights in a search of the vicinity, but no trace was found of the missing convict.

Newton police were on the alert throughout the night for the bandit's car, giving special attention to the roads leading to and from the city.

Temple Reyim Annual Bazaar And Auction

The annual bazaar and auction of Temple Reyim at 1869 Washington street, Newton, will be held Tuesday and Wednesday nights, Dec. 1 and 2, starting at 6 p.m.

New merchandise, such as jewelry, appliances, clothing, rainwear, etc., will be featured this year, plus hundreds of dollars worth of toys just in time for the gift-giving season. All prices are low and the values high.

Admission is free, as is parking. There will be door prizes, and a snack-bar serving tasty food and drinks will be open both evenings.

The Temple Reyim bazaar and auction is a yearly-looked for event because it coincides with the gift giving season.

News From Warren Jr.

Miss Frances Steiner, Warren Junior High School music teacher assisted by Miss Rhonda Ginn and Miss Mary Keenan, elementary school music consultants, recently presented an assembly to Warren's seventh grade pupils and to members of the school's musical organizations.

The assembly program was to acquaint the students with the versatility of the cello as a solo instrument and when accompanied by piano, flute, and soprano voice respectively or all together.

Miss Steiner offered varied solo selections on the cello and was then accompanied by Miss Ginn, first at the piano and then by Miss Ginn with the flute and Miss Keenan's soprano voice.

Cub Pack No 24 Of Auburndale

Auburndale's Cub Pack No. 24 held its monthly meeting last Monday at the Church of the Messiah attended by 21 Cubs and 31 parents.

Jack Goldstein, the pack chairman, introduced Doug MacKenzie, Cub Master, who outlined events for the coming months. Then he introduced the organization of the pack consisting of Stanley Knowles and John Shaw, Asst. Cub Masters; Donald Kinnack, Treasurer; Linda Tompkins, Secretary; Fred Tompkins, Publicity; and Page Cotton, in Charge of Outings, and Robert Cunningham, Dist. Representative.

The parents' portion of the meeting adjourned to a combined meeting with the Cub Scouts. One highlight was a country store kit by Den 1 in charge of Mrs. Jack Goldstein and Mrs. Norbert Fullington, Den Mothers. Those participating were Philip Fullington, Gordon Tice and William Lynch.

Asst. Cub Master John Shaw awarded two silver arrows to Philip Goldstein and one silver arrow to Brian Fullington.

RECENT DEATHS Sarah Jordan, Famed MD, Native Of Newton

Dr. Sarah M. Jordan, world-famed co-founder of the Lahey Clinic in Boston who died in New England Baptist Hospital late Saturday night, was born in Newton 75 years ago.

This was one of four medical institutions she served so brilliantly over a period of 36 years. Dr. Jordan was born Oct. 20, 1884. She retired last December and was honored at a testimonial dinner at which doctors, clergymen, industrialists and diplomats joined in paying her honor.

She was a world authority on internal medicine, and probably was the most honored woman in her profession. She leaves her husband, Penfield Mower, a retired investment counselor; her daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Logan, Jr., of Harrisburg, Pa.; her sister, Mrs. Robert H. Montgomery of Cambridge, and several grandchildren.

The desire to study and practice medicine came to her comparatively late. She was 33 when she entered the medical school of Tufts University, which honored her in 1951 by naming her a life trustee. A year after her graduation in 1921, she joined the late Frank Lahey in the establishing of the renowned clinic which bears his name. Her first love was language. She took her A.B. degree in 1904 at Radcliffe College and went on to the University of Munich, where she won her Ph. D. in philology in 1908. Almost immediately she became a member of the faculty of Adelphi College in Brooklyn, where she taught until she entered the medical school in the fall of 1917.

Her remarkable ability as a physician was recognized at once. In the course of her dynamic career, during most of which she rose daily at 4:30 a.m. to check on the condition of her patients at various hospitals, she treated such eminent personalities as Sir Anthony Eden, former prime minister of Great Britain; Sen. John F. Kennedy, and the late Harold Ross, founder of the New Yorker magazine.

She was married twice. Her first husband, whom she wed in 1913, was Sebastian Jordan. Her daughter, Mrs. Logan, christened Mary Stuart Jordan, has five children, was the doctor's only child. The doctor married Mower, her second husband in 1935.

Breed was a partner in the Boston firm of Burgess and Leith, brokers.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Marjorie (Lake) Breed, he leaves a son, William M. Breed Jr., of Medfield and a daughter, Mrs. Cynthia B. McGraw of Houston, Texas.

William G. Marple
 Funeral services were held Friday for William G. Marple, 74, of 347 Waban avenue, Waban, with a solemn requiem Mass at St. Philip Neri Church in Waban at 9 a.m. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

Mr. Marple, a native of Boston, died Tuesday at Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a brief illness. He made his home in Newton Highlands before moving to Waban nine years ago. He was a member of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, Waban Improvement Association, the New England Hardware Association, and the Holy Name Society of St. Philip Neri Church.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary G. (Miley) Marple of Waban, four daughters, Mrs. Constance J. Tilley of Needham, Mrs. Dorothy A. Glacken of Waban, secretary at the Oak Hill School, Newton; Mrs. Alice M. Coughlin of Newtonville, employee of the Newton school department, and Miss Priscilla E. Marple of Waban, secretary of the Meadowbrook School; a sister, Miss Margaret J. Marple of Dedham, and eight grandchildren.

New 10-Pin Alley Opens In Natick

Thanksgiving Day marks the introduction of automatic ten pin bowling in Natick with the official opening of the Natick Ten Pin Center at 244 Worcester Turnpike, Rte. 9.

This new bowling center is one of the most modern in the U. S. aimed for family enjoyment. Its 24 lanes are equipped with AMF Automatic Pin-spotters and the newest innovations, the "Magic Circle" ball return. This is a lazy susan type which gives the bowler the utmost in efficiency and convenience.

New styling has been incorporated in the AMF scoring table unit, scorer's chair, spectator seats, bowling settees, bowling locker, automatic ball cleaner and polisher, and ball storage rack.

Another innovation in this new Natick bowling center is the score projector, a TV camera device which projects the score sheet over the lane for all to see.
